Biggest Blast Is Indicated

Altitude Danger Area Is Extended

HONOLULU (AP) — Extension of the United States high altitude danger area around Johnston Island was seen today as a preliminary to the firing of the biggest nuclear blast of the Pacific test series.

There was no official comment from Joint Task Force 8 on the precise altitude and size of the detonation but unofficial sources said it will be from 50 to 500 times as powerful as the bomb that destroyed Hiroshima.

There have been reports it will be of several megatons in force. A megaton blast is the equivalent of the explosion of a million tons of TNT.

About 200 Miles High

The big blast will be set off about 200 miles high, the sources said. It will be the highest and biggest nuclear shot in U.S. history and will be seen in Hawaii, 750 miles northeast of Johnston.

The Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department announced Saturday that the nuclear danger area surrounding Johnston Island will be extended 60 miles by Tuesday to a radius of 530 nautical miles at sea level. It will be increased 290 nautical miles at 30,000 feet, to a radius of 990 miles.

The zone will be extended 10,000 feet in altitude to a height of 40,000 feet, where the radius will be 1,050 miles. At 30,000 feet the zone will cover the entire Hawaiian Island chain.

The zone is being extended to mark the "eye burn" area in which there could be a hazard from looking directly at the blast through binoculars, periscopes or other optical instruments. The spokesman said it could lead to permanent eye damage or possible blindness.

He said there will be no hazard to Hawaii residents who view the fireball with the naked eye from surface levels.

The extension announcement indicated the shot will not come before Thursday, in the hours of darkness, because of the four-day warning that is given air lines. A Joint Task Force 8 spokesman indicated a possible firing during next weekend.

Bandit Killed, Officer Hurt In Gun Battle

NEW YORK (AP) — Two off-duty patrolmen broke up a robbery of a Queens bar early today in a blazing gun battle that left one bandit dead and a policeman and customer critically wounded.

Some of the patrons ganged up on a second bandit and beat him into unconsciousness with chairs and bar stools. The third would-be robber escaped.

JFK Urges Critics Discard Cliques, Strengthen Economy

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—President Kennedy urged today that critics, business and political, discard "wornout slogans" and join hands with the government to pump new strength and confidence into the nation's economy.

Kennedy vowed his clash with the steel industry did not mean his administration is hostile toward business.

But in a speech prepared for Yale University's commencement, he said the government is obliged to exercise "watchful concern for our economic health" while business and labor must live up to their public responsibilities.

Kennedy said economic problems bearing down on a free economy cannot be solved without separating myth from reality—and he said it is mythical to contend that government is big and getting worse or to argue that deficits in the federal budget always create inflation.

Answers GOP Charges

He responded by implication to charges by Republicans, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, and some spokesmen for business that his policies touched off recent stock market gyrations.

Among false issues which he said are frustrating efforts to push the economy forward, Kennedy declared "is the assertion that any and all unfavorable turns of the speculative wheel—however temporary and however plainly speculative in character—are the result of 'lack of confidence in the national administration.'"

"This, I must tell you, while comforting, is not wholly true. Worse, it obscures the reality—which is also simple. The solid ground of mutual confidence is the necessary partnership of government with all the sectors of our society in the steady quest for economic progress," Kennedy said.

Not Hostile to Business

"This administration is not going to give way to general hostility to business merely because there has been a single temporary disagreement with an industry, nor will the future belong to those who ignore the realities of our economic life in a neurotic search for unending reassurance."

"Corporate plans are not based on a political confidence in party leaders," Kennedy said, but on economic confidence in the nation's ability to invest, produce

Are Happy On Leaving Conference

Domestic Trouble Is Still Existing

By ANTOINE YARED

KHANG KHAY, Laos (AP)—The rival Laotian princes agreed today on the Cabinet for a coalition government aimed at ending the civil war and adding Laos to the ranks of the world's neutral nations.

Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, the premier-designate, announced the agreement, climaxing negotiations instituted by the 14-nation conference on Laos at Geneva 13 months ago.

Premier Prince Boun Oum of the present royal Laotian government is stepping out of governmental affairs, happily, he said. However, the strong man of his regime, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, will sit in as deputy premier and minister of finance under Souvanna.

Three Seem Happy

Another deputy premiership and the economy portfolio will go to Prince Souphanouvong, chief of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and half brother of the premier-designate.

Though domestic problems still abound, the three princes and their aides emerged happily from a meeting that wound up conferences begun in this rebel stronghold last week.

Immediately after the announcement, the three princes signed the Cabinet list. Souvanna, however, said the three will meet again Tuesday to sign a formal agreement on formation of the coalition.

Headed for Capital

Souvanna said he hopes to take his ministers to Luang Prabang, the royal capital, by next Monday to present them to King Savang Vathana.

The question of who would get the armed forces and police ministries had been one of the toughest points blocking an agreement. The royalist government had expressed fear that turning these posts over to the Communists would mean seizure of power through a takeover of the ministries.

Under today's agreement, Souvanna will be premier, defense minister and veterans and social affairs minister.

The Interior Ministry (Police) went to one of Souvanna's close associates, Pheng Phongsavan, who will also be social welfare minister.

To Be Deputies

Paltz College Will Train 80 for Corps

State University College at New Paltz will conduct a training program for some 80 Peace Corps volunteers to be assigned to Sierra Leone, Africa, Dr. William J. Haggerty, college president said today in his address at the 75th commencement exercises at the school.

Dr. Haggerty made the announcement to an audience of nearly 2,500 just before introducing the commencement speaker, Dr. Lawrence E. Dennis, associate director of the Peace Corps program.

A total of 469 degrees was conferred, including 135 masters degrees and 334 bachelors, the largest graduating class in the history of the college.

The previous peak year was in 1960 when the college awarded 290 bachelors and 135 masters. This years figure also includes 2 bachelor of arts degrees, the first to be conferred at New Paltz.

The college was authorized last year to grant the BA Degree to upper class transfer students and will begin admitting freshmen to the BA program in September of 1963.

Summer Training Program

Under the Peace Corps program announced by President Haggerty, the college will provide an extensive training program for the volunteers, from June 18 to Aug. 18, who will be sent to Sierra Leone, the African nation which was the 100th country to join the United Nations.

The college is one of about 40 throughout the United States to be chosen for Peace Corps work, and President Haggerty pointed out that training volunteers for Africa is particularly appropriate for New Paltz because the college was for some time the only college in the country that required every undergraduate to take a course on Africa.

It was a pioneer in the development of courses dealing with international education and has become recognized internationally for its "globalized curriculum."

Project Personnel

Project director of the program, according to President Haggerty, is Dr. George W. Bond, principal of the college's Campus School. Other New

Dutchess Party Leader Proposes Vidal For Senate

A Dutchess County Democratic leader proposed Saturday night the name of Gore Vidal, Barrytown playwright - author, for Democratic nomination for United States Senator next fall.

Albert Hecht, chairman of the Dutchess County Democratic committee, advanced Vidal's name to New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner, titular head of the party in the state, and Williams H. McKeon, Auburn, chairman of the State Democratic committee.

In communications to Wagner and McKeon, Hecht recalled that Vidal made an "unprecedently close" race with Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, (R-29th District) two years ago. Hecht also told the two party leaders that Vidal, as a candidate for United States Senator, would "strike a spark in the hearts and minds of millions," and "excite the imagination of the electorate."

Hecht stated he will present Vidal's name to each Democratic county chairman throughout the state. The Dutchess county Democratic chairman said Vidal's vote-getting ability as evidenced in the election two years ago, shows conclusively that Vidal would win in a statewide race for United States Senator.

Vidal could not be reached today by The Freeman at his home, for comment on whether he would accept the party nomination for Senator.

Hecht noted that Vidal ran far ahead of President Kennedy in the district in 1960, and added

GOP Sees Market, Estes Case as Help

By JACK BELL

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Republicans are counting heavily on uneasiness in the stock market and the Billie Sol Estes scandal to help them win control of the House in the November election.

Members of the Republican National Committee open formal sessions today with far more optimistic feelings about the election results than they had a month ago.

National Chairman William E. Miller put this feeling into words when he told a gathering of Young Republicans: "We have the issues on our side this time. We are going to win in November."

See Lack of Confidence

The issues, as spelled out by Miller and other committee members, revolve around what they called a lack of confidence by the business community in President Kennedy—as exemplified by the stock market's gyrations—a reputed effort by the President to enlarge executive power and a new GOP slogan that there are "too many Kennedys in government."

Fred Scribner of Maine, the committee's general counsel, said a national party survey indicates the people in general "are not nearly as happy as they were with the way the country is being run."

Lift in Spirits

Individual committee members reported a lift in Republican spirits, most of which was due to what they said was adverse reaction to Kennedy's steel price roll back tactics. Several mentioned the revelations concerning Estes' manipulations in grain storage and cotton acreage allotments in Texas as being likely to damage Democrats.

A typical report came from South Dakota committeeman Carroll Lockhart, whose state was honored at a World's Fair ceremony Sunday.

"The anti-administration feeling in our state is so strong that I believe we are going to have a substantial victory there in November," Lockhart said.

Sen. Francis Case, R-S.D., is being opposed for re-election in the general election by George McGovern, who quit as head of the Food for Peace program to make the race.

Control Machinery

Emphasizing GOP interest in the Estes case, Miller followed the line of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in noting that the Democrats have control of all of the legislative and executive investigating machinery. To top this off, he said, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the President's brother, "has the keys to the jail."

"Unless we Republicans gain control of the House, there will never be a full investigation of the Estes case or of any other scandal in this administration," Miller said.

The GOP chairman joined other Republicans in attacks on Edward Kennedy, the President's youngest brother, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for the Senate in Massachusetts.

Trust Students Is Cornell Theme; Other Exercises

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The president of Cornell University warned the graduating class today against becoming the type of alumni who would stifle free inquiry on the campus because they feared the students were being subverted.

"Sometimes I am concerned by the alumni who seem to have come through their Cornell years without becoming in the least subversive but who do not quite trust the students of today to be able to sort out for themselves the varieties of their own educational experiences," President Deane W. Malott said.

Other Ceremonies

Several other colleges in New York State held commencement exercises today. Many more held the ceremony Sunday.

Colgate University awarded Adlai E. Stevenson an honorary degree.

In presenting the degree of doctor of humane letters, Colgate President Everett Case said:

"By your incadescent words and dedicated labors, you have kindled faith where faith was lifeless, hope where hope was cold, and strength, renewed like the

Political Foes Of Franco Are Placed in Exile

By HAROLD K. MILKS

MADRID (AP) — Hundreds of opponents of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's dictatorship have been reported arrested in a sweeping roundup of dissidents of all political shades.

Five leading monarchists were caught in the dragnet as they returned from a meeting of Spanish oppositionists in Munich, Germany. Three of them refused an offer of exile and were flown today to forced residence in the Canary Islands. Two went into exile in Paris.

Those flown to Fuerte Ventura, second largest of the Canaries, were Joaquin de Satrustegui, an executive of the Spanish affiliate of the American-owned Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co.; Fernando Alvarez de Miranda, 40, nephew of the Marquis of Valdivia and a Madrid city employe, and Jaime Miralles, member of a prominent old family.

Not Allowed to Visit

Families of the three men said they were not allowed to visit them or speak to them after they were arrested during the weekend. Under a new decree they can be kept in forced residnce for two years.

The monarchist leaders who chose exile were Jose Maria Gil Robles and Jesus Prados Arrarte, a noted economist and professor at Madrid University.

Political observers said the opposition groups gave Franco the excuse he needed for a crackdown by holding the Munich meeting, which they labeled "ill-planned and ill-timed."

"By associating themselves with

High Court Rules Against Labels On Watered Hams

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court let stand today a lower court decision that Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman lacks authority to require that a label "imitation ham" be placed on smoked ham to which water has been added.

The decision against the secretary was by the U.S. Court of Appeals here which called the secretary's order "capricious and arbitrary." Freeman appealed to the highest court.

The Supreme Court order noting that it would not review the lower court decision said that Chief Justice Warren and Justice Black favored hearing the case. Justice Frankfurter took no part, making the court's vote 6-2.

Bishop Orders Atlanta Schools To Desegregate

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church has ordered Atlanta archdiocesan schools desegregated this fall in a move supported by leading Catholic laymen and the mayor of Atlanta.

The historic decision applied to Catholic schools in the 71 north Georgia counties of the archdiocese where about 7,500 pupils are enrolled. The total includes 735 negroes, all in Atlanta.

Archbishop Paul J. Hallinan said it was up to local bishops elsewhere in the archdiocesan province to decide what action to take in their areas. That included other sections of Georgia as well as North and South Carolina and Florida, all under the archbishop's titular control.

Announced Sunday

The desegregation decision was announced in a pastoral letter read during Sunday services in all the churches of the north Georgia archdiocese.

"Catholic children, regardless of race or color, will be admitted to Catholic schools of the archdiocese as of Sept. 1, 1962" the letter said.

"I think it is something long overdue," commented Catholic layman G. Albert Lawton, president of Georgia International Life Insurance Co., who moved to Atlanta from Connecticut three years ago. His two children attend Catholic schools in Rhode Island and New York.

Confident of Support

Another Catholic layman, Superior Court Judge Sam P. McKenzie of the Atlanta Judicial Circuit, said he was confident the Archbishop "will get the support of a great majority of the Catholics in the archdiocese."

3 Candidates Close In Presidential Race

LIMA (AP)—Three leading candidates in Peru's presidential race were closely bunched today in partial, unofficial returns.

Early indications were that the new Congress might have to elect the nation's chief executive from the leading trio of contenders. None appeared headed for the required 34 per cent of the valid votes.

An early trend favoring former dictator Manuel A. Odria seemed checked in post-midnight tabulations by newspapers and radio and television stations.

Official returns are not expected before June 18, after the national electoral jury completes a scrutiny of the ballots.

Since there are hardly any nonpartisan factions in the country, the election picture in its early stages was one of confusion.

The newspaper La Prensa, which gave some backing to Haya de la Torre, reported a change in an early trend favoring Odria. It reported results from 1,617 of the nations more than 10,000 voting districts yielded 74,429 votes for Haya, 68,666 for Odria and 67,910 for Belaunde. The total was roughly 12 per cent of an anticipated total vote of about 1.7 million.

The newspaper El Comercio said its tabulations favored Odria with Belaunde and Haya behind in that order. El Comercio backed Odria and violently opposed Haya. Its tabulation: returns from 1,063 of 3,418 districts in Lima and nearby Callao, Odria 70,729, Belaunde 59,132, Haya 49,523. El Commercio said Belaunde appeared to be leading in the provinces.

The election Sunday, one of the costliest and bitterest in Peru's history, went off in apparent peace. There were no reports of violence.

Seven candidates in all sought to succeed incumbent president Manuel Prado for the six-year term. Also at stake were the Senate seats and the 184 seats in the Chamber of Deputies.

Senate and House Start Full Week of Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate and House plunge into a full week of business this week for the first time this year.

A little bit of something for almost everybody but the taxpayers is on an unusually heavy docket.

Two appropriation bills top a group of four big bills in the Senate. They call for an outlay of $48 billion to finance the Defense Department for the fiscal year starting next month and $932 million for the Interior Department. Both have passed the House.

Once they are out of the way, the Senate plans to take up bills dealing with all-channel television and a space communications satellite system. They, too, have passed the House.

The House starts its week with a bill to take care of women workers. It would provide that women should receive the same pay as men if they do the same work.

Tuesday the House will take up the controversial Fryingpan-Arkansas reclamation project.

That will be followed on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by bills to increase the statutory national debt limit to $308 billion and to write a controversial new farm program.

Committee activity will be highlighted by continuation of the Billie Sol Estes investigation by a House Government Operations subcommittee and by renewed wrestling with a general tax bill by the Senate Finance Committee.

On Tuesday the Senate Investigations subcommittee will begin peeking into the shady side of night life. It will hear from showgirls, club owners and officials of the American Guild of Variety Artists as it presses an investigation into complaints that racketeers have tieups with some night spots in Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Miami, Tampa and Calumet City, Ill.

KHANG KHAY, Laos (AP)—The rival Laotian princes agreed today on the Cabinet for a coalition government aimed at ending the civil war and adding Laos to the ranks of the world's neutral nations.

Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, the premier-designate, announced the agreement, climaxing negotiations instituted by the 14-nation conference on Laos at Geneva 13 months ago.

Premier Prince Boun Oum of the present royal Laotian government is stepping out of governmental affairs, happily, he said. However, the strong man of his regime, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, will sit in as deputy premier and minister of finance under Souvanna.

Three Seem Happy

Another deputy premiership and the economy portfolio will go to Prince Souphanouvong, chief of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and half brother of the premier-designate.

Though domestic problems still abound, the three princes and their aides emerged happily from a meeting that wound up conferences begun in this rebel stronghold last week.

Immediately after the announcement, the three princes signed the Cabinet list. Souvanna, however, said the three will meet again Tuesday to sign a formal agreement on formation of the coalition.

Headed for Capital

Souvanna said he hopes to take his ministers to Luang Prabang, the royal capital, by next Monday to present them to King Savang Vathana.

The question of who would get the armed forces and police ministries had been one of the toughest points blocking an agreement. The royalist government had expressed fear that turning these posts over to the Communists would mean seizure of power through a takeover of the ministries.

Under today's agreement, Souvanna will be premier, defense minister and veterans and social affairs minister.

GOP Sees Market, Estes Case as Help

By JACK BELL

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Republicans are counting heavily on uneasiness in the stock market and the Billie Sol Estes scandal to help them win control of the House in the November election.

Members of the Republican National Committee open formal sessions today with far more optimistic feelings about the election results than they had a month ago.

National Chairman William E. Miller put this feeling into words when he told a gathering of Young Republicans: "We have the issues on our side this time. We are going to win in November."

See Lack of Confidence

The issues, as spelled out by Miller and other committee members, revolve around what they called a lack of confidence by the business community in President Kennedy—as exemplified by the stock market's gyrations—a reputed effort by the President to enlarge executive power and a new GOP slogan that there are "too many Kennedys in government."

Fred Scribner of Maine, the committee's general counsel, said a national party survey indicates the people in general "are not nearly as happy as they were with the way the country is being run."

Lift in Spirits

Individual committee members reported a lift in Republican spirits, most of which was due to what they said was adverse reaction to Kennedy's steel price roll back tactics. Several mentioned the revelations concerning Estes' manipulations in grain storage and cotton acreage allotments in Texas as being likely to damage Democrats.

"The anti-administration feeling in our state is so strong that I believe we are going to have a substantial victory there in November," Lockhart said.

Sen. Francis Case, R-S.D., is being opposed for re-election in the general election by George McGovern, who quit as head of the Food for Peace program to make the race.

Control Machinery

Emphasizing GOP interest in the Estes case, Miller followed the line of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in noting that the Democrats have control of all of the legislative and executive investigating machinery. To top this off, he said, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the President's brother, "has the keys to the jail."

"Unless we Republicans gain control of the House, there will never be a full investigation of the Estes case or of any other scandal in this administration," Miller said.

The GOP chairman joined other Republicans in attacks on Edward Kennedy, the President's youngest brother, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for the Senate in Massachusetts.

Trust Students Is Cornell Theme; Other Exercises

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The president of Cornell University warned the graduating class today against becoming the type of alumni who would stifle free inquiry on the campus because they feared the students were being subverted.

"Sometimes I am concerned by the alumni who seem to have come through their Cornell years without becoming in the least subversive but who do not quite trust the students of today to be able to sort out for themselves the varieties of their own educational experiences," President Deane W. Malott said.

Other Ceremonies

Several other colleges in New York State held commencement exercises today. Many more held the ceremony Sunday.

In presenting the degree of doctor of humane letters, Colgate President Everett Case said:

"By your incadescent words and dedicated labors, you have kindled faith where faith was lifeless, hope where hope was cold, and strength, renewed like the

Political Foes Of Franco Are Placed in Exile

By HAROLD K. MILKS

MADRID (AP) — Hundreds of opponents of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's dictatorship have been reported arrested in a sweeping roundup of dissidents of all political shades.

Five leading monarchists were caught in the dragnet as they returned from a meeting of Spanish oppositionists in Munich, Germany. Three of them refused an offer of exile and were flown today to forced residence in the Canary Islands. Two went into exile in Paris.

Those flown to Fuerte Ventura, second largest of the Canaries, were Joaquin de Satrustegui, an executive of the Spanish affiliate of the American-owned Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co.; Fernando Alvarez de Miranda, 40, nephew of the Marquis of Valdivia and a Madrid city employe, and Jaime Miralles, member of a prominent old family.

Not Allowed to Visit

Families of the three men said they were not allowed to visit them or speak to them after they were arrested during the weekend. Under a new decree they can be kept in forced residnce for two years.

The monarchist leaders who chose exile were Jose Maria Gil Robles and Jesus Prados Arrarte, a noted economist and professor at Madrid University.

Political observers said the opposition groups gave Franco the excuse he needed for a crackdown by holding the Munich meeting, which they labeled "ill-planned and ill-timed."

"By associating themselves with

High Court Rules Against Labels On Watered Hams

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court let stand today a lower court decision that Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman lacks authority to require that a label "imitation ham" be placed on smoked ham to which water has been added.

The decision against the secretary was by the U.S. Court of Appeals here which called the secretary's order "capricious and arbitrary." Freeman appealed to the highest court.

The Supreme Court order noting that it would not review the lower court decision said that Chief Justice Warren and Justice Black favored hearing the case. Justice Frankfurter took no part, making the court's vote 6-2.

Bishop Orders Atlanta Schools To Desegregate

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church has ordered Atlanta archdiocesan schools desegregated this fall in a move supported by leading Catholic laymen and the mayor of Atlanta.

The historic decision applied to Catholic schools in the 71 north Georgia counties of the archdiocese where about 7,500 pupils are enrolled. The total includes 735 negroes, all in Atlanta.

Archbishop Paul J. Hallinan said it was up to local bishops elsewhere in the archdiocesan province to decide what action to take in their areas. That included other sections of Georgia as well as North and South Carolina and Florida, all under the archbishop's titular control.

Announced Sunday

The desegregation decision was announced in a pastoral letter read during Sunday services in all the churches of the north Georgia archdiocese.

"Catholic children, regardless of race or color, will be admitted to Catholic schools of the archdiocese as of Sept. 1, 1962" the letter said.

"I think it is something long overdue," commented Catholic layman G. Albert Lawton, president of Georgia International Life Insurance Co., who moved to Atlanta from Connecticut three years ago. His two children attend Catholic schools in Rhode Island and New York.

Confident of Support

Another Catholic layman, Superior Court Judge Sam P. McKenzie of the Atlanta Judicial Circuit, said he was confident the Archbishop "will get the support of a great majority of the Catholics in the archdiocese."

Paltz College Will Train 80 for Corps

State University College at New Paltz will conduct a training program for some 80 Peace Corps volunteers to be assigned to Sierra Leone, Africa, Dr. William J. Haggerty, college president said today in his address at the 75th commencement exercises at the school.

Dr. Haggerty made the announcement to an audience of nearly 2,500 just before introducing the commencement speaker, Dr. Lawrence E. Dennis, associate director of the Peace Corps program.

A total of 469 degrees was conferred, including 135 masters degrees and 334 bachelors, the largest graduating class in the history of the college.

The previous peak year was in 1960 when the college awarded 290 bachelors and 135 masters. This years figure also includes 2 bachelor of arts degrees, the first to be conferred at New Paltz.

The college was authorized last year to grant the BA Degree to upper class transfer students and will begin admitting freshmen to the BA program in September of 1963.

Summer Training Program

Under the Peace Corps program announced by President Haggerty, the college will provide an extensive training program for the volunteers, from June 18 to Aug. 18, who will be sent to Sierra Leone, the African nation which was the 100th country to join the United Nations.

The college is one of about 40 throughout the United States to be chosen for Peace Corps work, and President Haggerty pointed out that training volunteers for Africa is particularly appropriate for New Paltz because the college was for some time the only college in the country that required every undergraduate to take a course on Africa.

It was a pioneer in the development of courses dealing with international education and has become recognized internationally for its "globalized curriculum."

Project Personnel

Dutchess Party Leader Proposes Vidal For Senate

A Dutchess County Democratic leader proposed Saturday night the name of Gore Vidal, Barrytown playwright - author, for Democratic nomination for United States Senator next fall.

Albert Hecht, chairman of the Dutchess County Democratic committee, advanced Vidal's name to New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner, titular head of the party in the state, and Williams H. McKeon, Auburn, chairman of the State Democratic committee.

In communications to Wagner and McKeon, Hecht recalled that Vidal made an "unprecedently close" race with Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, (R-29th District) two years ago. Hecht also told the two party leaders that Vidal, as a candidate for United States Senator, would "strike a spark in the hearts and minds of millions," and "excite the imagination of the electorate."

Hecht stated he will present Vidal's name to each Democratic county chairman throughout the state. The Dutchess county Democratic chairman said Vidal's vote-getting ability as evidenced in the election two years ago, shows conclusively that Vidal would win in a statewide race for United States Senator.

Vidal could not be reached today by The Freeman at his home, for comment on whether he would accept the party nomination for Senator.

Hecht noted that Vidal ran far ahead of President Kennedy in the district in 1960, and added

Senate and House Start Full Week of Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate and House plunge into a full week of business this week for the first time this year.

A little bit of something for almost everybody but the taxpayers is on an unusually heavy docket.

Two appropriation bills top a group of four big bills in the Senate. They call for an outlay of $48 billion to finance the Defense Department for the fiscal year starting next month and $932 million for the Interior Department. Both have passed the House.

Once they are out of the way, the Senate plans to take up bills dealing with all-channel television and a space communications satellite system. They, too, have passed the House.

The House starts its week with a bill to take care of women workers. It would provide that women should receive the same pay as men if they do the same work.

Tuesday the House will take up the controversial Fryingpan-Arkansas reclamation project.

That will be followed on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by bills to increase the statutory national debt limit to $308 billion and to write a controversial new farm program.

Committee activity will be highlighted by continuation of the Billie Sol Estes investigation by a House Government Operations subcommittee and by renewed wrestling with a general tax bill by the Senate Finance Committee.

On Tuesday the Senate Investigations subcommittee will begin peeking into the shady side of night life. It will hear from showgirls, club owners and officials of the American Guild of Variety Artists as it presses an investigation into complaints that racketeers have tieups with some night spots in Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Miami, Tampa and Calumet City, Ill.

3 Candidates Close In Presidential Race

Early indications were that the new Congress might have to elect the nation's chief executive from the leading trio of contenders. None appeared headed for the required 34 per cent of the valid votes.

An early trend favoring former dictator Manuel A. Odria seemed checked in post-midnight tabulations by newspapers and radio and television stations.

Since there are hardly any nonpartisan factions in the country, the election picture in its early stages was one of confusion.

The newspaper La Prensa, which gave some backing to Haya de la Torre, reported a change in an early trend favoring Odria. It reported results from 1,617 of the nations more than 10,000 voting districts yielded 74,429 votes for Haya, 68,666 for Odria and 67,910 for Belaunde. The total was roughly 12 per cent of an anticipated total vote of about 1.7 million.

The newspaper El Comercio said its tabulations favored Odria with Belaunde and Haya behind in that order. El Comercio backed Odria and violently opposed Haya. Its tabulation: returns from 1,063 of 3,418 districts in Lima and nearby Callao, Odria 70,729, Belaunde 59,132, Haya 49,523. El Commercio said Belaunde appeared to be leading in the provinces.

The election Sunday, one of the costliest and bitterest in Peru's history, went off in apparent peace. There were no reports of violence.

Seven candidates in all sought to succeed incumbent president Manuel Prado for the six-year term. Also at stake were the Senate seats and the 184 seats in the Chamber of Deputies.

Mundt Says Farm Secretary Sorry He Was Loud on Estes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman now wishes he never said that the Billie Sol Estes case was being ballooned out of all proportions, says Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.

Mundt, senior Republican on the Senate Investigations subcommittee that starts public hearings June 27 on Estes' operations, said he discussed the case with Freeman recently for an hour and a half.

"He indicated that the first statement that he made to the press—when he said it was being blown out of all proportion—was one of those statements all of us sometime make but we wish we could retract, because the thing is a lot more serious than he thought it was at the time," said Mundt.

Talked at Conference

Freeman made the remark at a news conference May 7.

Estes, a West Texas promoter and financier, built a multimillion-dollar business on government grain storage, cotton and sales of fertilizer. He was indicted in April for fraud and he has declared himself bankrupt. The Senate subcommittee and a House group are investigating his operations and whether he received favored treatment from federal officials. Mundt said Estes had.

Interviewed by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., on a program taped for radio and television stations in New York, Mundt contended the Agriculture Department showed favoritism to Estes by not requiring him to carry an adequate bond for storing government grain.

Estes' bond was set at $70,000 although he was storing grain valued up to $50 million. Agriculture Department officers have testified before the House subcommittee that the bond was based on an inaccurate audit Estes submitted on his net worth.

Mundt, saying the audit should have been thrown out, called the bond "one of the basic elements of the favoritism displayed. Of course there were others. One of them was when they appointed him to the National Advisory Cotton Council after he had already been fined and was already suspect by their own investigators."

This was in reference to the investigation of Estes' scheme of getting other cotton growers' allotments so that he could grow more cotton under price supports. The Agriculture Department finally ruled the plan illegal and fined him $554,172.

Mundt credited career Agriculture Department employes with doing a tremendous job in probing the transfer of cotton allotments to Estes.

Repairs Cause Of Fire Calls On Quick System

Sounding of quick call fire sirens at 11:47 a. m. today caused concern in many fire districts of the area, and an aide at the Fire Control Center explained later that the blasting of sirens came after repairs were made to the system at Binnewater.

The mutual aid operator stated that a call was received at 8:40 a. m. reporting that needed repairs were being made to the quick call system at Binnewater. At 11:47 a. m. repairs were complete and alarm headquarters was asked to sound a test call to see if Binnewater's alarm was operating properly.

The operator explained a button on one control box was pressed, but Binnewater's quick call didn't function. Then, the operator said, a call went out on the code box and "about everything" sounded but Binnewater."

Fire officials in area districts in the Mt. Marion, Olive and other areas in spotted sections of the county, reported receipt of the quick call alarm, and were told there was no fire.

Caramanlis urged Greece's 250,000 farmers in a speech Sunday to cut down "harmful and wasteful wheat production which is disadvantageous to the consumer."

TEEN-AGE MOTHERS—The old saw about mother looking young enough to be her daughter's sister is becoming increasingly appropriate, with the increase of births to teen-age mothers, a trend which bids to continue with today's earlier marriages. Chart shows percentages of babies born to teen-age mothers in 1959 by states. While only 3 per cent of the babies born in 1959 had teen-age fathers, 14 per cent were born to teen-age mothers. More than 4 per cent—185,000 babies—were born to mothers under 18 years of age. Data for Newschart as compiled by the Population Reference Bureau.

Farmhand Enters Plea of Guilty To Manslaughter

Alvin Williams, 42, Marlborough farm hand today entered a plea of guilty to second degree manslaughter for the death of Isiah Herring, 45, last January 28, following a shooting. Williams had been charged with second degree murder.

Williams withdrew a former plea of innocent when the case was moved for trial at 10 a. m. today before County Judge Raymond J. Mino. He pleaded to the manslaughter charge which was accepted by the district attorney's office and the court.

Sentencing was postponed until June 25 at 10 a. m.

It was alleged Williams fired a shot through a hole in a partition in the shack on the Nicholas Affuso farm on Hampton Road, Marlboro, on January 21, last. The shot struck Herring in the head. Both men were employed on the farm. Herring died a week later at a Newburgh Hospital. Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appeared by assignment for the defendant.

Not Substantiated

An indictment charging Dennis Noonan with criminally carrying concealed a loaded pistol as a felony, was referred back to the grand jury. When the case was called for trial Sherwood E. Davis, counsel for Noonan, stated the defense was ready for trial. On motion of the district attorney's office the matter was moved over and will be resubmitted to the grand jury.

It is alleged the charge named in indictment 5826, which had been moved for trial, that defendant carried concealed a loaded pistol on February 12, 1962, could not be substantiated and for that reason the matter will be re-submitted to the grand jury.

An indictment charging Bernard Ferraro with third degree burglary and unlawful entry, was moved for trial by District Attorney David W. Corwin.

Name Changed

Prior to selection of a jury the indictment was amended as to the name of defendant, changing it to John Ferraro, also known as Bernard Ferraro. Ferraro was indicted for burglary at the J. B. Back Company cigar factory on Wilbur Avenue on January 7, 1961.

In opening Assistant District Attorney Francis Vogt, told prospective jurors that Ferraro did not actually enter the building but had served as "lookout" and was therefore equally guilty with the other persons involved.

Hubert Richter appears as defense counsel.

3 Princes Agree . .

deputy premiers. In addition, Phoumi will be finance minister, and Souphanouvong will hold the economy and planning portfolio.

The coalition Cabinet comprises seven representatives from Souvanna's neutralists, four from the royalist group in Vientiane, four from the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and four from the so-called Vientiane neutralist group.

Foreign affairs will go to one of Souvanna's aides, Quinim Pholsena, who headed the neutralist delegation to the Geneva conference on Laos.

The Information Ministry will be given to a Pathet Lao official, Phoumi Vongvichit, who also headed his party's delegation to Geneva.

Comes As Surprise

The announcement on agreement on a Cabinet came as a surprise. After a morning meeting, an air of strong pessimism prevailed.

During the luncheon recess, Souvanna emerged from the conference room and in a loud voice said of the talks: "there may be a rupture."

"My valises are ready and if we don't reach agreement by June 15—this date still stands," he said, indicating he would make good his warning to depart for France.

The agreement is one the West hopes may take Laos out of the cold war into neutrality.

Backed by the West and the Communist bloc, Souvanna had a strong hand to wield in the negotiations.

Marshal Ho Lung of Red China said Sunday night that Peiping favored a coalition regime in Laos. But he charged the sending of American troops to Thailand had raised a new threat in Southeast Asia.

Adjourn City Court Cases; One on Assault

Duane Castellano, 26, of Lisa Lane, charged with leaving the scene of an accident and failure to appear in court Saturday, pleaded innocent before City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman today through his attorney, Francis Martocci and hearing was put over to June 18.

Police said a summons was issued after a car driven by Castellona allegedly struck and damaged guard posts and wires on Wilbur Avenue near the former city incinerator early Saturday. It was reported today that he had appeared in court Saturday, but too late. Attorney Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr., appeared for the district attorney's office.

A case involving charges and counter charges of third degree assault was put over to June 15. Two charges are lodged against Joseph D. LaMonte, 24, of 231 Albany Avenue by Jacomina LaMonte, 23, his wife. The latter also lodges a charge against Joseph's mother, Vinet LaMonte, 48, of Lake Katrine, who also charges Jacomina with third degree assault. Joseph was also booked on two stop-sign charges.

Summitville Man Hit by Automobile

A 34-year-old Summitville man was injured at 1:30 a. m. Sunday when struck by an automobile on Route 209 in Napanoch, according to Ellenville state police.

Troopers said Patrick Branchan, was walking along the highway when hit by a car driven by Roger Beesimer, 22, of Kerhonkson. Branchan was taken to Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, and treated for a broken right leg.

Authorities said Branchan later was removed to Kingston Hospital.

Beesimer, troopers said, told them he was driving south on Route 209 about 500 feet south of Route 55, when an unknown car going in the opposite direction pulled into the southbound lane forcing Beesimer's car off the right side of the pavement.

Supreme Court Justice to Head HV Vols Group

A State Supreme Court justice is scheduled to be elected president of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, at its annual meeting June 20-23 in Tarrytown. Justice Lawrence H. Cooke, Monticello, presently is first vice president of the association.

Justice Cooke has been active in the association and a member of the Monticello Fire Department for the last 25 years.

Elliott Harris, Hudson Falls, formerly of Poughkeepsie where he served as a Common Council member, is expected to be elected first vice president. Other officers slated for election include Henry Kennelly, former mayor of Beacon, who is an unopposed candidate for treasurer, a post he held the past several years.

The two-day convention will conclude Saturday afternoon, June 23 with a firemen's parade.

Abandoning Ag Course

Arlington Central School District is abandoning its agricultural course, after 10 years of instructions, according to Harold C. Storm said the rapidly changing nature of the district away from agriculture to an urban area probably has brought the lack of interest in the course.

Moslem Police Shoot Europeans, Hold 2 Hostages

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIERS (AP)—Moslem auxiliary policemen today fired on Europeans near the Algiers dockyards, killing three and wounding six.

The uniformed Moslem policemen said Europeans attacked them and they shot back. Two Europeans riding in a truck near the scene of the shooting were seized and held as hostages.

A European police official said the Moslems, who were guarding a dockworkers' hiring point, opened fire without provocation on Europeans passing by.

Secret Army Organization commandos struck in a Sahara oil field Sunday in their "scorched-earth" warfare but a Moslem nationalist leader said the terrorist fire power is fading.

Terrorist saboteurs blasted a well being drilled in the Sahara, about 60 miles south of the big Hassi Messaoud oil field, and set off a spectacular gas fire.

French Have Fears

French officils expressed fears that the secret army, whose hard core now is believed to be largely French army deserters, would attempt to blow up dams, railroads and oil installations in their campaign to leave the country in ruins for the future Moslem rulers.

Chawki Mostefai, a spokesman for the Moslem National Liberation Front (FLN), told newsmen Algeria's Europeans were turning against the secret army fanatics. "It would not be rash to foresee a halt in the present events," he said.

Premier Youssef Ben Khedda of the Algerian provisional government was reported preparing a "solemn declaration" directed at the million European settlers on their role in the new Algeria.

"We believe that this declaration will satisfy everyone," said Mostefai. He declined to go into details.

See It Hopeless

The European settlers were the backbone of the secret army in an attempt to block Algerian independence but there have been increasing signs they now realize the fight is hopeless.

They still hold bargaining powers, however, because a mass exodus of skilled Europeans would cripple the economy of the independent nation.

New explosions and fires raged in Algiers Sunday but crowds poured out to the beaches as usual.

Secret army bomb and arson commandos destroyed three more schools, an agricultural cooperative, a tax office and an Algiers hydraulics center. Thousands of records were burned.

Mundt Says Farm Secretary Sorry He Was Loud on Estes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman now wishes he never said that the Billie Sol Estes case was being ballooned out of all proportions, says Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.

Mundt, senior Republican on the Senate Investigations subcommittee that starts public hearings June 27 on Estes' operations, said he discussed the case with Freeman recently for an hour and a half.

"He indicated that the first statement that he made to the press—when he said it was being blown out of all proportion—was one of those statements all of us sometime make but we wish we could retract, because the thing is a lot more serious than he thought it was at the time," said Mundt.

Talked at Conference

Freeman made the remark at a news conference May 7.

Estes, a West Texas promoter and financier, built a multimillion-dollar business on government grain storage, cotton and sales of fertilizer. He was indicted in April for fraud and he has declared himself bankrupt. The Senate subcommittee and a House group are investigating his operations and whether he received favored treatment from federal officials. Mundt said Estes had.

Interviewed by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., on a program taped for radio and television stations in New York, Mundt contended the Agriculture Department showed favoritism to Estes by not requiring him to carry an adequate bond for storing government grain.

Estes' bond was set at $70,000 although he was storing grain valued up to $50 million. Agriculture Department officers have testified before the House subcommittee that the bond was based on an inaccurate audit Estes submitted on his net worth.

Mundt, saying the audit should have been thrown out, called the bond "one of the basic elements of the favoritism displayed. Of course there were others. One of them was when they appointed him to the National Advisory Cotton Council after he had already been fined and was already suspect by their own investigators."

This was in reference to the investigation of Estes' scheme of getting other cotton growers' allotments so that he could grow more cotton under price supports. The Agriculture Department finally ruled the plan illegal and fined him $554,172.

Mundt credited career Agriculture Department employes with doing a tremendous job in probing the transfer of cotton allotments to Estes.

Repairs Cause Of Fire Calls On Quick System

Sounding of quick call fire sirens at 11:47 a. m. today caused concern in many fire districts of the area, and an aide at the Fire Control Center explained later that the blasting of sirens came after repairs were made to the system at Binnewater.

The mutual aid operator stated that a call was received at 8:40 a. m. reporting that needed repairs were being made to the quick call system at Binnewater. At 11:47 a. m. repairs were complete and alarm headquarters was asked to sound a test call to see if Binnewater's alarm was operating properly.

The operator explained a button on one control box was pressed, but Binnewater's quick call didn't function. Then, the operator said, a call went out on the code box and "about everything" sounded but Binnewater."

Fire officials in area districts in the Mt. Marion, Olive and other areas in spotted sections of the county, reported receipt of the quick call alarm, and were told there was no fire.

deputy premiers. In addition, Phoumi will be finance minister, and Souphanouvong will hold the economy and planning portfolio.

The coalition Cabinet comprises seven representatives from Souvanna's neutralists, four from the royalist group in Vientiane, four from the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and four from the so-called Vientiane neutralist group.

Foreign affairs will go to one of Souvanna's aides, Quinim Pholsena, who headed the neutralist delegation to the Geneva conference on Laos.

The Information Ministry will be given to a Pathet Lao official, Phoumi Vongvichit, who also headed his party's delegation to Geneva.

Comes As Surprise

The announcement on agreement on a Cabinet came as a surprise. After a morning meeting, an air of strong pessimism prevailed.

During the luncheon recess, Souvanna emerged from the conference room and in a loud voice said of the talks: "there may be a rupture."

"My valises are ready and if we don't reach agreement by June 15—this date still stands," he said, indicating he would make good his warning to depart for France.

The agreement is one the West hopes may take Laos out of the cold war into neutrality.

Backed by the West and the Communist bloc, Souvanna had a strong hand to wield in the negotiations.

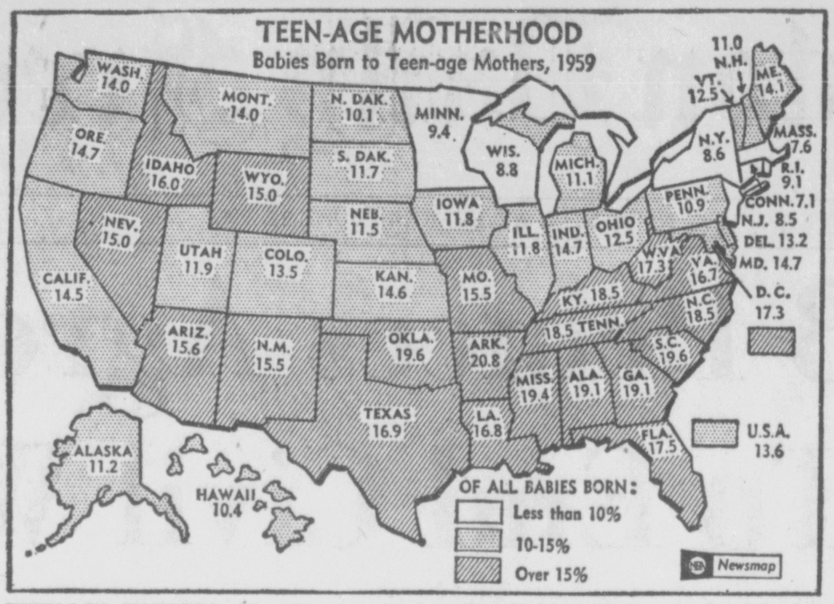
Marshal Ho Lung of Red China said Sunday night that Peiping favored a coalition regime in Laos. But he charged the sending of American troops to Thailand had raised a new threat in Southeast Asia.

Adjourn City Court Cases; One on Assault

Duane Castellano, 26, of Lisa Lane, charged with leaving the scene of an accident and failure to appear in court Saturday, pleaded innocent before City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman today through his attorney, Francis Martocci and hearing was put over to June 18.

Police said a summons was issued after a car driven by Castellona allegedly struck and damaged guard posts and wires on Wilbur Avenue near the former city incinerator early Saturday. It was reported today that he had appeared in court Saturday, but too late. Attorney Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr., appeared for the district attorney's office.

A case involving charges and counter charges of third degree assault was put over to June 15. Two charges are lodged against Joseph D. LaMonte, 24, of 231 Albany Avenue by Jacomina LaMonte, 23, his wife. The latter also lodges a charge against Joseph's mother, Vinet LaMonte, 48, of Lake Katrine, who also charges Jacomina with third degree assault. Joseph was also booked on two stop-sign charges.



TEEN-AGE MOTHERS—The old saw about mother looking young enough to be her daughter's sister is becoming increasingly appropriate, with the increase of births to teen-age mothers, a trend which bids to continue with today's earlier marriages. Chart shows percentages of babies born to teen-age mothers in 1959 by states. While only 3 per cent of the babies born in 1959 had teen-age fathers, 14 per cent were born to teen-age mothers. More than 4 per cent—185,000 babies—were born to mothers under 18 years of age. Data for Newschart as compiled by the Population Reference Bureau.

Farmhand Enters Plea of Guilty To Manslaughter

Alvin Williams, 42, Marlborough farm hand today entered a plea of guilty to second degree manslaughter for the death of Isiah Herring, 45, last January 28, following a shooting. Williams had been charged with second degree murder.

Williams withdrew a former plea of innocent when the case was moved for trial at 10 a. m. today before County Judge Raymond J. Mino. He pleaded to the manslaughter charge which was accepted by the district attorney's office and the court.

Sentencing was postponed until June 25 at 10 a. m.

It was alleged Williams fired a shot through a hole in a partition in the shack on the Nicholas Affuso farm on Hampton Road, Marlboro, on January 21, last. The shot struck Herring in the head. Both men were employed on the farm. Herring died a week later at a Newburgh Hospital. Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appeared by assignment for the defendant.

Not Substantiated

An indictment charging Dennis Noonan with criminally carrying concealed a loaded pistol as a felony, was referred back to the grand jury. When the case was called for trial Sherwood E. Davis, counsel for Noonan, stated the defense was ready for trial. On motion of the district attorney's office the matter was moved over and will be resubmitted to the grand jury.

It is alleged the charge named in indictment 5826, which had been moved for trial, that defendant carried concealed a loaded pistol on February 12, 1962, could not be substantiated and for that reason the matter will be resubmitted to the grand jury.

An indictment charging Bernard Ferraro with third degree burglary and unlawful entry, was moved for trial by District Attorney David W. Corwin.

Name Changed

Prior to selection of a jury the indictment was amended as to the name of defendant, changing it to John Ferraro, also known as Bernard Ferraro. Ferraro was indicted for burglary at the J. B. Back Company cigar factory on Wilbur Avenue on January 7, 1961.

In opening Assistant District Attorney Francis Vogt, told prospective jurors that Ferraro did not actually enter the building but had served as "lookout" and was therefore equally guilty with the other persons involved.

Hubert Richter appears as defense counsel.

Summitville Man Hit by Automobile

A 34-year-old Summitville man was injured at 1:30 a. m. Sunday when struck by an automobile on Route 209 in Napanoch, according to Ellenville state police.

Troopers said Patrick Branchan, was walking along the highway when hit by a car driven by Roger Beesimer, 22, of Kerhonkson. Branchan was taken to Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, and treated for a broken right leg.

Authorities said Branchan later was removed to Kingston Hospital.

Beesimer, troopers said, told them he was driving south on Route 209 about 500 feet south of Route 55, when an unknown car going in the opposite direction pulled into the southbound lane forcing Beesimer's car off the right side of the pavement.

Justice Cooke has been active in the association and a member of the Monticello Fire Department for the last 25 years.

Abandoning Ag Course

Arlington Central School District is abandoning its agricultural course, after 10 years of instructions, according to Harold C. Storm, superintendent of schools, who said action was taken to drop the course because of waning interest. Storm said the rapidly changing nature of the district away from agriculture to an urban area probably has brought the lack of interest in the course.

Moslem Police Shoot Europeans, Hold 2 Hostages

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIERS (AP)—Moslem auxiliary policemen today fired on Europeans near the Algiers dockyards, killing three and wounding six.

The uniformed Moslem policemen said Europeans attacked them and they shot back. Two Europeans riding in a truck near the scene of the shooting were seized and held as hostages.

A European police official said the Moslems, who were guarding a dockworkers' hiring point, opened fire without provocation on Europeans passing by.

Secret Army Organization commandos struck in a Sahara oil field Sunday in their "scorched-earth" warfare but a Moslem nationalist leader said the terrorist fire power is fading.

Terrorist saboteurs blasted a well being drilled in the Sahara, about 60 miles south of the big Hassi Messaoud oil field, and set off a spectacular gas fire.

French Have Fears

French officils expressed fears that the secret army, whose hard core now is believed to be largely French army deserters, would attempt to blow up dams, railroads and oil installations in their campaign to leave the country in ruins for the future Moslem rulers.

Chawki Mostefai, a spokesman for the Moslem National Liberation Front (FLN), told newsmen Algeria's Europeans were turning against the secret army fanatics. "It would not be rasch to foresee a halt in the present events," he said.

Premier Youssef Ben Khedda of the Algerian provisional government was reported preparing a "solemn declaration" directed at the million European settlers on their role in the new Algeria.

"We believe that this declaration will satisfy everyone," said Mostefai. He declined to go into details.

See It Hopeless

The European settlers were the backbone of the secret army in an attempt to block Algerian independence but there have been increasing signs they now realize the fight is hopeless.

They still hold bargaining powers, however, because a mass exodus of skilled Europeans would cripple the economy of the independent nation.

New explosions and fires raged in Algiers Sunday but crowds poured out to the beaches as usual.

Secret army bomb and arson commandos destroyed three more schools, an agricultural cooperative, a tax office and an Algiers hydraulics center. Thousands of records were burned.

Licensed Dogs Getting Fewer Bureau Reports

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The number of licensed dogs in New York State, exclusive of New York City, continues to decline.

The Dog Licensing Bureau of the State Agriculture Department reported Sunday that the 1961 total of 803,369 represented a decline for the second consecutive year.

The number of licensed dogs in the Upstate-Long Island area was 804,776 in 1960 and 808,201 in 1959.

No explanation for the decline was offered by the bureau so it was not clear whether there are less dogs in the 57 counties covered or whether there are more unlicensed dogs.

Forty-two counties reported decreases and 15 increases. New York City is not covered because it has its own dog-licensing system.

The most licensed dogs are in Nassau County, 95,186, although it was one of the counties showing decreases.

The largest increase occurred in Suffolk County—from 61,234 in 1960 to 64,845 last year. Gains also were reported in Dutchess, Franklin, Jefferson, Onondaga, Oswego, Otsego, Putnam, Rockland, St. Lawrence, Schenectady, Schuyler, Seneca, Warren and Wayne counties.

OTTAWA (AP) — Finance Minister Donald M. Fleming said Sunday night Canada will not consider any change from the present Canadian dollar exchange rate of 92½ cents to the U.S. dollar.

Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton was quoted by newsmen, Friday as saying that he supports a further devaluation of the dollar exchange rate to 90 cents. Bryant's gasoline station on Route 28 near the Kingston Thruway Interchange was burglarized during Sunday night and early today, and $75 mostly in coins was taken, according to Kingston state police.

Food for Peace Feeds 30 Million Overseas Children

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The United States is helping to feed 30 million school children in 80 other countries, George McGovern, director of the administration's Food for Peace program, said today.

"But there are 70% million children around the world who need such a program," said McGovern. He added that local governments abroad must do their part in establishing a school lunch plan for all needy children.

McGovern made his remarks in a speech delivered at a Midwest Food for Peace conference at the University of Minnesota.

"Many years ago Prime Minister Nehru observed, 'you cannot talk of God to a starving person; you must give him food,'" McGovern said. "It is equally certain that you cannot talk effectively of science and history and literature to listless, undernourished children."

McGovern pointed out that it takes only 8 per cent of this nation's population to work the soil and produce an overabundance. The Soviet Union, on the other hand, has half the people working the soil.

The United States, he said, is faced with what Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman calls a "crisis in abundance."

He added that the Agriculture Act of 1954, which made surplus food and fiber available to needy countries, has given $15 billion worth to more than 100 nations and territories.

McGovern praised private voluntary agencies that have conducted their own extensive food aid programs abroad. He listed CARE, UNICEF, Church World Service, Catholic Relief Services, Luthern World Relief, The Joint Jewish Distribution Committee, American Friends Service Committee, The Mennonites and others.

King Tones Win Chance to Sing At Coming Movie

The King Tones have been chosen winners of the Quartet Singing Contest sponsored by the Kingston Chapter of the Society for the Preservation & Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. The winners will appear on stage here preceding the showing of the movie, "Music Man."

Members of the winning quartet are: Warren Neals, tenor; Art Burns, lead; Hal. C. Purdy, baritone and William Lahl, bass. The quartet's winning song was "Till There Was You."

Inspired by the success of the Buffalo Bills in the New York stage show of the "Music Man" and their appearance in the movie to be released this summer, the society's international headquarters made arrangements with Meredith Wilson and Warner Brothers Studios, Inc., to have a quartet from the local chapter appear on stage when the movie is shown in its city.

In order to decide which local group should appear, the society set up rules for local chapters. All contests were to be held prior to July 1. Quartets were required to sing one of the three songs from "Music Man."

"But there are 70% million children around the world who need such a program," said McGovern. He added that local governments abroad must do their part in establishing a school lunch plan for all needy children.

McGovern made his remarks in a speech delivered at a Midwest Food for Peace conference at the University of Minnesota.

"Many years ago Prime Minister Nehru observed, 'you cannot talk of God to a starving person; you must give him food,'" McGovern said. "It is equally certain that you cannot talk effectively of science and history and literature to listless, undernourished children."

McGovern pointed out that it takes only 8 per cent of this nation's population to work the soil and produce an overabundance. The Soviet Union, on the other hand, has half the people working the soil.

The United States, he said, is faced with what Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman calls a "crisis in abundance."

He added that the Agriculture Act of 1954, which made surplus food and fiber available to needy countries, has given $15 billion worth to more than 100 nations and territories.

McGovern praised private voluntary agencies that have conducted their own extensive food aid programs abroad. He listed CARE, UNICEF, Church World Service, Catholic Relief Services, Luthern World Relief, The Joint Jewish Distribution Committee, American Friends Service Committee, The Mennonites and others.

Car Hits Utility Pole

A Bronx motorist escaped injury at 2:15 p. m. Sunday when the car he was driving slid on oil slick on a private road west of South Street, Plattekill, and struck a utility pole. Highland troopers said Luis Negron, of 4431 Third Avenue, the Bronx, was driving south on the road when the vehicle skidded and hit the pole. Negron was not injured, authorities said.

The King Tones have been chosen winners of the Quartet Singing Contest sponsored by the Kingston Chapter of the Society for the Preservation & Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. The winners will appear on stage here preceding the showing of the movie, "Music Man."

Members of the winning quartet are: Warren Neals, tenor; Art Burns, lead; Hal. C. Purdy, baritone and William Lahl, bass. The quartet's winning song was "Till There Was You."

Inspired by the success of the Buffalo Bills in the New York stage show of the "Music Man" and their appearance in the movie to be released this summer, the society's international headquarters made arrangements with Meredith Wilson and Warner Brothers Studios, Inc., to have a quartet from the local chapter appear on stage when the movie is shown in its city.

In order to decide which local group should appear, the society set up rules for local chapters. All contests were to be held prior to July 1. Quartets were required to sing one of the three songs from "Music Man."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 11, 1962

NATIONAL FARM SAFETY WEEK

Family safety at work and play is the theme for this year's observance of National Farm Safety Week July 22-28.

Rural highway and farm machinery safety, critical areas in farm accident prevention will be given major attention. Of the 13,800 workers killed on the job in 1960, about 3,300 were farm workers, the highest total of any major industry.

Traffic fatalities in 1960 claimed 5,100 farm residents. That year the all farm accident toll resulted in 11,300 deaths and 950,000 disabling injuries.

If we alter the phrase "familiarity breeds contempt" to familiarity breeds carelessness, we have the basis for a large percentage of our farm accidents.

We see it on the highway, at work, at play and even at home. According to the National Safety Council, drivers in 65 per cent of all fatal traffic accidents were less than 25 miles from home. About 400 persons drown on farm property each year and falls remain the greatest killer in the farm home.

It is reasonable to assume that most of the persons involved were familiar with their surroundings—perhaps too familiar.

In driving the same automobile or tractor over the same roads countless times, we tend to become overly confident of our ability to handle any situation. We let down protective defenses, become less alert, and begin to take chances.

It isn't necessary to experience an injury to learn the necessity for caution and alertness even in the most routine taks. It's the surest and most painful way, but who will be certain there will be a second chance?

Let's use the opportunity of National Farm Safety Week to take a critical look at the way we do things. The extra margin of care will pay off.

DAYS, WEEKS, MONTHS

Sooner or later, public relations men try the gimmick of boosting whatever it is they boost by trying hopefully to identify it with a particular day, week or month. Though we do not recall one presuming to designate an entire year as the time for extolling this or that, we have a hunch it is not modesty but impracticability that stands in the way.

The number of days, weeks and months being limited, these sometimes overlap with interesting results. Thus, May was National Tavern Month, and it also contained National Pickle Week and Mother's Day. Other days and weeks were encompassed by May, too, but those mentioned will suffice for purposes of illustration.

The problem to which we call attention is this: What is a man to do if he wants to celebrate everything but does not have unlimited time? And what if he is one of these sensitive fellows who broods over such questions as what sort of a society devotes a month to taverns, a week to pickles, and a day to mother? The way of the brooder, like that of the transgressor, is hard, and those who designate days and weeks and months don't make it any easier.

There's a lot of talk again about better methods of financing political campaigns. If it'll result in better candidates, we're all for it.

ROCKETS YIELD BENEFITS

It seems almost too much to hear of stubborn, damaging forest fires in Florida's swampy Everglades. The foresters' battle against the ravages of flame seldom has been a winning one, and this news is like a last stroke of ill luck.

But possibly the tide soon may be turned. The U.S. Forest Service believes it is close to a breakthrough, with a new radio-controlled glide bomb bearing fire-fighting chemicals.

The promising missile will be tested on actual forest fires this year. More experiments will follow if the first proves out.

Chemical air attack on fires is not new. But direct bombing is dangerous. In 1961 it cost the lives of seven pilots and foresters. A guided missile would be a great advance.

If it works, chalk it up as an impressive by-product of our advances in military and space rocketry. For that is where the idea was born.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

CHRISTMAS 1962

What has happened in the stock market cannot be understood fully until the Christmas season of 1962. That begins in the months of August when the manufacturer and wholesaler must make a final projection as to what he can sell to the stores. And the buyers for the stores must make a final and irretrievable guess as to what the consumer will take.

It is this that worries the businessman and the labor unions. Consumer goods includes everything, steel, aluminum, wood, glass, paper, as as well as the contents of containers. It naturally affects the workers in all industries. The height of consumer goods purchasing in this country is what is known as the Christmas season which runs from approximately Labor Day to Christmas and is followed by the White Goods Sales in January (textiles of various kinds).

Business to be prosperous must have a good third and fourth quarter. Unless these periods show a turn-over of capital at least 40 times (in a city like New York, it runs very much higher), the revenue for the government from income taxes will fall below expectations. The flow of currency can only be maintained if there is confidence in the present and the future. When there is fear of a depression people hold on to their money.

The Kennedy Administration has committed an error in proposing a tax cut in 1963 before the 1962 tax bill has been passed. To relieve the consumer from the fears engendered by the stock market debacle, if it is possible to make a tax cut in 1963, it should be made in 1962. But a tax cut, to be accepted as sound, must be accompanied by a sharp cut in government expenditures. The housekeeping operations of the government are out of line with current conditions. A tax cut should be accompanied by a balanced budget.

It is this which caused the Senate to insist on cutting Yugoslavia and Poland from the foreign aid program. Every item in that program ought to be scrutinized sharply to make sure that the aid is absolutely justified. Aid to build up competitors is like Gimbel supplying Macy with money to run a sale to put Gimbel out of business.

President Kennedy surely ought to tell the Common Market that their member countries have had all the aid from us that they will get until they remove every barrier to the sale of American goods in their markets. Otherwise, we shall put a tariff on everything they sell. It is from this position of strength that we ought to negotiate. Negotiating with Europeans from weakness will produce such unemployment here as the nation has not yet witnessed.

President Kennedy has inherited a tough situation, but it can be met by rough handling. It is no advantage to the United States as a country or to the Kennedy Administration to be sorry for the very prosperous Western Europeans. It is their turn to be sorry for us.

Another point that President Kennedy must note: while it is true that he has inherited most of his troubles, the people of a country always blame the man who sits on the hot seat at the moment. President Coolidge will go down in history not only as a taciturn person but also an avoider of direct action in the Presidency. So when Herbert Hoover became President, he found that all the troubles of the world were dumped in his lap. A man of extroadinary ability, he never had a chance.

President Kennedy can learn much from that. All the talk of the Kennedy Dynasty, or of the President's Socialism is propagandistic eyewash. What will be the consumers market in the third and fourth quarters of 1962. If these quarters are good, the President will be a smart man; if they are bad, he will be regarded as imcompetent.

Few persons view an entire picture in perspective. They hit upon a detail and make their decisions accordingly. The Secretary of the Treasury spoke of cutting taxes in 1963. He opened the question. The time to do that is 1962. This means that by April 15, 1963, the consumer will pay less. It means the interim withholding tax (a vicious operation) will not postpone spending in 1962. It could mean a decent third and fourth quarter in 1962. The alternative could be buyers resistance which can lead to a Depression.

FDA Watchdogs Dangerous Sleep Pill From Germany

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Is the sleeping pill that was reported in Germany to have caused deformities in babies when taken by the mother during pregnancy on sale in the United States?

A—If you are referring to the drug that resulted in the birth of babies with seal-like "flippers" instead of arms or legs, the answer is thankfully "no." The Food and Drug Administration confined use of the drug thalidomide to medical research. Thus there is little chance, if any, that the experience in West Germany, where at least 3,000 blighted babies were born, will be repeated here. The drug is also known by its trade names of Kevadon, Contergan, Softenon and Distaval.

Q—Is it possible for caterpillars to sting children who play with them? My daughter is fond of picking them up and letting them walk over her hands and arms. Could a sting result in development of a painful sore, with fever and swollen glands in the armpit?

A—The "puss caterpillar" or "woolly worm," known to scientists as megalopyge opercularis, can do just what you describe. A report from the Texas Children's Hospital in Houston states that questionaires sent to 1,280 physicians disclosed over 2,000 such incidents.

Study of the caterpillar itself revealed the presence of a poison (toxin) that is introduced when human skin is penetrated by quills from the underside of the megalopyge. Hence your daughter's playful habit of permitting "woolly worm" to crawl up her arms provides the best possible opportunity for a sting.

To prevent development of the caterpillar, Texas investigators advise tree spraying with 1 tablespoon of lead arsenate dissolved in a gallon of water. If caterpillars develop despite spraying and a sting is produced, they suggest immediate application of adhesive or cellophane tape for removal of the quill, and use of ice packs.

Q—My children refuse milk unless it is flavored with chocolate. Is this harmful? Does addition of chocolate change the food value of milk? Or harm it in any other way?

A—There is nothing harmful in the addition to milk or chocolate or any other flavoring. If stimulation of taste buds increases the milk intake, it's all to the good.

Q—Some time ago you wrote of a city for emotionally and physically handicapped children. At that time I had no personal interest in this information and did not save your column. Will you repeat this information now as I have urgent need for it?

A—Write Little City Foundation, 111 North Wabash Avenue, Chicago 2, Ill.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — U. S. Steel Corporation's board chairman Roger Blough is now working for President John F. Kennedy for nothing. His job is to help solve the gold problem.

Today a committee from the Business Council of top American corporation executives will hold its first meeting with Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon to discuss what is to be done. Mr. Blough, as Chairman of the Business Council, is picking the committee that will work on this project and will probably head it himself. This puts the Council right back in the business of advising government.

Announcement that President Kennedy had asked Mr. Blough to take on this task was made at the recent Business Council meeting in Hot Springs, Va. The President has since referred to the importance of the study several times. He complained to the press that his recent White House Conference on Economic Issues spent nearly all its time jawing about collective bargaining wages and profits instead of the gold outflow, which he considers even more important than inflation.

THERE WON'T BE ANY AGENDA for the first meeting of the Blough Committee with Secretary Dillon and the Treasury experts. This will be an exploratory meeting. The subject is so "sophisticated," as the President calls it, that no one can just sit down and begin talking on it off the cuff.

The basic fact is that whereas everyone used to beef about all that gold buillion piled up in Fort Knox, Ky., doing no one any good, today the supply is dwindling.

Dec. 31, 1952, U. S. gold reserves were $23.2 billion compared with $13 billion for the rest of the free world. By Dec. 31, 1961 U. S. gold reserves had dropped to $16.9 billion while other free world holdings had risen to $23 billion.

Eleven and a half billion of the U. S. reserve is required by law to back up the currency. This leaves a surplus of only $5.4 billion to meet future foreign demands on U. S. gold. If the outflow should continue at a rate of $1 billion a year, the surplus will last five years.

The problem is to reverse the flow before 1967.

THE CITIZENS FOREIGN Aid Committee and other similarly-minded organizations and individuals say that the way to correct this situation is to cut out all overseas spending, or at least to cut it by $1 billion a year.

Administration fiscal experts point out that the solution isn't that simple. Since two-thirds of all foreign aid money is spent in the United States, chopping it off would not save, the nearly $4 billion in gold reserves a year, but only about $1.3 billion.

The $2.7 billion foreign aid money spent in this country is a sustaining force for the American economy. Cut that expenditure and it might be necessary to make large appropriations for work relief projects here at home.

The $3 billion spent to maintain U. S. military forces in Europe, Okinawa, Southeast Asia and other parts of the world is considered essential to the defense of America. Withdraw that and national security might be weakened.

AMERICAN FARM SURPLUSES sent abroad under the Food for Peace program and Public Law 480—if not disposed of there—might create a bigger farm problem here at home.

The principal remedy which the Kennedy administration has proposed is to build up U. S. exports. Military expenditures overseas have been cut somewhat and the duty-free import allowance for American tourists has been reduced.

Foreign allies are being urged to buy more military hardware in the United States, for dollars, and to invest more money in U. S. industry.

The job of the Blough Committee will be to come up with newer and better remedies.

Growing Fears of Business And Presidential Promises

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Small wonder that many busines men fear a severe crisis in our economic life may come in the next several months. The Administration evidently is determined that "spending as usual" by government for all manner of projects must go on, and that "wage increases as usual" likewise must continue. But the most important force in the economy is being prevented from operating under the rules of sound economics. Business management is still threatened with reprisals from the government if it tries to raise its prices to cover increasing wage costs and also to earn a fair profit. A free economy cannot operate very long that way.

The promise by the President of a tax cut is likely to aggravate rather than remedy the situation. Already the demagogues in Congres are articulate. They say they oppose any reduction in the higher brackets and wish to confine all the benefits to the lower-income groups. It's the same old story hereabouts—politics supersedes economics all around. Similarly, there is already an antagonism in Congress among the Democrats to any reduction in the corporate tax rates, which now are at a 52 per cent level.

Mr. Kennedy promises a tax cut "across-the-board" effective next January. The bill, however, may not be passed until March or April of 1963, or even later. It will take Congress that long to debate the highly complicated tax measure which will be forthcoming. For the law isn't to be devoted just to rate changes. The gimmick now is to close "loopholes" and thus theoretically to increase tax revenues to offset the so-called relief to be given by the drop of a few percentage points in the rates in all income brackets. Already some of the Senators on the Democratic side have pointed out that a drop of one percentage point in the upper brackets involves tens of thousands of dollars for an individual, while a drop of a point to a man of low income means only a few dollars in savings. Hence, it is argued that the whole saving should be given to the people in the lower brackets.

What is wrong with this theory, of course, is that the individuals to whom the nation looks for funds to finance industry's expansion aren't getting enough money now after taxes to help the free-enterprise system expand as it should. Nor will they be getting it under the proposed tax changes if the demagogues have their way. Companies, moreover, which would like to earn enough surplus each year to save up for rainy days — and for brighter days when there is need for funds for expansion of plant and equipment—aren't able to do so today because of the narrow profit margin. The proposed change in the tax rate will not help them much, if at all.

What has been lost sight of is that a private-enterprise system cannot function effectively very long if the government interferes with its operation. President Kennedy has damaged severely the normal processes of the American enterprise system and shows no sign of withdrawing his threat to interfere with price-making, while refraining from any action that would keep down wage increases.

This situation cannot drift on much longer without causing a bigger breakdown in the economy than has been witnessed. Business is not going to construe the type of tax revision promised by the Administration as likely in any way to go to the heart of the problem that is today frustrating the American economy.

Job creation is essential to national growth. There's plenty of talk here about stimulating national output, but no practical measures are being proposed that, in the aggregate, will bring that growth. An increas in consumer spending will not do it—though it may temporarily cause a fever of inflation. The real need, of course, is for encouragement of the heavy-goods industries, which are seriously depressed today.

The Administration vaguely promises to revise the rules of tax depreciation, as if this alone would do the job. But these are highly technical changes that may take the managers of American business in various industries two or three years to absorb. The real di..culty is that the per cent of profit to sales is not high enough and that surpluses aren't being built up to enable companies to finance a large part of their own requirements for the future.

Meanwhile, the Administration —although claiming it wishes to bring back more dividends from abroad—has proposed changes in taxing American plants overseas, which actually can cause a stoppage of the flow of dividend money to America, and hence a drop in tax revenue. This could have an adverse effect on the balance of international payments, which is causing so much apprehension about the future gold value of the dollar.

Thus, the Administration has failed to support the sound principles that permit a fair margin of profit to be earned. Unless this tide is reversed soon, the discouragement now prevalent will result in a drepression —perhaps not as severe as in the 1930s but in some respects of the same intensity. Yet President Kennedy still seems unaware of what his continued indifference to the labor-cost problem is doing to the economy.

AS PEGLER SE ES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Senator Tower, the Texas Republican, has been criticized for accepting expense money to Austin, Tex., to make a speech against additional income tax disguised as "Social Security" for medical expenses of so-called senior citizens. "Social Security" is an income tax, so defined in its text.

A hospital insurance company called Blue Cross paid Tower's expenses but no fee. A vox pop in the New York Times said it was no mitigation to argue that other Senators receive expense money for speeches to private organizations. Nobody said it was. If there is no offense no mitigation is needed. But it is common practice of Senators and Congressmen and it was a notorious outrage against public confidence in the case of Eleanor Roosevelt to rake in fees by mercenary exploitation of the election returns. The most scandalous abuse was operated in favor of some foreign countries to influence the judgment of American legislators.

Senator Wiley of Wisconsin admitted to me that when he was chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee he engaged in this traffic and that he continued to do so after the Republicans lost the Senate and he was demoted from the chair. I heard that he got $2,500 per bloviation as chairman, and $2,000 after his demotion. He admitted that he had received fees, but would not say how much or how many times or whether his rate had been cut. He did say further, however, that he had received fees for making speeches for Dorothy Thompson's Friends of the Middle East. Dorothy then wrote me that her society never paid Wiley or any other speaker anything except some individuals brought here from abroad.

Actually members of both Houses have been bush-whacking for years for whatever they can pick up. I refer pointedly to the late Alben Barkley's income tax returns which were published in foggy version after he had died. It was then learned that for years he had made no returns whatever and that his estate had been forced to pay. On an equal footing with other racketeers, he should have been sent to Alcatrez for at least 15 years. It was explained, however, that during the long illness of his first wife he had been very hard up and had punished himself by exhausting week-end travels to pick up money braying platitudes—which nobody ever believed anyway. But he and other scoundrels of Congress had not intended that hardships which they inflicted on better citizens should oppress them too.

I told Wiley that fees received from supplicant foreign powers must be regarded as bribes. He disagreed but he never did come through with the truth. Miss Thompson had heard that Barkley got $2,500 or $2,000 a shot from some groups. I asked whether she had lost clients and income as a columnist for practicing honesty toward certain groups, that the mistake ruined Jimmy Forrestal. She wrote "Sure I lost clients and income."

William Jennings Bryan was a wanton predator in the same way, The Faceless People had faith in him as a religious leader and he preached sermons on a platform over a swim pool at Coral Gables, inciting "senior citizens" to buy lots at the top of the market, always getting his fee in currency in advance, however. And, as Secretary of State he was often on the road bawling by the light of kerosene flares in Chautauqua tents. On one such trip he lost a Japanese ultimatum in a Pullman gents' room and was therefore at a loss when the ambassador called on Monday morning for his answer. Stalling in absolute fog, Byran so annoyed the ambassador that he asked: "Then is this your last word?" To that Byran replied, "There can be no last word between friends," and got immortal credit for a great blurp of diplomacy. My informant was Edward Bell, first secretary of our London Embassy in World War I.

Senator Tower is not a spokesman for Blue Cross, he was not paid a fee, and if Blue Cross paid his actual expenses it only financed a public service. Otherwise the people who heard Tower's truthful comments could not have heard them.

On the other hand, Senator Ralph Yarborough and Congressman Slick Rutherford of Texas did get $1,700 and $1,500 respectively plus lesser donations from a con-man whose motive obviously was corrupt.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 11, 1962

NATIONAL FARM SAFETY WEEK

Family safety at work and play is the theme for this year's observance of National Farm Safety Week July 22-28.

Rural highway and farm machinery safety, critical areas in farm accident prevention will be given major attention. Of the 13,800 workers killed on the job in 1960, about 3,300 were farm workers, the highest total of any major industry.

Traffic fatalities in 1960 claimed 5,100 farm residents. That year the all farm accident toll resulted in 11,300 deaths and 950,000 disabling injuries.

If we alter the phrase "familiarity breeds contempt" to familiarity breeds carelessness, we have the basis for a large percentage of our farm accidents.

We see it on the highway, at work, at play and even at home. According to the National Safety Council, drivers in 65 per cent of all fatal traffic accidents were less than 25 miles from home. About 400 persons drown on farm property each year and falls remain the greatest killer in the farm home.

It is reasonable to assume that most of the persons involved were familiar with their surroundings—perhaps too familiar.

In driving the same automobile or tractor over the same roads countless times, we tend to become overly confident of our ability to handle any situation. We let down protective defenses, become less alert, and begin to take chances.

It isn't necessary to experience an injury to learn the necessity for caution and alertness even in the most routine taks. It's the surest and most painful way, but who will be certain there will be a second chance?

Let's use the opportunity of National Farm Safety Week to take a critical look at the way we do things. The extra margin of care will pay off.

DAYS, WEEKS, MONTHS

Sooner or later, public relations men try the gimmick of boosting whatever it is they boost by trying hopefully to identify it with a particular day, week or month. Though we do not recall one presuming to designate an entire year as the time for extolling this or that, we have a hunch it is not modesty but impracticability that stands in the way.

The number of days, weeks and months being limited, these sometimes overlap with interesting results. Thus, May was National Tavern Month, and it also contained National Pickle Week and Mother's Day. Other days and weeks were encompassed by May, too, but those mentioned will suffice for purposes of illustration.

The problem to which we call attention is this: What is a man to do if he wants to celebrate everything but does not have unlimited time? And what if he is one of these sensitive fellows who broods over such questions as what sort of a society devotes a month to taverns, a week to pickles, and a day to mother? The way of the brooder, like that of the transgressor, is hard, and those who designate days and weeks and months don't make it any easier.

There's a lot of talk again about better methods of financing political campaigns. If it'll result in better candidates, we're all for it.

ROCKETS YIELD BENEFITS

It seems almost too much to hear of stubborn, damaging forest fires in Florida's swampy Everglades. The foresters' battle against the ravages of flame seldom has been a winning one, and this news is like a last stroke of ill luck.

But possibly the tide soon may be turned. The U.S. Forest Service believes it is close to a breakthrough, with a new radio-controlled glide bomb bearing fire-fighting chemicals.

The promising missile will be tested on actual forest fires this year. More experiments will follow if the first proves out.

Chemical air attack on fires is not new. But direct bombing is dangerous. In 1961 it cost the lives of seven pilots and foresters. A guided missile would be a great advance.

If it works, chalk it up as an impressive by-product of our advances in military and space rocketry. For that is where the idea was born.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

CHRISTMAS 1962

What has happened in the stock market cannot be understood fully until the Christmas season of 1962. That begins in the months of August when the manufacturer and wholesaler must make a final projection as to what he can sell to the stores. And the buyers for the stores must make a final and irretrievable guess as to what the consumer will take.

It is this that worries the businessman and the labor unions. Consumer goods includes everything, steel, aluminum, wood, glass, paper, as as well as the contents of containers. It naturally affects the workers in all industries. The height of consumer goods purchasing in this country is what is known as the Christmas season which runs from approximately Labor Day to Christmas and is followed by the White Goods Sales in January (textiles of various kinds).

Business to be prosperous must have a good third and fourth quarter. Unless these periods show a turn-over of capital at least 40 times (in a city like New York, it runs very much higher), the revenue for the government from income taxes will fall below expectations. The flow of currency can only be maintained if there is confidence in the present and the future. When there is fear of a depression people hold on to their money.

The Kennedy Administration has committed an error in proposing a tax cut in 1963 before the 1962 tax bill has been passed. To relieve the consumer from the fears engendered by the stock market debacle, if it is possible to make a tax cut in 1963, it should be made in 1962. But a tax cut, to be accepted as sound, must be accompanied by a sharp cut in government expenditures. The housekeeping operations of the government are out of line with current conditions. A tax cut should be accompanied by a balanced budget.

It is this which caused the Senate to insist on cutting Yugoslavia and Poland from the foreign aid program. Every item in that program ought to be scrutinized sharply to make sure that the aid is absolutely justified. Aid to build up competitors is like Gimbel supplying Macy with money to run a sale to put Gimbel out of business.

President Kennedy surely ought to tell the Common Market that their member countries have had all the aid from us that they will get until they remove every barrier to the sale of American goods in their markets. Otherwise, we shall put a tariff on everything they sell. It is from this position of strength that we ought to negotiate. Negotiating with Europeans from weakness will produce such unemployment here as the nation has not yet witnessed.

President Kennedy has inherited a tough situation, but it can be met by rough handling. It is no advantage to the United States as a country or to the Kennedy Administration to be sorry for the very prosperous Western Europeans. It is their turn to be sorry for us.

Another point that President Kennedy must note: while it is true that he has inherited most of his troubles, the people of a country always blame the man who sits on the hot seat at the moment. President Coolidge will go down in history not only as a taciturn person but also an avoider of direct action in the Presidency. So when Herbert Hoover became President, he found that all the troubles of the world were dumped in his lap. A man of extroadinary ability, he never had a chance.

President Kennedy can learn much from that. All the talk of the Kennedy Dynasty, or of the President's Socialism is propagandistic eyewash. What will be the consumers market in the third and fourth quarters of 1962. If these quarters are good, the President will be a smart man; if they are bad, he will be regarded as imcompetent.

Few persons view an entire picture in perspective. They hit upon a detail and make their decisions accordingly. The Secretary of the Treasury spoke of cutting taxes in 1963. He opened the question. The time to do that is 1962. This means that by April 15, 1963, the consumer will pay less. It means the interim withholding tax (a vicious operation) will not postpone spending in 1962. It could mean a decent third and fourth quarter in 1962. The alternative could be buyers resistance which can lead to a Depression.

FDA Watchdogs Dangerous Sleep Pill From Germany

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Is the sleeping pill that was reported in Germany to have caused deformities in babies when taken by the mother during pregnancy on sale in the United States?

A—If you are referring to the drug that resulted in the birth of babies with seal-like "flippers" instead of arms or legs, the answer is thankfully "no." The Food and Drug Administration confined use of the drug thalidomide to medical research. Thus there is little chance, if any, that the experience in West Germany, where at least 3,000 blighted babies were born, will be repeated here. The drug is also known by its trade names of Kevadon, Contergan, Softenon and Distaval.

Q—Is it possible for caterpillars to sting children who play with them? My daughter is fond of picking them up and letting them walk over her hands and arms. Could a sting result in development of a painful sore, with fever and swollen glands in the armpit?

A—The "puss caterpillar" or "woolly worm," known to scientists as megalopyge opercularis, can do just what you describe. A report from the Texas Children's Hospital in Houston states that questionaires sent to 1,280 physicians disclosed over 2,000 such incidents.

Study of the caterpillar itself revealed the presence of a poison (toxin) that is introduced when human skin is penetrated by quills from the underside of the megalopyge. Hence your daughter's playful habit of permitting "woolly worm" to crawl up her arms provides the best possible opportunity for a sting.

To prevent development of the caterpillar, Texas investigators advise tree spraying with 1 tablespoon of lead arsenate dissolved in a gallon of water. If caterpillars develop despite spraying and a sting is produced, they suggest immediate application of adhesive or cellophane tape for removal of the quill, and use of ice packs.

Q—My children refuse milk unless it is flavored with chocolate. Is this harmful? Does addition of chocolate change the food value of milk? Or harm it in any other way?

A—There is nothing harmful in the addition to milk or chocolate or any other flavoring. If stimulation of taste buds increases the milk intake, it's all to the good.

Q—Some time ago you wrote of a city for emotionally and physically handicapped children. At that time I had no personal interest in this information and did not save your column. Will you repeat this information now as I have urgent need for it?

A—Write Little City Foundation, 111 North Wabash Avenue, Chicago 2, Ill.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — U. S. Steel Corporation's board chairman Roger Blough is now working for President John F. Kennedy for nothing. His job is to help solve the gold problem.

Today a committee from the Business Council of top American corporation executives will hold its first meeting with Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon to discuss what is to be done. Mr. Blough, as Chairman of the Business Council, is picking the committee that will work on this project and will probably head it himself. This puts the Council right back in the business of advising government.

Announcement that President Kennedy had asked Mr. Blough to take on this task was made at the recent Business Council meeting in Hot Springs, Va. The President has since referred to the importance of the study several times. He complained to the press that his recent White House Conference on Economic Issues spent nearly all its time jawing about collective bargaining wages and profits instead of the gold outflow, which he considers even more important than inflation.

THERE WON'T BE ANY AGENDA for the first meeting of the Blough Committee with Secretary Dillon and the Treasury experts. This will be an exploratory meeting. The subject is so "sophisticated," as the President calls it, that no one can just sit down and begin talking on it off the cuff.

The basic fact is that whereas everyone used to beef about all that gold buillion piled up in Fort Knox, Ky., doing no one any good, today the supply is dwindling.

Dec. 31, 1952, U. S. gold reserves were $23.2 billion compared with $13 billion for the rest of the free world. By Dec. 31, 1961 U. S. gold reserves had dropped to $16.9 billion while other free world holdings had risen to $23 billion.

Eleven and a half billion of the U. S. reserve is required by law to back up the currency. This leaves a surplus of only $5.4 billion to meet future foreign demands on U. S. gold. If the outflow should continue at a rate of $1 billion a year, the surplus will last five years.

The problem is to reverse the flow before 1967.

THE CITIZENS FOREIGN Aid Committee and other similarly-minded organizations and individuals say that the way to correct this situation is to cut out all overseas spending, or at least to cut it by $1 billion a year.

Administration fiscal experts point out that the solution isn't that simple. Since two-thirds of all foreign aid money is spent in the United States, chopping it off would not save, the nearly $4 billion in gold reserves a year, but only about $1.3 billion.

The $2.7 billion foreign aid money spent in this country is a sustaining force for the American economy. Cut that expenditure and it might be necessary to make large appropriations for work relief projects here at home.

The $3 billion spent to maintain U. S. military forces in Europe, Okinawa, Southeast Asia and other parts of the world is considered essential to the defense of America. Withdraw that and national security might be weakened.

AMERICAN FARM SURPLUSES sent abroad under the Food for Peace program and Public Law 480—if not disposed of there—might create a bigger farm problem here at home.

The principal remedy which the Kennedy administration has proposed is to build up U. S. exports. Military expenditures overseas have been cut somewhat and the duty-free import allowance for American tourists has been reduced.

Foreign allies are being urged to buy more military hardware in the United States, for dollars, and to invest more money in U. S. industry.

The job of the Blough Committee will be to come up with newer and better remedies.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Small wonder that many busines men fear a severe crisis in our economic life may come in the next several months. The Administration evidently is determined that "spending as usual" by government for all manner of projects must go on, and that "wage increases as usual" likewise must continue. But the most important force in the economy is being prevented from operating under the rules of sound economics. Business management is still threatened with reprisals from the government if it tries to raise its prices to cover increasing wage costs and also to earn a fair profit. A free economy cannot operate very long that way.

The promise by the President of a tax cut is likely to aggravate rather than remedy the situation. Already the demagogues in Congres are articulate. They say they oppose any reduction in the higher brackets and wish to confine all the benefits to the lower-income groups. It's the same old story hereabouts—politics supersedes economics all around. Similarly, there is already an antagonism in Congress among the Democrats to any reduction in the corporate tax rates, which now are at a 52 per cent level.

Mr. Kennedy promises a tax cut "across-the-board" effective next January. The bill, however, may not be passed until March or April of 1963, or even later. It will take Congress that long to debate the highly complicated tax measure which will be forthcoming. For the law isn't to be devoted just to rate changes. The gimmick now is to close "loopholes" and thus theoretically to increase tax revenues to offset the so-called relief to be given by the drop of a few percentage points in the rates in all income brackets. Already some of the Senators on the Democratic side have pointed out that a drop of one percentage point in the upper brackets involves tens of thousands of dollars for an individual, while a drop of a point to a man of low income means only a few dollars in savings. Hence, it is argued that the whole saving should be given to the people in the lower brackets.

What is wrong with this theory, of course, is that the individuals to whom the nation looks for funds to finance industry's expansion aren't getting enough money now after taxes to help the free-enterprise system expand as it should. Nor will they be getting it under the proposed tax changes if the demagogues have their way. Companies, moreover, which would like to earn enough surplus each year to save up for rainy days—and for brighter days when there is need for funds for expansion of plant and equipment—aren't able to do so today because of the narrow profit margin. The proposed change in the tax rate will not help them much, if at all.

What has been lost sight of is that a private-enterprise system cannot function effectively very long if the government interferes with its operation. President Kennedy has damaged severely the normal processes of the American enterprise system and shows no sign of withdrawing his threat to interfere with price-making, while refraining from any action that would keep down wage increases.

This situation cannot drift on much longer without causing a bigger breakdown in the economy than has been witnessed. Business is not going to construe the type of tax revision promised by the Administration as likely in any way to go to the heart of the problem that is today frustrating the American economy.

Job creation is essential to national growth. There's plenty of talk here about stimulating national output, but no practical measures are being proposed that, in the aggregate, will bring that growth. An increas in consumer spending will not do it—though it may temporarily cause a fever of inflation. The real need, of course, is for encouragement of the heavy-goods industries, which are seriously depressed today.

The Administration vaguely promises to revise the rules of tax depreciation, as if this alone would do the job. But these are highly technical changes that may take the managers of American business in various industries two or three years to absorb. The real di..culty is that the per cent of profit to sales is not high enough and that surpluses aren't being built up to enable companies to finance a large part of their own requirements for the future.

Meanwhile, the Administration—although claiming it wishes to bring back more dividends from abroad—has proposed changes in taxing American plants overseas, which actually can cause a stoppage of the flow of dividend money to America, and hence a drop in tax revenue. This could have an adverse effect on the balance of international payments, which is causing so much apprehension about the future gold value of the dollar.

Thus, the Administration has failed to support the sound principles that permit a fair margin of profit to be earned. Unless this tide is reversed soon, the discouragement now prevalent will result in a drepression—perhaps not as severe as in the 1930s but in some respects of the same intensity. Yet President Kennedy still seems unaware of what his continued indifference to the labor-cost problem is doing to the economy.

AS PEGLER SE ES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Senator Tower, the Texas Republican, has been criticized for accepting expense money to Austin, Tex., to make a speech against additional income tax disguised as "Social Security" for medical expenses of so-called senior citizens. "Social Security" is an income tax, so defined in its text.

A hospital insurance company called Blue Cross paid Tower's expenses but no fee. A vox pop in the New York Times said it was no mitigation to argue that other Senators receive expense money for speeches to private organizations. Nobody said it was. If there is no offense no mitigation is needed. But it is common practice of Senators and Congressmen and it was a notorious outrage against public confidence in the case of Eleanor Roosevelt to rake in fees by mercenary exploitation of the election returns. The most scandalous abuse was operated in favor of some foreign countries to influence the judgment of American legislators.

Senator Wiley of Wisconsin admitted to me that when he was chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee he engaged in this traffic and that he continued to do so after the Republicans lost the Senate and he was demoted from the chair. I heard that he got $2,500 per bloviation as chairman, and $2,000 after his demotion. He admitted that he had received fees, but would not say how much or how many times or whether his rate had been cut. He did say further, however, that he had received fees for making speeches for Dorothy Thompson's Friends of the Middle East. Dorothy then wrote me that her society never paid Wiley or any other speaker anything except some individuals brought here from abroad.

Actually members of both Houses have been bush-whacking for years for whatever they can pick up. I refer pointedly to the late Alben Barkley's income tax returns which were published in foggy version after he had died. It was then learned that for years he had made no returns whatever and that his estate had been forced to pay. On an equal footing with other racketeers, he should have been sent to Alcatrez for at least 15 years. It was explained, however, that during the long illness of his first wife he had been very hard up and had punished himself by exhausting week-end travels to pick up money braying platitudes—which nobody ever believed anyway. But he and other scoundrels of Congress had not intended that hardships which they inflicted on better citizens should oppress them too.

I told Wiley that fees received from supplicant foreign powers must be regarded as bribes. He disagreed but he never did come through with the truth. Miss Thompson had heard that Barkley got $2,500 or $2,000 a shot from some groups. I asked whether she had lost clients and income as a columnist for practicing honesty toward certain groups, that the mistake ruined Jimmy Forrestal. She wrote "Sure I lost clients and income."

William Jennings Bryan was a wanton predator in the same way, The Faceless People had faith in him as a religious leader and he preached sermons on a platform over a swim pool at Coral Gables, inciting "senior citizens" to buy lots at the top of the market, always getting his fee in currency in advance, however. And, as Secretary of State he was often on the road bawling by the light of kerosene flares in Chautauqua tents. On one such trip he lost a Japanese ultimatum in a Pullman gents' room and was therefore at a loss when the ambassador called on Monday morning for his answer. Stalling in absolute fog, Byran so annoyed the ambassador that he asked: "Then is this your last word?" To that Byran replied, "There can be no last word between friends," and got immortal credit for a great blurp of diplomacy. My informant was Edward Bell, first secretary of our London Embassy in World War I.

Senator Tower is not a spokesman for Blue Cross, he was not paid a fee, and if Blue Cross paid his actual expenses it only financed a public service. Otherwise the people who heard Tower's truthful comments could not have heard them.

On the other hand, Senator Ralph Yarborough and Congressman Slick Rutherford of Texas did get $1,700 and $1,500 respectively plus lesser donations from a con-man whose motive obviously was corrupt.

Two of Thirty Historic Sites Are in County

Thirty sites in New York State—two in Ulster County—have been designated by the United States Department of Interior as "possessing exceptional value in commemorating the history of the United States." Part of a federal program to recognize the preservation of historic buildings and sites that will eventualy include those in every major historical period, the survey is more than half completed.

Twenty-six of the 30 sites in New York are open to the public, the State Commerce Department points out. They include ten historic homes, two battlefields three churches, five famous buildings, two bays in Lake Champlain, three forts and the Erie Canal.

Twelve sites are in the Metropolitan Area, six are in New York City and the others are in the lower Hudson Valley and on Long Island.

Huguenot Street in New Paltz. All its stone houses antedate the Revolution. Many are open to the public.

Hurley, where the main street of the town is lined with stone houses more than two centuries old. Although all privately-owned the Hurley stone houses will be open to the public on its annual Stone House Day, July 14.

The U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

Washington's Headquarters, Newburgh, the Jonathan Hasbrouck House that served the general during 1782 and 1783. This is maintained as a state historic site.

Four New York State historic sites are maintained by the Federal government as being of national interest. These include the Saratoga Battlefield, near Stillweather, the Franklin D. Roosevelt and Frederick W. Vanderbilt homes in the Hudson Valley at Hyde Park, and the General Grant National Memorial in New York City.

"New York State Vacationlands," carries a complete listing to places of historic interest. Free copies may be obtained from the State Department of Commerce, 112 State Street, Albany 7.

Urge Display Of Old Glory On Flag Day

A plea to make every street in the area an "avenue of flags" on June 14, Flag Day, and other coming patriotic holidays has been made jointly by the local Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, and Air Force recruiters.

Acting in connection with an "honor the American Flag campaign" being conducted by the local Armed Forces Recruiting Services and in an effort to acquaint area citizens with the laws, customs and courtesies of the flag, the local recruiters are distributing a free booklet, "Our Flag." The booklet gives the story of the evolution of the American flag from 1607 to 1960 when the new 50-star flag became a reality and shows how to care for and display it by colored illustrations.

Recruiters urged that the general display of the flag take place on Flag Day, June 14; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, Sept. 4; Citizenship Day, Sept. 17; Columbus Day, Oct. 12; Veterans Day, Nov. 11; Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 23; and on state holidays and such other days as may be proclaimed by the President of the United States. They added that the flag should be displayed daily, weather permitting, on or near the main building of every public institution.

The recruiters emphasized, however, that flying the flag on certain days of the year was not enough, and advocate a greater knowledge by young and old of the history of the flag and the courtesies due the National colors.

The free booklet of information on courtesies due the national colors may be obtained at the local Armed Forces Recruiting Stations.

Nutter Is Named Holstein-Friesian President Again

Fred J. Nutter, Corinna, Me., dairyman and farm leader, was reelected president of The Holstein-Friesian Association of America in the closing session of its annual convention at Roanoke, Va., Tuesday.

William L. Conyngham, Shavertown, Pa., and Herbert W. Filk, Hitchinson, Minn., were elected to the board of directors of the national organization of Registered Holstein cattle breeders. They succeed Joseph O. Canby of Langhorne, Pa., and Arthur H. Jergens, Hutchinson, Minn., both of whom were ineligible for reelection after serving two consecutive terms.

More than 900 breeders of Registered Holsteins from 48 states, Puerto Rico and several foreign countries took part in the four-day convention program.

Senator Jennings Randolph of West Virginia, Dr. Charles E. French of Purdue University and Dr. T. Marshall Hahn, Jr., president-elect of Virginia Polytechnic Institute headed the speakers list.

American Dairy Princess Louise Knolle also appeared on the program with a report from the American Dairy Association.

Organized in 1885 with 284 charter members, it now ranks as the world's largest dairy cattle organization with 51,469 members and more than 200 employees. Brattleboro, Vt., is headquarters.

Hollywood News and Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The sign on the dressing room suite read "The Great One," so you knew it had to belong to Jackie Gleason.

Inside you were greeted by members of the Gleason staff and ushered into the presence of the man himself. He was sitting in a corner, his barrel shape wrapped in a white terry-cloth robe. He was drinking—coffee.

"Never drink booze on the job," he explained. "But afterwards—watch out!"

Gleason was at Paramount for "Papa's Delicate Condition," his first Hollywood film in a dozen years. The circumstances are somewhat different this time.

"That last one was called 'Desert Hawk,' and it was a lulu," he recounted. "Tell you how I got the job.

"I went to see the producer and he was having a pedicure, I want you to know. He was saying, 'Watch out, Mildred, how you cut the big toe,' while I was trying to tell him what a great Arab I would make.

"Finally he said, 'Can you ride?' I said I could ride like the wind—I had never been on a horse in my life. He said, 'Can you duel?' I said I was a whiz at fencing—I didn't know the first thing about it.

"Then he said, 'You can't have the job.' I said 'Why not?' and he said, 'Because you got blue eyes, and Arabs don't have blue eyes.'

"I said, 'Then you're in trouble, Bud, because your leading man is Richard Greene, and he has two of the bluest eyes I've ever seen!

"The guy was really worried and he called up research and said, 'See if there are any Arabs with blue eyes.' The answer came back that there may be two or three Arabs somewhere with blue eyes. So he told me I could have the job.

"I never got close enough to the camera for anyone to see my eyes. Most of the time I was peeking around Rock Hudson."

Such was Gleason's first movie career. He did six films in the '40s, including "Orchestra Wives" and "Navy Blues."

"Most of the time I was playing with scene-stealers like Jack Oakie, Martha Raye, Peter Lorre and Edward Everett Horton," he recalled. "I never had a chance."

His second time around is another matter. He got an Oscar nomination for "The Hustler." His "Gigot" and "Requiem for a Heavyweight" are highly touted. And now "Papa's Delicate Condition."

One of Papa's delicate conditions in the film is that he nips, and Gleason admitted the casting was apt. He gave his philosophy on the grape:

"If you don't know why you're drinking, you're in trouble. I've always drunk for one reason only: To get smashed.

"As I told Arthur Godfrey once, drinking can remove warts, wrinkles, pimples and other blemishes. Not on yourself—on other people."

Two of Thirty Historic Sites Are in County

Thirty sites in New York State—two in Ulster County—have been designated by the United States Department of Interior as "possessing exceptional value in commemorating the history of the United States." Part of a federal program to recognize the preservation of historic buildings and sites that will eventualy include those in every major historical period, the survey is more than half completed.

Twenty-six of the 30 sites in New York are open to the public, the State Commerce Department points out. They include ten historic homes, two battlefields three churches, five famous buildings, two bays in Lake Champlain, three forts and the Erie Canal.

Twelve sites are in the Metropolitan Area, six are in New York City and the others are in the lower Hudson Valley and on Long Island.

Huguenot Street in New Paltz. All its stone houses antedate the Revolution. Many are open to the public.

Hurley, where the main street of the town is lined with stone houses more than two centuries old. Although all privately-owned the Hurley stone houses will be open to the public on its annual Stone House Day, July 14.

The U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

Washington's Headquarters, Newburgh, the Jonathan Hasbrouck House that served the general during 1782 and 1783. This is maintained as a state historic site.

Four New York State historic sites are maintained by the Federal government as being of national interest. These include the Saratoga Battlefield, near Stillweather, the Franklin D. Roosevelt and Frederick W. Vanderbilt homes in the Hudson Valley at Hyde Park, and the General Grant National Memorial in New York City.

"New York State Vacationlands," carries a complete listing to places of historic interest. Free copies may be obtained from the State Department of Commerce, 112 State Street, Albany 7.

The four Marx Brothers, Groucho, Zeppo, Chico and Harpo, all were born in New York City.

Father of 7 Gets BS After 15 Years

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Andrew Romano, 34, and the father of seven children, won his bachelor of science degree Sunday at the University of Rochester the hard way—after 15 years of night school study.

Romano, a junior chemist at Bell & Howell Co. here, said his wife's patience and understanding helped him see it through. His six daughters and one son range in age from one to 10 years.

Audiences Might See Her

NEW YORK (AP)—Madeliene Sherwood doesn't worry about the possibility that she might have to appear in two Broadway shows the same evening.

Miss Sherwood is in the musical "Camelot," and is also a standby for Shelley Winters in the drama, "The Night of the Iguana."

The production happen to be playing in adjacent theaters. The "Camelot" assisgment keeps Miss Sherwood on stage for only 10 minutes, and she would be able to slip next door without complications if double work became necessary.

Urge Display Of Old Glory On Flag Day

A plea to make every street in the area an "avenue of flags" on June 14, Flag Day, and other coming patriotic holidays has been made jointly by the local Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, and Air Force recruiters.

Acting in connection with an "honor the American Flag campaign" being conducted by the local Armed Forces Recruiting Services and in an effort to acquaint area citizens with the laws, customs and courtesies of the flag, the local recruiters are distributing a free booklet, "Our Flag." The booklet gives the story of the evolution of the American flag from 1607 to 1960 when the new 50-star flag became a reality and shows how to care for and display it by colored illustrations.

Recruiters urged that the general display of the flag take place on Flag Day, June 14; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, Sept. 4; Citizenship Day, Sept. 17; Columbus Day, Oct. 12; Veterans Day, Nov. 11; Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 23; and on state holidays and such other days as may be proclaimed by the President of the United States. They added that the flag should be displayed daily, weather permitting, on or near the main building of every public institution.

The recruiters emphasized, however, that flying the flag on certain days of the year was not enough, and advocate a greater knowledge by young and old of the history of the flag and the courtesies due the National colors.

The free booklet of information on courtesies due the national colors may be obtained at the local Armed Forces Recruiting Stations.

Nutter Is Named Holstein-Friesian President Again

Fred J. Nutter, Corinna, Me., dairyman and farm leader, was reelected president of The Holstein-Friesian Association of America in the closing session of its annual convention at Roanoke, Va., Tuesday.

William L. Conyngham, Shavertown, Pa., and Herbert W. Filk, Hitchinson, Minn., were elected to the board of directors of the national organization of Registered Holstein cattle breeders. They succeed Joseph O. Canby of Langhorne, Pa., and Arthur H. Jergens, Hutchinson, Minn., both of whom were ineligible for reelection after serving two consecutive terms.

More than 900 breeders of Registered Holsteins from 48 states, Puerto Rico and several foreign countries took part in the four-day convention program.

Senator Jennings Randolph of West Virginia, Dr. Charles E. French of Purdue University and Dr. T. Marshall Hahn, Jr., president-elect of Virginia Polytechnic Institute headed the speakers list.

American Dairy Princess Louise Knolle also appeared on the program with a report from the American Dairy Association.

Organized in 1885 with 284 charter members, it now ranks as the world's largest dairy cattle organization with 51,469 members and more than 200 employees. Brattleboro, Vt., is headquarters.

We call submarines U-boats today because the German name for this boat, which they perfected during World War 1, was "Unterseeboot." Thus the "U" really stands for undersea.

Hollywood News and Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The sign on the dressing room suite read "The Great One," so you knew it had to belong to Jackie Gleason.

Inside you were greeted by members of the Gleason staff and ushered into the presence of the man himself. He was sitting in a corner, his barrel shape wrapped in a white terry-cloth robe. He was drinking—coffee.

"Never drink booze on the job," he explained. "But afterwards—watch out!"

Gleason was at Paramount for "Papa's Delicate Condition," his first Hollywood film in a dozen years. The circumstances are somewhat different this time.

"That last one was called 'Desert Hawk,' and it was a lulu," he recounted. "Tell you how I got the job.

"I went to see the producer and he was having a pedicure, I want you to know. He was saying, 'Watch out, Mildred, how you cut the big toe," while I was trying to tell him what a great Arab I would make.

"Finally he said, 'Can you ride?' I said I could ride like the wind—I had never been on a horse in my life. He said, 'Can you duel?' I said I was a whiz at fencing—I didn't know the first thing about it.

"Then he said, 'You can't have the job.' I said 'Why not?' and he said, 'Because you got blue eyes, and Arabs don't have blue eyes.'

"I said, 'Then you're in trouble, Bud, because your leading man is Richard Greene, and he has two of the bluest eyes I've ever seen!

"The guy was really worried and he called up research and said, 'See if there are any Arabs with blue eyes.' The answer came back that there may be two or three Arabs somewhere with blue eyes. So he told me I could have the job.

"I never got close enough to the camera for anyone to see my eyes. Most of the time I was peeking around Rock Hudson."

Such was Gleason's first movie career. He did six films in the '40s, including "Orchestra Wives" and "Navy Blues."

"Most of the time I was playing with scene-stealers like Jack Oakie, Martha Raye, Peter Lorre and Edward Everett Horton," he recalled. "I never had a chance."

His second time around is another matter. He got an Oscar nomination for "The Hustler." His "Gigot" and "Requiem for a Heavyweight" are highly touted. And now "Papa's Delicate Condition."

One of Papa's delicate conditions in the film is that he nips, and Gleason admitted the casting was apt. He gave his philosophy on the grape:

"If you don't know why you're drinking, you're in trouble. I've always drunk for one reason only: To get smashed.

"As I told Arthur Godfrey once, drinking can remove warts, wrinkles, pimples and other blemishes. Not on yourself—on other people."

Ellenville Motorist Unhurt as Car Upsets

A 23-year-old Ellenville motorist escaped injury at 9:15 p. m. Sunday, when the 1951 car he was driving went out of control and overturned off Route 44-55, Town of Gardiner.

Highland State Police said Mikus Grinberg, of 4 Inwood Street, Ellenville, was driving a car owned by Austra Grinberg, same address in a southeasterly direction on Route 44-55 a mile west of Route 299, when an unidentified car pulled from a parking area.

Grinberg swerved to avoid an accident and his car spun around. The driver lost control and the vehicle overturned on its right side, coming to a stop on guard rails, troopers said.

Kingston Legion Names Roedell Post Commander

Members of Kingston American Legion Post 150 have elected Frank T. Roedell of 35 Hemlock Avenue as commander for the coming year. He succeeds George C. Heppner and is scheduled to take over his duties for the 1962-63 year at the regular post meeting June 19. Roedell was also named Post 150 delegate for the state convention in New York City in August.

Other officers elected at the May meeting were: Morgan Turner, vice commander; Albert Sonnenberg, vice commander; Frank Martin Jr., vice commander; Charles King, adjutant; Roy Jacob, assistant adjutant; John Quigley, treasurer; Clarence Brown, chaplain; Joseph Mercier, sergeant-at-arms; Fred Bayona, historian; Charles Vulver, service officer; Meyer Kaplan, welfare officer; and Jules Albertini, atheletic officer.

After his election, Commander-elect Roedell declared that his administration would make every effort to enlarge the post's community service programs as well as continue its long standing services for disabled veterans.

He slated that Post 150 was already planning an early membership campaign to climax on Veterans Day, November 11.

"I realize that, because of other obligations, not every veteran can take an active role in the American Legion" Roedell said. "However, whether they are active or not, all eligible veterans can aid in the development of many programs of service to community, state and nation through their legion membership."

He also paid tribute to the progress and achievements recorded by the local post under the leadership of retiring Commander Heppner.

Under Commander Heppner's administration, he promoted such events as: Past Commanders' Dinner, spearheaded Community College resolution, American Legion Baseball, Chicken Bar-B-Q, and sponsored various events for Education Week, March of Dimes, spring dance, Sports Night.

Conservatives Elect Jackson Temporary Head

William A. Jackson of Shady has been named temporary chairman of the newly formed Woodstock Conservative Club which held its organization meeting last week.

Other tetmporary officers are: E. Lee Pierce, West Hurley, vice chairman; Mrs. D. Pierpont, Woodstock, secretary; and Mrs. Ann McNelis, Zena, treasurer.

The purpose of the Conservative Party, it was announced, is to break the stranglehold the liberals have exerted over the two major political parties in New York state. The Conservatives will run candidates for governor and senator in the 1962 elections.

Liberal elements have saddled the Republican party with Nelson Rockefeller and the New Deal's legacy to the GOP and Jacob Javits is the only "Republican" senator endorsed 100 per cent by the ultra-liberal Americans for Democratic Action, the Conservative party statement said. "And now they are purging the old line Democrats from the Democratic party," it added.

Permanent Group

Thet impact of the Conservative Party will extend far beyond the 1962 elections, the statement continued. After the party obtains a permanent place on the New York ballot, the party's endorsement will become essential to Republican victories in New York state wide elections, just as the Liberal party endorsement is considered essential by the Democrats.

The membership of the Conservative Party have pledged themselves to following principles: (1) Return to the principles of the Constitution, including easing the burden of taxation through the sharpest possible reduction of unnecessary government support to special groups and returning the control of education to the parent and the local communities (2) uncompromising struggle for the elimination of armed Communism.

Senior Citizens

The regular monthly meeting of the Senior Citizens of Woodstock will be held Tuesday, June 19, at the Overlook Methodist Church hall. It is the last meeting until September. All persons 60 years or older are invited to participate in the program.

JENKINS AWARD: Dr. George R. Sullivan, left, District Principal of the Onteora Central Schools District, presents the 1962 Jenkins Memorial Award to the Woodstock P-TA to Frank Hancock, fifth grade teacher at the Woodstock Elementary school, as Edgar S. Leaycraft, P-TA president, looks on approvingly. Hancock, who was described by Dr. Sullivan as one of the most efficient and dedicated teachers in the Onteora system, was a unanimous choice for the coveted award which carries with it a lifetime membeship in P-TA. It was also pointed out that Hancock was one of the driving forces that kept the Woodstock P-TA alive the past few years. It was generally agreed that without his interest it is doubtful the P-TA could have survived.

Conservatives Elect Jackson Temporary Head

William A. Jackson of Shady has been named temporary chairman of the newly formed Woodstock Conservative Club which held its organization meeting last week.

Other tetmporary officers are: E. Lee Pierce, West Hurley, vice chairman; Mrs. D. Pierpont, Woodstock, secretary; and Mrs. Ann McNelis, Zena, treasurer.

The purpose of the Conservative Party, it was announced, is to break the stranglehold the liberals have exerted over the two major political parties in New York state. The Conservatives will run candidates for governor and senator in the 1962 elections.

Liberal elements have saddled the Republican party with Nelson Rockefeller and the New Deal's legacy to the GOP and Jacob Javits is the only "Republican" senator endorsed 100 per cent by the ultra-liberal Americans for Democratic Action, the Conservative party statement said. "And now they are purging the old line Democrats from the Democratic party," it added.

Permanent Group

Thet impact of the Conservative Party will extend far beyond the 1962 elections, the statement continued. After the party obtains a permanent place on the New York ballot, the party's endorsement will become essential to Republican victories in New York state wide elections, just as the Liberal party endorsement is considered essential by the Democrats.

The membership of the Conservative Party have pledged themselves to following principles: (1) Return to the principles of the Constitution, including easing the burden of taxation through the sharpest possible reduction of unnecessary government support to special groups and returning the control of education to the parent and the local communities (2) uncompromising struggle for the elimination of armed Communism.

Senior Citizens

The regular monthly meeting of the Senior Citizens of Woodstock will be held Tuesday, June 19, at the Overlook Methodist Church hall. It is the last meeting until September. All persons 60 years or older are invited to participate in the program.

New Paltz B of E Plans New School For Erman Site

At a special meeting of the Board of Education last week it was unanimously voted to proceed with plans to build a 16-room elementary school on the Erman site, the purchase of which was recently approved by the voters of New Paltz Central School District. Estimated cost of the building including site development, equipment and all fees is $610,000.

The decision was made after a meeting attended by the executive board of the Independent Citizens Committee, represenatives of the Central School faculty and the Board of Education. After considerable discussion it was the overwhelming opinion of those present that in order to supply the necessary classrooms to eliminate split sessions at the earliest possible time the Board should act immediately.

It was pointed out that as a result of the 1962 legislation New Paltz could expect, for the first time, state aid on the payments for the necessary bond issue for the proposed building. This aid which would vary slightly from year to year, would be approximately 37 per cent based on this year's figures.

They include Georgine Bogert, Laura Ellen Buchanan, Victoria Batty Burkhart, Mary Jane Cheatham, Patricia Ann Countryman, Thomas C. Davidson, Stephen M. Erman, Dorothy Ann Fall, John W. Also, Robert J. Phillips, Joanthan W. Pyle, Anthony Joseph Ricci, Edwin Keator Robbins Jr., Sharon Jean Roth, Robert V. Smith, Katherine Ann Sudowski, Lolita Maria Tauriello, Bonnie Alive Thoben, Jo Ann Tufts, Jo Anne Weaver, and Betsy Brann White.

Commencement speaker was Dr. John H. Jacobson, chairman of the General Education Division at the college, and Gerald DuBois, president of New Paltz Central School Board, who welcomed the graduates to the high school. The diplomas were presented by Dr. George Bond, principal of Campus School.

Following the commencement exercises, a reception was held for parents and graduates in the College Union and from 8 to 11 p. m. there was dancing for the graduates in the College Union Lounge.

Queen Drop Is Better Gamble

Here is another hand from the Silodor-Tierney book. Once again the East and West hands are not shown because they are illustrating the proper play with nine trumps, missing the queen.

The correct play is to lead either the ace or king first. This takes care of a singleton queen if there is one. Then you should play to the other high card and try to drop the queen rather than a finesse.

The actual percentages are: drop play, 58 per cent; finesse play, 56.2 per cent. So if you have gathered any information from the opponents that would indicate the probability of uneven distribution you should try the finesse.

Thus, if your oppoents have not bid, you as South will find yourself in a comfortable four heart contract since even if you lose to the queen of hearts, you will make your ten tricks.

Now suppose that West has overcalled your opening heart bid with a nuisance jump overcall of two spades. What information does this give you?

It tells you that West has a lot of spades. This means he will be short somewhere else and hence the chances are that hearts won't break evenly. Now you should change your tactics; play a heart to dummy's king and, assuming that both opponents follow, play East for the queen and finesse if necessary.

NEW YORK (AP) — You, the consumer, are the biggest factor in the economy. And the government wants to help keep the economy from dawdling—to help, maybe, by from $5 to $9 billion worth.

While the emphasis of his tax cutting plan is laid on spurring hesitant business to raise its spending plans and on counteracting the harm an ailing stock market has done to confidence, the amount that may be pared from individual federal income taxes could prove a top weapon in the fight to increase the rate of economic growth.

That's because you aren't expected to hold onto whatever you save from the proposed federal income tax cuts, when and if put into effect. You are expected to spend it—in the stores, at the auto dealers, the housing development, or for the countless services that mean more in your life all the time. Or, if you're in top income brackets, you're expected to put your tax savings into direct and indirect investment in business ventures.

This recognition of the big role the individual can play and does play, if he has the wherewithal, is an essential part of Kennedy's tax reform proposals, promised later this summer.

Earlier plans, now before Congress or in the works in the Internal Revenue Service, concentrate almost exclusively on incentives for business expansion through revamping depreciation allowances for tax purposes. This is important, especially now that business is hesitant.

But consumer spending can give a big boost, too. The President hasn't spelled out how big a cut in individual income taxes he wants. In any case the cuts won't be a certainty until Congress takes final action.

Because the economy has dawdled there has been a good deal of wishful thinking recently that individual taxes would be cut this year. Also behind such thinking was the realization that tax bills originate in the lower house of Congress, and this is a congressional election year.

This hope for an early windfall for the individual taxpayer seems dashed by the President's statement that he wants the next Congress, not this one, to cut taxes. The cuts would affect income earned after Jan. 1, but wouldn't change the amount deducted from your pay this year, or the amount you'll be liable for next April 1.

Whatever the taxpayers in the lower income brackets may save by such a cut is expected to flow almost automatically into the channels of trade. The individual sums will be small; the total will be large, because the Treasury gets the lion share of its revenues from those in the lower brackets.

In the middle brackets, some of the tax relief could be put into various forms of saving and some into direct investment in business. But a large amount probably would go into goods and services—things wanted now, but just out of reach of disposable income after taxes.

Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Meeting's Over!

Ever notice how a meeting concludes? Often—you can discern the success or lack of it at a meeting by noting its conclusion. If the participants work harmoniously with a spirit of cooperation you may be sure it will end on a high note.

This candid photo of a recent Ulster County Savings Institution Trustees' meeting seems to fall in that category. These highly successful businessmen meet for one common purpose; to guide the continuing growth of the bank that they serve. The success of this guidance is evidenced by the position of leadership "Ulster County Savings" enjoys today. Bank with confidence; bank at—

Allot $204,475 To Ulster County Of Gasoline Tax

Ulster County has been allotted $204,4475.72 as its share of the distribution of $21,309,931.77 of motor vehicle tax receipts to the counties of the state and to New York City for counties comprising the city. New York City's share is $6,277,087.65.

This total is the share of state-collected motor vehicle fees for the three months ending March 31, 1962, which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the state highway law.

The law provides that 25 per cent of the fees collected under the vehicle and traffic law, exclusive of application fees and service charge for special plates, from residents of counties be returned to local government.

The money is deposited by counties in the county road funds, from which expenditures for construction and maintenance of county road systems are made. The money paid to the City of New York is to be credited to the city's general fund for construction and maintenance of city streets, highways and parkways. Checks are being mailed to the county fiscal officers and to the treasurer of the City of New York.

THE $750,000 INVESTIGATION

The government-inspired Securities and Exchange Commission's $750,000 investigation of the stock exchanges, mutual funds and over-the-counter market painfully shows the low ethical and professional standards of some segments of the securities business.

It is probable that more laws will be passed to regulate the stock and bond business. These new laws will not get to the base of the trouble. In the securities business there is no substitute for character and capacity.

Investment finance should be administered on the levels of law and medicine. A competent securities adviser will handle millions of dollars of values every year. This means that he should have college training and, before he gets a job managing money, he should serve an apprenticeship for five years at least.

For more than a quarter of a century I taught corporation and investment finance in three leading American universities, and during this period I told my students that they should not manage money until they had the proper academic and practical background.

Thousands of customers' men, working for stock-exchange firms, selling mutual funds and operating in the over-the-counter markets, have absolutely no foundation for competent work.

A capable investment adviser, registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington, should be as good a man in his field as a doctor on the staff of a hospital or a lawyer associated with a reputable firm.

And until this condition is obtained, we shall still have millions of bewildered investors, controlling billions of dollars, wondering what to do.

In September 1962, I should like to see 1,000 young high school graduates enrolled in the freshman classes of liberal arts colleges and universities with finance as their vocational goals. There is no field more open to professional development.

Such a student would probably major in economics and political economy. He would take four years of English, also. And if courses in economic history were given, he would take them.

During his junior or senior year he would take a course or two in accounting.

At his graduation he would take a job with a strong commercial bank having a trust department. Or he would take employment with a leading New York Stock Exchange firm where, under the tutelage of partners and managers, he would learn how to manage money.

Today America needs 25,000 young men like him. At age 30 he could write his own ticket. He could be a trust officer of a bank, a partner in a good firm or a free-lance counselor. His income, of course, would be in five figures and maybe higher.

All of this comes out of my own experience. I spent eight years in commercial and investment banking, and 32 years ago I became a free lance; and I have had a marvelous time in finance.

No. 1 Homemaker to Open ID Festival With Mayor

"Mrs. New York" for 1962—the state's Number One homemaker — and Mayor John J. Schwenk will open Island Dock Lumber's second Annual Urban Renewal and Home Improvement Festival at noon on Saturday.

The festival will be held from noon to 6 p. m. on that day, on Sunday the 17th, and again on the following weekend, June 23 and 24, at Island Dock Lumber's headquarters. Mayor Schwenk has proclaimed June 16 to 24 "Urban Renewal and Home Improvement Week" in honor of the festival.

"Mrs. New York" in real life is Mrs. Janet Brown of Buffalo. Her husband, Thomas H., is a partner in an auto parts firm. The couple has two boys, aged nine and seven, and a girl who is four.

Skilled Homemaker

The pretty, hazel-eyed "Mrs. New York" first won the Mrs. Niagara Frontier contest last June when a friend entered her name in the competition. "I had talked two friends out of submitting my name," says Mrs. Brown, "but a third did it without my knowing. Then, when I received the application, I thought it would be fun to follow it through."

Follow it through she did, winning the Mrs. Niagara Frontier contest and then the state title for her general homemaking ability and especially for her baking and dressmaking skills.

Island Dock Lumber's festival is being held on two successive weekends this year because last year's open house was so successful. Highlights of this year's celebration will be free boat and pony rides, water skiing demonstrations, and refreshments. Gifts will be given away every half hour.

Apart from the many other awards, the first 25 families to visit on each day of the open house will receive four free tickets each to Palisades Amusement Park.

Island Dock Lumber also has been designated official contest headquarters for the Better Homes and Gardens home improvement contest, and visitors may take the opportunity to enter the contest and compete for $30,000 in cash prizes.

Leading local business concerns will have exhibits and Island Dock sales personnel will be on hand to advise visitors on their building, remodeling and decorating problems. "Mrs. New York" will greet visitors on the first weekend of the festival.

Train, Bus Collide

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A commuter train and a school bus collided at a city crossing in dense fog today. First unofficial reports said 13 were killed and many others injured. The casualty estimates were made by the news agency Telpress.

MRS. NEW YORK FOR 1962—in real life Mrs. Janet Brown of Buffalo—will be official hostess of Island Dock Lumber's second Annual Urban Renewal and Home Improvement Festival on June 16 and 17. The festival will be held the following weekend.

BALTIMORE (AP) — In a book about Baltimore, published 25 years ago, Meredith Janiver lamented the passing of the city's old-time charm.

He said he knew of only three hitching rings embedded in curbstones, only one hitching post, only six carriage blocks and only a handful of doorway footscrapers.

Today in Baltimore, there are 110 known hitching rings embedded in curbstones, 7 hitching posts, 67 carriage blocks and 600 footscrapers.

Three Saugerties Infants Are Hurt In Local Mishaps

Three Saugerties youngsters involved in traffic mishaps Saturday afternoon, were taken to Kingston Hospital where two have since been released.

At the hospital in fair condition today is Wayne Jasnowski, 5 of Lighthouse Drive, who village police said suffered a large cut on the top of his head and other abrasions and bruises. His brother, Paul, 7 was treated for abrasions and bruises and released.

George Augustine Jr., 3 of RFD 1, Box 417, Saugerties was treated for abrasions of both elbows and knees and was released from the hospital Sunday.

Acting Sgt. Donald Sullivan said the Jasnowski boys were riding double on a bicycle along Lighthouse Drive when they rounded a curve and were in collision with a Hildebrandt Plumbing and Heating pick-up truck, operated by G. Thomas Morgan, 21 of Burt Street, Saugerties.

Morgan told police he was proceeding west on Lighthouse Drive when he saw the boys on the bicycle, pulled over and stopped, and the boys crashed into the truck on the left side. Patrolman William Johnson said he saw the pick-up truck proceeding at a low rate of speed.

The boys were taken to the hospital in H & S Ambulance. The mishap occurred at 1:45 p. m.

A short time earlier Ronald Gambino, 18 of Ulster Avenue, Saugerties started to pull his 1956 station wagon out of a parking space in the Empire Super Market lot on West Bridge Street when the Augustine boy ran in front of his vehicle, Patrolman Edward Sweeney reported.

According to Sweeney, a witness, Ward Sparling of Saugerties, an employe of the market, said Gambino halted immediatley and the boy veered away from the car to avoid contact and fell to the pavement. Sparling told police the boy was not struck by the Gambino car.

Navy Man Perishes As Kin's Home Burns

Firemen found the body in what had been a hallway in the house.

The fire broke out in the living room, firemen said.

The cause was not determined, and there was no immediate estimate of the damage.

Newburgh Folk Consider Welfare Rift Hurt City

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The people of Newburgh are turning against City Manager Joseph Mitchell's get-tough welfare policies because they think the city has been hurt by them, says Newburgh Mayor William D. Ryan.

"In the beginning, 80 to 90 per cent were in accord with the Mitchell philosophy," said Ryan. "But now the pendulum is beginning to swing the other way."

Ryan told a Buffalo AFL-CIO meeting Sunday that statistics never bore out Mitchell's claim that the city was being victimized by welfare chiselers.

"If he could have found a chiseler," Ryan said, "he would have dragged him in front of every TV camera in the country."

Ryan, a Democrat, has been an outspoken foe of Mitchell's controversial 13-point welfare program, which was suspended by the courts. Mitchell is Republican.

Island Dock Lumber's festival is being held on two successive weekends this year because last year's open house was so successful. Highlights of this year's celebration will be free boat and pony rides, water skiing demonstrations, and refreshments. Gifts will be given away every half hour.

Apart from the many other awards, the first 25 families to visit on each day of the open house will receive four free tickets each to Palisades Amusement Park.

Island Dock Lumber also has been designated official contest headquarters for the Better Homes and Gardens home improvement contest, and visitors may take the opportunity to enter the contest and compete for $30,000 in cash prizes.

Leading local business concerns will have exhibits and Island Dock sales personnel will be on hand to advise visitors on their building, remodeling and decorating problems. "Mrs. New York" will greet visitors on the first weekend of the festival.

Train, Bus Collide

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A commuter train and a school bus collided at a city crossing in dense fog today. First unofficial reports said 13 were killed and many others injured. The casualty estimates were made by the news agency Telpress.

MRS. NEW YORK FOR 1962—in real life Mrs. Janet Brown of Buffalo—will be official hostess of Island Dock Lumber's second Annual Urban Renewal and Home Improvement Festival on June 16 and 17. The festival will be held the following weekend.

BALTIMORE (AP) — In a book about Baltimore, published 25 years ago, Meredith Janiver lamented the passing of the city's old-time charm.

He said he knew of only three hitching rings embedded in curbstones, only one hitching post, only six carriage blocks and only a handful of doorway footscrapers.

Today in Baltimore, there are 110 known hitching rings embedded in curbstones, 7 hitching posts, 67 carriage blocks and 600 footscrapers.

Three Saugerties Infants Are Hurt In Local Mishaps

Three Saugerties youngsters involved in traffic mishaps Saturday afternoon, were taken to Kingston Hospital where two have since been released.

At the hospital in fair condition today is Wayne Jasnowski, 5 of Lighthouse Drive, who village police said suffered a large cut on the top of his head and other abrasions and bruises. His brother, Paul, 7 was treated for abrasions and bruises and released.

George Augustine Jr., 3 of RFD 1, Box 417, Saugerties was treated for abrasions of both elbows and knees and was released from the hospital Sunday.

Acting Sgt. Donald Sullivan said the Jasnowski boys were riding double on a bicycle along Lighthouse Drive when they rounded a curve and were in collision with a Hildebrandt Plumbing and Heating pick-up truck, operated by G. Thomas Morgan, 21 of Burt Street, Saugerties.

Morgan told police he was proceeding west on Lighthouse Drive when he saw the boys on the bicycle, pulled over and stopped, and the boys crashed into the truck on the left side. Patrolman William Johnson said he saw the pick-up truck proceeding at a low rate of speed.

The boys were taken to the hospital in H & S Ambulance. The mishap occurred at 1:45 p. m.

A short time earlier Ronald Gambino, 18 of Ulster Avenue, Saugerties started to pull his 1956 station wagon out of a parking space in the Empire Super Market lot on West Bridge Street when the Augustine boy ran in front of his vehicle, Patrolman Edward Sweeney reported.

According to Sweeney, a witness, Ward Sparling of Saugerties, an employe of the market, said Gambino halted immediatley and the boy veered away from the car to avoid contact and fell to the pavement. Sparling told police the boy was not struck by the Gambino car.

Newburgh Folk Consider Welfare Rift Hurt City

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The people of Newburgh are turning against City Manager Joseph Mitchell's get-tough welfare policies because they think the city has been hurt by them, says Newburgh Mayor William D. Ryan.

"In the beginning, 80 to 90 per cent were in accord with the Mitchell philosophy," said Ryan. "But now the pendulum is beginning to swing the other way."

Ryan told a Buffalo AFL-CIO meeting Sunday that statistics never bore out Mitchell's claim that the city was being victimized by welfare chiselers.

"If he could have found a chiseler," Ryan said, "he would have dragged him in front of every TV camera in the country."

Navy Man Perishes As Kin's Home Burns

Firemen found the body in what had been a hallway in the house.

The fire broke out in the living room, firemen said.

The cause was not determined, and there was no immediate estimate of the damage.

Democrats Keep Pressing Reapportionment Issue

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Democratic legislative leaders continued today to press for reapportionment of the Legislature, an undertaking that Gov. Rockefeller has ruled out for this year.

Sen. Joseph Zaretzki and Assemblyman Anthony J. Travia said in a statement the voters should reject a proposed constitutional amendment that will be on the statewide ballot this fall.

Defeat of the proposal, they said, would "impress emphatically upon the governor and his Republican advisors the fact that the people want the Legislature to provide them with fair and equal representation, no matter where they live..."

Their statement produced a new round of Republican-Democratic conflict, as prevailed over the weekend.

The weekend political activity was widespread and diverse. Here were the highlights:

DISCRIMINATION — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, the Harlem Democratic leader, raised Rockefeller's ire when they appeared together at a fund-raising dinner in Harlem Saturday night.

Powell charged that the state had discriminated against Harlem hospitals in distributing federal construction funds. The governor denied this and accused Powell of attempting "to prey on the emotions of these fine people here and mislead them about discrimination when there is no discrimination."

The next day, Powell reiterated his charge at a news conference but said Rockefeller was not to blame. Rockefeller is "a wonderful human being," Powell said.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, the state health commissioner, joined in Sunday night to say there was no basis for Powell's contention. A Health Department spokesman said the hospital Powell claimed was being discriminated against — Mount Morris Park Hospital — never had applied for the federal funds.

DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE — William McKeon predicted in a speech at Rochester that the Democrats would defeat Rockefeller in November.

McKeon announced that the state committee would meet in New York City June 25 to select a site for the party's state convention, where its statewide ticket will be decided upon. An eight-member committee will recommend the site. Francis J. Tierney, Washington County Democratic chairman, heads the group.

LEVITT — Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a Democrat, charged that Rockefeller had wasted $26 million on his scholar-incentive program for college students. A grant of $200 to $300 is meaningless when the cost of tuition, room and board are considered, Levitt said.

On the subject of reapportionment, Rockefeller reiterated Sunday his stand that an election-year was not the time to change the lines of Senate and Assembly districts.

He also noted that the state's 98-year-old constitutional formula for apportionment was being tested in the U.S. Supreme Court.

Therefore, the governor said, he would not call a special session of the Legislature for reapportionment.

The governor outlined his stand in a letter to Milton M. Bergerman, chairman of the Citizens Union of the City of New York. Bergerman had asked the governor to call a special session.

The constitutional amendment that the Democrats asked voters to defeat to "impress" Rockefeller would eliminate the detailed descriptions of Senate districts in the Constitution and substitute the statement that those descripions "are hereby continued for all of the purposes of future reapportionments."

Sen. Walter J. Mahoney, GOP majority leader, said the only purpose of the amendment was to eliminate nine pages from an already bulky Constitution.

Dutchess Sheriff Agrees on Curbing Students in Cars

Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan said Saturday night he concurs with the Pomona Grange that students should be prohibited from driving cars to schools where bus facilities are available, unless transportation is needed to a place of employment after classes.

Quinlan was quoted as saying, "When children have an automobile at their disposal at school, it enables them to leave the school grounds, especially at lunch time, and travel some distance away."

Pomona Grange in Dutchess County passed a resolution last week, contending that there has been "much abuse of the privilege and a danger when students drive cars to school when bus transportation is provided."

Quinlan previously had advocated abolishing junior operator licenses because he believes teenagers under 18 often lack mature judgment in an emergency.

Paltz College.....

Paltz faculty members who will assist with the program include Dr. Norman Reed, director of the college counselling program; Mike VanRyn, assistant professor in the Campus School; Dr. Willard N. Hogan, professor of political science; Dr. George R. Horner, associate professor of anthropology, and Albert S. Miller, instructor in physical education.

Dr. Virgil DeWitt, a New Paltz physician, will serve as medical officer.

Also named to assist in the program are two New Paltz students from Sierra Leone, Shirley Macauley and Celestine Labor, who are among the more than 30 foreign students, representing 19 countries, currently studying at the college.

They will assist in the instruction of the Mende and Creole languages.

The instructional program for the Peace Corps volunteers will include courses in American studies and world affairs, Africa and the country of Sierra Leone, the education system in that country, language, first aid, Peace Corps orientation and physical education.

Camp Training Too

Throughout most of the program, the trainees will live and study in Scudder Hall, a new and modern dormitory on the campus which was opened last September. During the last two weeks, the group will be taken to the New Paltz College Camp, located near Ashokan Reservoir for a vigorous fitness program.

Dennis in his address, called the class of 1962, "practical idealists" which he said is a phrase found also to be most descriptive of the 1,000 men and women now in training or overseas with the Peace Corps in 20 different countries. He also explained that by the end of the year there will be nearly 5,000 Peace Corps volunteers in 35 countries.

Describing this year's graduating classes throughout the country as being different and wanting to be treated differently, Dr. Dennis stated that university officials across the nation speculate that this is perhaps the first class in modern times really to come to grips with the world as it is. "This applies not only to you who are members of this year's graduating class," he said, "but to all thoughtful Americans of your generation."

Called Point of Lance

"I believe it," he emphasized, "because of what I've seen at home and abroad in the fast moving events since President Kennedy enjoined us all to ask ourselves what we could do for our country and called on his countrymen to bear the burden of a long twilight struggle against tyranny, poverty, disease, and war itself—a struggle in which the Peace Corps acts as the point of the lance."

He described briefly some of the experiences of Peace Corps volunteers and the demands which are required of them in the various countries where they are sent. He concluded with the prediction that "they will come home at the end of their two years of service, old than their years, stronger and wiser than they were, privately award that they are rightful owners of a little special piece of their country's future."

Before joining the Peace Corps staff in 1961, Dr. Dennis was vice president-in-charge of academic affairs at Pennsylvania State University. He has served on numerous national committees dealing with education and has had many years of experience as a journalist and a radio commentator.

Three Fires Are Checked, One Fireman Injured

Fireman checked three fires over the weekend and Fireman James Longendyke, of Cornell Station was injured in the removal of a refrigerator which leaked fumes in an Abeel Street building this morning.

A blaze which started in the greese of a deep fry unit in the apartment of Emery Orozco 26 Maiden Lane, Saturday afternoon caused fire damage and heavy smoke in the house, and a Friday fire in a vacant Converse Street house is still under probe.

Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations and the Wicks Company answered a call for the Maiden Lane fire at 3:46 p. m. Saturday. The flarup in the deep fry unit of a kitchen range set fire to side walls and cabinets. A section of the second-floor ceiling was opened to determine if the fire had spread to a blind attic. The building is owned by Willis Locke, of Marius Street.

Treated at Hospital

Fireman Longendyke was treated at Kingston Hospital this morning for a laceration of the left hand between the thumb and forefinger which he suffered when he slipped and fell while assisting in the removal of a heavy commercial refrigerator at the Nicholas Schwarts property, 42 Abeel Street. A unit from Cornell Station answered a call at 6:59 a. m. The refrigertor was in the former Teena's Restaurant section of the building.

An alarm from Box 5321, Albany and Tremper avenues, drew units from two stations and three volunteer companies, and firemen upon arrival found rubbish burning near 277 Albany Avenue. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks, Excelsior and Union companies responded to a call at 11:45 p. m.

Thought Incendiary

The fire of suspected incendiary origin Friday damaged a vacant two-story Converse Street house owned by Cecelia Clark, of 514 146th Street, New York. Firemen reported finding rubbish and newspapers burning on the first floor. A staircase and wainscoting were damaged. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations and the Wicks Company answered a call at 2:02 p. m.

Friday Is Last

The two stations selected for Friday in opposite ends of the city were chosen in order to give the greatest coverage. Anyone desiring to be X-rayed may go to either of the locations.

Egg Market

NEW YORK (AP)—(USDA) — Wholesale egg offerings short on large, decreased on mediums and more than ample on smaller sizes. Demand active for large, good on mediums and light on balance.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved moderately lower early this afternoon in sluggish trading.

Reflecting the decline, The Associated Press average at noon was off .90 at 220.90, with industrials down 1.30, rails off .40 and utilities off .60.

A good many stocks were unchanged and many showed thin losses but some declines of pivotal issues went to more than a point. Here and there a stock rose from a fraction to around a point.

The market was two weeks away from "Blue Monday," May 28, when the list took its sharpest dive since 1929.

Most market commentators still saw stocks in a period of consolidation which could last a considerable time before a decisive movement is made one way or another.

Losses of more than a point by AT&T, Eastman Kodak and Du Pont helped drag down the market averages. Among other key stocks, Standard Oil (New Jersey), U.S. Steel, Kennecott, Consolidated Edison and Allied Chemical dipped fractions.

IBM slid off half a dozen points in a routine movement. Polaroid was off about 4, again nothing unusual.

Merck fought the downtrend with a gain exceeding a point. Lockheed and American Tobacco were among fractional gainers.

Ford, off about a point, was the worst of the autos. General Motors eased, Chrysler dropped a fraction.

Steels and rails were uncharged to very slightly lower. Losers included Bethlehem, Southern Railway and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Hyde Park Principal Is Author of Article

An article entitled "Interest Center" has been written by Marvin H. Stratton, principal at the Ralph R. Smith elementary school, Hyde Park, for the June issue of the New York State Education magazine.

The principal wrote of efforts to set up an "Interest Center" in the school lobby that has natural fieldstone walls with birch paneling.

The Center has an earphone record player that enables pupils to listen to a narration of a pictorial book on foreign countries, and a filmstrip pre-viewer where pupils can view a filmstrip independently.

JFK Urges Critics

and consume. Business had confidence in Republican administrations of 1929, 1954, 1958 and 1960, he said, "but this was not enough to prevent recession when business lacked full confidence in the economy."

What really matters, Kennedy said, is the capacity of the nation as a whole to deal with problems and opportunities alike.

Kennedy chose Yale's 261st commencement to deliver what the White House clearly regarded an important statement of his administration's domestic views.

He received an honorary degree —his 22nd—and jested about the fact that as a Harvard graduate he is now a Yale man.

"Someone has told me that I now have the best of both worlds —a Harvard education and a Yale degree," Kennedy said.

Answers Not in Past

Turning serious, the chief executive said neither partisan wrangling nor "incantations from the forgotten past" can throw light on today's problems.

"It is not new that past debates should obscure present realities," Kennedy said. "But the damage of such false dialogue is greater today than ever before, simply because today the safety of all the world—the very future of freedom —depends as never before upon the sensible and clear-headed management of the domestic affairs of the United States."

Government Myth

Of the size and shape of government, he said the myth is that it is "big and bad—and steadily getting bigger and worse." Government spending has increased, regardless of the party in power, he said, but government has not grown as fast as the economy.

Kennedy said all sides must abandon "traditional labels and wornout slogans of an earlier era" to "keep our mighty economic machine moving steadily ahead."

Western Europe's progress in the last decade illustrates how government can coordinate all sectors of an economy to generate prosperity, he said.

Highlights of Programs

Potsdam State—"All classroom teachers should be able to speak a language other than their own if they are to be truly educated citizens," said Dr. Herman Cooper, executive dean for eacher education for the State University. The college conferred 316 degrees.

Oneonta State — "Youth today, more than it is willing to admit to itself and the outside world, is exhibit number one of the new positive affirmation of values which include God, country and the world," Dr. Thorsten A. Gustafson said. He is president of the New York Conference of the Augustana Lutheran Church. There were 130 graduates.

Canisius College — "We in the West have ourselves been pursuing our own form of materialism, we have been ineffective in combatting it. It will be the task of young men and women leaving our colleges to redress this failure"—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. Canisius graduated 346.

Geneseo State — "The real shocker is that so often the young iconoclast matures into the conformist adult and sinks with contentment into the mire of mediocrity"—James J. Wadsworth, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Other commencement ceremonies were held at the University of Buffalo, Buffalo State, Keuka College, Alfred University, Niagara University, Union College, Albany State, Plattsburgh State, Hobart and William Smith colleges, University of Rochester, Fredonia State and Cortland State.

that Vidal lost the 29th district by 24,000 votes compared to Kennedy's loss of 45,000.

Vidal, grandson of the late Thomas P. Gore, who served as U. S. Senator from Oklahoma, noted that he spent several years in the Washington household of his grandfather. Vidal, now 36, is a bachelor, and has continued his career as author and playwright.

Vidal was author of the 1960 Broadway hit, "The Best Man," and an earlier play, "A Visit to a Small Planet." His play of 1961, "Romulus," also ran on Broadway.

In the election two years ago, Vidal received 32,883 votes in Dutchess County compared to 39,576 for Wharton.

Vidal has indicated several times a desire to run for public office and has shown interest in the U. S. Senate.

Capable Management Makes Stock Good Buy

Q) "In your May 10 column you recommended Ludlow Corp. for growth. Would you mind telling me your reasons?"—F. C.

A) Not at all. My own studies —and field trips made by my staff—have convinced me that management is extremely capable and that the recent uptrend in earnings will continue. Ludlow makes jute yarns — for carpet backing among other things. But in addition, president Austin Mason and his relatively young management group are guiding Ludlow into creative research in textiles, paper and plastics—where specialized products are being developed.

Since Mr. Mason became president in 1957, earnings have risen in each consecutive year and should show another satisfactory gain in 1962. The dividend was raised to $0.60 quarterly last February and if earnings get much above $4.00 a share this year, the rate could go up again. I like Ludlow and consider it a relatively safe investment for yield and further growth.

Q) "My sophisticated friends have nothing but insults for my stocks which have done so well in the past. The expressions they use are: "too big to grow," "living in the past," "the blue chips have faded," etc. I would appreciate your comments. The list consists of American Telephone, General Electric, General Foods, General Motors, IBM, Minnesota Mining and Mfg."—Doctor P.

A) My appraisal of a list like yours, Doctor, depends very largely on what your investment objective is. If you handle your own portfolio and are as busy professionally as most of my doctor friends, your list is satisfoctory from the standpoint of diversification and security. With the possible exception of General Electric, I do not think that your companies are too big to grow. I do think that in some of your stocks growth has been overvalued and that for future investment—if you can get competent advice—there will be far greater growth in some of the smaller, lesser-known effective merchandising situations, such as Magnavox (NYSE).

Moore said that this year's selection of girls is an outstanding one. "This is a result of each of the franchised areas having worked exceptionally hard to induce as many girls to enter local contests in order to provide an attractive and talented contestant for the pageant to be held here," he said.

Tickets for the pageant are available at several Kingston locations. General admission tickets may be obtained at Tommy Maines Sport Shop, 351 Broadway; O'Reilly Office Equipment Inc., 611 Broadway; Potter Brothers Sporting Goods, 294 Fair Street and the Chamber of Commerce Office. Involved in Strikes Official sources said many of those arrested were involved in the wave of coal field and industrial strikes that recently gripped northern Spain. They were arrested after the government issued a decree restricting the movement of Spaniards in the country.

Among those reported under arrest is Joaquin Fernandez de Satrustegui, staunch monarchist and an executive of the Spanish affiliate of the American-owned Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co.

Another monarchist, Jose Maria Gil Robles, flew to Paris after being given a choice of exile or forced residence in Spanish territory. Jesus Prados Arrarte, noted economist and Madrid University professor who was given the same choice as Gil Robles, arrived in Paris Sunday.

Democrats Keep Pressing Reapportionment Issue

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Democratic legislative leaders continued today to press for reapportionment of the Legislature, an undertaking that Gov. Rockefeller has ruled out for this year.

Sen. Joseph Zaretzki and Assemblyman Anthony J. Travia said in a statement the voters should reject a proposed constitutional amendment that will be on the statewide ballot this fall.

Defeat of the proposal, they said, would "impress emphatically upon the governor and his Republican advisors the fact that the people want the Legislature to provide them with fair and equal representation, no matter where they live..."

Their statement produced a new round of Republican-Democratic conflict, as prevailed over the weekend.

The weekend political activity was widespread and diverse. Here were the highlights:

DISCRIMINATION — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, the Harlem Democratic leader, raised Rockefeller's ire when they appeared together at a fund-raising dinner in Harlem Saturday night.

Powell charged that the state had discriminated against Harlem hospitals in distributing federal construction funds. The governor denied this and accused Powell of attempting "to prey on the emotions of these fine people here and mislead them about discrimination when there is no discrimination."

The next day, Powell reiterated his charge at a news conference but said Rockefeller was not to blame. Rockefeller is "a wonderful human being," Powell said.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, the state health commissioner, joined in Sunday night to say there was no basis for Powell's contention. A Health Department spokesman said the hospital Powell claimed was being discriminated against — Mount Morris Park Hospital — never had applied for the federal funds.

DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE — William McKeon predicted in a speech at Rochester that the Democrats would defeat Rockefeller in November.

McKeon announced that the state committee would meet in New York City June 25 to select a site for the party's state convention, where its statewide ticket will be decided upon. An eight-member committee will recommend the site. Francis J. Tierney, Washington County Democratic chairman, heads the group.

LEVITT — Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a Democrat, charged that Rockefeller had wasted $26 million on his scholar-incentive program for college students. A grant of $200 to $300 is meaningless when the cost of tuition, room and board are considered, Levitt said.

On the subject of reapportionment, Rockefeller reiterated Sunday his stand that an election-year was not the time to change the lines of Senate and Assembly districts.

He also noted that the state's 98-year-old constitutional formula for apportionment was being tested in the U.S. Supreme Court.

Therefore, the governor said, he would not call a special session of the Legislature for reapportionment.

The governor outlined his stand in a letter to Milton M. Bergerman, chairman of the Citizens Union of the City of New York. Bergerman had asked the governor to call a special session.

The constitutional amendment that the Democrats asked voters to defeat to "impress" Rockefeller would eliminate the detailed descriptions of Senate districts in the Constitution and substitute the statement that those descriptions "are hereby continued for all of the purposes of future reapportionments."

Sen. Walter J. Mahoney, GOP majority leader, said the only purpose of the amendment was to eliminate nine pages from an already bulky Constitution.

Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan said Saturday night he concurs with the Pomona Grange that students should be prohibited from driving cars to schools where bus facilities are available, unless transportation is needed to a place of employment after classes.

Quinlan was quoted as saying, "When children have an automobile at their disposal at school, it enables them to leave the school grounds, especially at lunch time, and travel some distance away."

Pomona Grange in Dutchess County passed a resolution last week, contending that there has been "much abuse of the privilege and a danger when students drive cars to school when bus transportation is provided."

Quinlan previously had advocated abolishing junior operator licenses because he believes teenagers under 18 often lack mature judgment in an emergency.

Paltz College .....

Paltz faculty members who will assist with the program include Dr. Norman Reed, director of the college counselling program; Mike VanRyn, assistant professor in the Campus School; Dr. Willard N. Hogan, professor of political science; Dr. George R. Horner, associate professor of anthropology, and Albert S. Miller, instructor in physical education.

Dr. Virgil DeWitt, a New Paltz physician, will serve as medical officer.

Also named to assist in the program are two New Paltz students from Sierra Leone, Shirley Macauley and Celestine Labor, who are among the more than 30 foreign students, representing 19 countries, currently studying at the college.

They will assist in the instruction of the Mende and Creole languages.

The instructional program for the Peace Corps volunteers will include courses in American studies and world affairs, Africa and the country of Sierra Leone, the education system in that country, language, first aid, Peace Corps orientation and physical education.

Camp Training Too

Throughout most of the program, the trainees will live and study in Scudder Hall, a new and modern dormitory on the campus which was opened last September. During the last two weeks, the group will be taken to the New Paltz College Camp, located near Ashokan Reservoir for a vigorous fitness program.

Dennis in his address, called the class of 1962, "practical idealists" which he said is a phrase found also to be most descriptive of the 1,000 men and women now in training or overseas with the Peace Corps in 20 different countries. He also explained that by the end of the year there will be nearly 5,000 Peace Corps volunteers in 35 countries.

Describing this year's graduating classes throughout the country as being different and wanting to be treated differently, Dr. Dennis stated that university officials across the nation speculate that this is perhaps the first class in modern times really to come to grips with the world as it is. "This applies not only to you who are members of this year's graduating class," he said, "but to all thoughtful Americans of your generation."

Called Point of Lance

"I believe it," he emphasized, "because of what I've seen at home and abroad in the fast moving events since President Kennedy enjoined us all to ask ourselves what we could do for our country and called on his countrymen to bear the burden of a long twilight struggle against tyranny, poverty, disease, and war itself—a struggle in which the Peace Corps acts as the point of the lance."

He described briefly some of the experiences of Peace Corps volunteers and the demands which are required of them in the various countries where they are sent. He concluded with the prediction that "they will come home at the end of their two years of service, old than their years, stronger and wiser than they were, privately award that they are rightful owners of a little special piece of their country's future."

Before joining the Peace Corps staff in 1961, Dr. Dennis was vice president-in-charge of academic affairs at Pennsylvania State University. He has served on numerous national committees dealing with education and has had many years of experience as a journalist and a radio commentator.

Three Fires Are Checked, One Fireman Injured

Fireman checked three fires over the weekend and Fireman James Longendyke, of Cornell Station was injured in the removal of a refrigerator which leaked fumes in an Abeel Street building this morning.

A blaze which started in the greese of a deep fry unit in the apartment of Emery Orozco 26 Maiden Lane, Saturday afternoon caused fire damage and heavy smoke in the house, and a Friday fire in a vacant Converse Street house is still under probe.

Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations and the Wicks Company answered a call for the Maiden Lane fire at 3:46 p. m. Saturday. The flarup in the deep fry unit of a kitchen range set fire to side walls and cabinets. A section of the second-floor ceiling was opened to determine if the fire had spread to a blind attic. The building is owned by Willis Locke, of Marius Street.

Treated at Hospital

Fireman Longendyke was treated at Kingston Hospital this morning for a laceration of the left hand between the thumb and forefinger which he suffered when he slipped and fell while assisting in the removal of a heavy commercial refrigerator at the Nicholas Schwarts property, 42 Abeel Street. A unit from Cornell Station answered a call at 6:59 a. m. The refrigertor was in the former Teena's Restaurant section of the building.

An alarm from Box 5321, Albany and Tremper avenues, drew units from two stations and three volunteer companies, and firemen upon arrival found rubbish burning near 277 Albany Avenue. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks, Excelsior and Union companies responded to a call at 11:45 p. m.

Thought Incendiary

The fire of suspected incendiary origin Friday damaged a vacant two-story Converse Street house owned by Cecelia Clark, of 514 146th Street, New York. Firemen reported finding rubbish and newspapers burning on the first floor. A staircase and wainscoting were damaged. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations and the Wicks Company answered a call at 2:02 p. m.

Friday Is Last

Thursday—East Kingston and Town of Hurley fire stations.

The two stations selected for Friday in opposite ends of the city were chosen in order to give the greatest coverage. Anyone desiring to be X-rayed may go to either of the locations.

The Free Chest X-ray Survey is co-sponsored by the New York State and Ulster County Departments of Health; the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital and the Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc.

Egg Market

NEW YORK (AP)—(USDA) — Wholesale egg offerings short on large, decreased on mediums and more than ample on smaller sizes. Demand active for large, good on mediums and light on balance.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved moderately lower early this afternoon in sluggish trading.

Reflecting the decline, The Associated Press average at noon was off .90 at 220.90, with industrials down 1.30, rails off .40 and utilities off .60.

A good many stocks were unchanged and many showed thin losses but some declines of pivotal issues went to more than a point. Here and there a stock rose from a fraction to around a point.

The market was two weeks away from "Blue Monday," May 28, when the list took its sharpest dive since 1929.

Most market commentators still saw stocks in a period of consolidation which could last a considerable time before a decisive movement is made one way or another.

Losses of more than a point by AT&T, Eastman Kodak and Du Pont helped drag down the market averages. Among other key stocks, Standard Oil (New Jersey), U.S. Steel, Kennecott, Consolidated Edison and Allied Chemical dipped fractions.

IBM slid off half a dozen points in a routine movement. Polaroid was off about 4, again nothing unusual.

Merck fought the downtrend with a gain exceeding a point. Lockheed and American Tobacco were among fractional gainers.

Ford, off about a point, was the worst of the autos. General Motors eased, Chrysler dropped a fraction.

Steels and rails were uncharged to very slightly lower. Losers included Bethlehem, Southern Railway and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Hyde Park Principal Is Author of Article

An article entitled 'Interest Center" has been written by Marvin H. Stratton, principal at the Ralph R. Smith elementary school, Hyde Park, for the June issue of the New York State Education magazine.

The principal wrote of efforts to set up an "Interest Center" in the school lobby that has natural fieldstone walls with birch paneling.

The Center has an earphone record player that enables pupils to listen to a narration of a pictorial book on foreign countries, and a filmstrip pre-viewer where pupils can view a filmstrip independently.

JFK Urges Critics

and consume. Business had confidence in Republican administrations of 1929, 1954, 1958 and 1960, he said, "but this was not enough to prevent recession when business lacked full confidence in the economy."

What really matters, Kennedy said, is the capacity of the nation as a whole to deal with problems and opportunities alike.

Kennedy chose Yale's 261st commencement to deliver what the White House clearly regarded an important statement of his administration's domestic views.

He received an honorary degree —his 22nd—and jested about the fact that as a Harvard graduate he is now a Yale man.

"Someone has told me that I now have the best of both worlds —a Harvard education and a Yale degree," Kennedy said.

Answers Not in Past

Turning serious, the chief executive said neither partisan wrangling nor "incantations from the forgotten past" can throw light on today's problems.

"It is not new that past debates should obscure present realities," Kennedy said. "But the damage of such false dialogue is greater today than ever before, simply because today the safety of all the world—the very future of freedom —depends as never before upon the sensible and clear-headed management of the domestic affairs of the United States."

Government Myth

Of the size and shape of government, he said the myth is that it is "big and bad—and steadily getting bigger and worse." Government spending has increased, regardless of the party in power, he said, but government has not grown as fast as the economy.

Kennedy said all sides must abandon "traditional labels and wornout slogans of an earlier era" to "keep our mighty economic machine moving steadily ahead."

Western Europe's progress in the last decade illustrates how government can coordinate all sectors of an economy to generate prosperity, he said.

Highlights of Programs

Potsdam State—"All classroom teachers should be able to speak a language other than their own if they are to be truly educated citizens," said Dr. Herman Cooper, executive dean for eacher education for the State University. The college conferred 316 degrees.

Oneonta State — "Youth today, more than it is willing to admit to itself and the outside world, is exhibit number one of the new positive affirmation of values which include God, country and the world," Dr. Thorsten A. Gustafson said. He is president of the New York Conference of the Augustana Lutheran Church. There were 130 graduates.

Canisius College — "We in the West have ourselves been pursuing our own form of materialism, we have been ineffective in combatting it. It will be the task of young men and women leaving our colleges to redress this failure"—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. Canisius graduated 346.

Geneseo State — "The real shocker is that so often the young iconoclast matures into the conformist adult and sinks with contentment into the mire of mediocrity"—James J. Wadsworth, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Other commencement ceremonies were held at the University of Buffalo, Buffalo State, Keuka College, Alfred University, Niagara University, Union College, Albany State, Plattsburgh State, Hobart and William Smith colleges, University of Rochester, Fredonia State and Cortland State.

that Vidal lost the 29th district by 24,000 votes compared to Kennedy's loss of 45,000.

Vidal, grandson of the late Thomas P. Gore, who served as U. S. Senator from Oklahoma, noted that he spent several years in the Washington household of his grandfather. Vidal, now 36, is a bachelor, and has continued his career as author and playwright.

Vidal was author of the 1960 Broadway hit, "The Best Man," and an earlier play, "A Visit to a Small Planet." His play of 1961, "Romulus," also ran on Broadway.

In the election two years ago, Vidal received 32,883 votes in Dutchess County compared to 39,576 for Wharton.

Vidal has indicated several times a desire to run for public office and has shown interest in the U. S. Senate.

Capable Management Makes Stock Good Buy

Q) "In your May 10 column you recommended Ludlow Corp. for growth. Would you mind telling me your reasons?"—F. C.

A) Not at all. My own studies —and field trips made by my staff—have convinced me that management is extremely capable and that the recent uptrend in earnings will continue. Ludlow makes jute yarns — for carpet backing among other things. But in addition, president Austin Mason and his relatively young management group are guiding Ludlow into creative research in textiles, paper and plastics—where specialized products are being developed.

Since Mr. Mason became president in 1957, earnings have risen in each consecutive year and should show another satisfactory gain in 1962. The dividend was raised to $0.60 quarterly last February and if earnings get much above $4.00 a share this year, the rate could go up again. I like Ludlow and consider it a relatively safe investment for yield and further growth.

Q) "My sophisticated friends have nothing but insults for my stocks which have done so well in the past. The expressions they use are: "too big to grow," "living in the past," "the blue chips have faded," etc. I would appreciate your comments. The list consists of American Telephone, General Electric, General Foods, General Motors, IBM, Minnesota Mining and Mfg."—Doctor P.

A) My appraisal of a list like yours, Doctor, depends very largely on what your investment objective is. If you handle your own portfolio and are as busy professionally as most of my doctor friends, your list is satisfoctory from the standpoint of diversification and security. With the possible exception of General Electric, I do not think that your companies are too big to grow. I do think that in some of your stocks growth has been overvalued and that for future investment—if you can get competent advice—there will be far greater growth in some of the smaller, lesser-known effective merchandising situations, such as Magnavox (NYSE).

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Health for All

Not Unusual Enough

Last year, Jim, a college student, was trying to move a refrigerator in the kitchen of his campus apartment. Suddenly he coughed and blood came up. He sat down to rest but the blood kept flowing.

He thought of tuberculosis but dismissed the idea. After all, he hadn't felt weak, or coughed up any blood before. He hadn't been running a temperature, nor had he lost any weight. He didn't even have a cough. But obviously something was very much wrong. He went to a doctor. The diagnosis? A well-advanced caes of active tuberculosis.

It took months in a TB hospital and a long convalescence before Jim was well again. When he returned to his classes, he took more than usual interest in the poetry of John Keats, who died of TB at an early age.

Jim's story isn't as unusual as it should be. In a recent year there were almost 55,000 new active cases of tuberculosis reported. All told, there are 250,000 cases of active TB in the U. S. right now.

TB could be wiped out in this country if we could find all the people ill with active TB and get them treated adequately. It is urgent that we detect and treat all active TB cases now, because TB germs resistant to the anti-tuberculosis drugs are developing rapidly. In a few years it may be too late. We shall have lost our chance to wipe out this dread scourge. If tuberculosis is found in its earliest stages, it is easiest to cure.

You can do your part. Get an annual check-up—tuberculin test or chest X-ray—for yourself and your whole family.

Many Receive High Honors At Rondout Valley Central

As the year draws to a close the honor academic students of Rondout Valley Central School graduating class are reaping the rewards of their past four years of diligent efforts and purposeful study.

This year's valedictorian, Frederick Albrecht, is graduating with a New York State Regents Science with honor diploma and a Regents Scholarship award. Member of the National Honor Society, he has received the Kerhonkson Fire Company Award for mathematics, the Bausch & Lomb Science Award, the Millard Davis Social Studies Award, and the S & E Science Scholarship of $200.

As the top Rondout Valley science scholar, he attended the Central Hudson Engineering program last summer. In his pursuit of an engineering program at the University of Rochester next year, he will receive further financial support from the university.

Named Salutatorian

Brenda Quick, this year's salutatorian and member of the National Honor Society, has been chosen by the faculty for both the Fidelity Award and the Rondout Valley Parent Council Award as a school citizen. Very active during high school as an officer for her class, the Student Council, and the Student Court, Brenda has also participated widely in the Music Department, school journalism, and athletics. She was this year's winner of the John Philip Sousa Award for noteworthy musical contribution. Brenda has already been contracted for employment with Kerhonkson National Bank.

Recipient of some $17,000 in scholarship awards, Manfred Bracklow has also been overwhelmingly voted 1962 boy-winner of the local Fidelity and Rondout Valley Parent Council Awards. He has been awarded the Max Brown English Prize, was named runner-up in the National Council of Teachers of English competition of 1961, and was this year's winner of the American Legion Oratorical Contest. In national competition among entering freshmen in our top colleges, he was awarded a coveted full-tuition Alfred J. Sloan Foundation Scholarship at Amherst College, based on "high character, leadership potential, and scholarly promise." He, too, is a New York State Regents Scholarship winner and was selected for a Rondout Valley Teachers Association Scholarship for professional promise in the field of education.

Listed as alternates in the 1962 Regents Scholarship competition were: Douglas Siemer, winner of the second Kerhonkson Fire Company Mathematics Award and also recipient of the $1,000 per year Trustees Scholships at Syracuse University "Prom Queen" Lana Feldshuh, member of the National Honor Society and winner of the William Joyce Science Award, who will attend Skidmore College; Duane Traver for attendance at State University College, Albany; Edward Black at the University of Buffalo, and John Saul at State University Agricultural and Technical Institute, Delhi.

Other honor graduates, earning a four year average of 85 per cent without a failure, in addition to those listed above, together with the colleges at which they have been accepted are:

Sandra Wood, State University College Albany; Lucille Bentivegna, winner of the Rondout Valley Teachers Association Scholarship in Education, State University College, Geneseo; Thelma Freedman, winner of the Accord Fire Company Essay Award, Ithaca College; Frank Cirone, New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell; Arthur Friedberg, State University College, New Paltz; and Judith Waruch, Sally Carle, and Douglas Lyons, all at the University of Buffalo.

Selected for one of the highest awards of distinction for this year, based upon academic promise, scholastic endeavor, and standardized test prowess, were Manfred Bracklow, Frederick Albrecht, Duane Traver, Douglas Siemer, Richard Spada, Lana Feldshuh, Lynn Johnson, and Judith Waruch, participants in Ulster County Senior Seminar. These scholars attended 15 Saturday lectures, demonstrations, and field trips in the arts, sciences, and humanities, conducted by prominent civic and college lecturers and authorities.

MATCHES ARE MAGIC!

Yes, Mom and Dad, in the eyes of your child, matches are magic!

Turn back your mind a few years. Do you remember how brave and scary you felt when you took matches from the holder beside the stove and lit the dry grass in the vacant lot?

But the real scare came when the fire got too big and you tried to stamp it out, but couldn't? Then you knew that the soot on your clothes and the burns on your legs would give you away.

But how about the fire itself?

Every year, children playing with matches start hundreds of fires that cost thousands of dollars and untold pain and damage besides.

Smokey says this needless waste can be stopped. Won't you PLEASE:

1. Keep matches away from your little ones.
2. Teach your older children to be careful with every fire.
3. Show them the damage that fires can do.

Remember- only YOU can PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

A Savings Bank is a "mutual" organization. It renders its services at cost. All earnings, above operating costs and reserves to protect your savings, go to you, the depositor.

And there's another big advantage: Even while they're on deposit, your Savings Bank dollars work for you. They're invested in the worth-while improvement of your community —making for more jobs, more business, greater prosperity for you and your neighbors.

When it comes to skimming off the cream yourself, you just can't come to a better place than your Savings Bank. No wonder 2 out of 3 New York Staters have accounts there. (Hope you're among 'em.)

Q. Is it true that Savings Banks finance the lion's share of homes in New York State?

A. Yes, Savings Banks finance as many homes in New York State as all other financial institutions combined.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

To illustrate a fashion story, "Pants Go Everywhere on Today's Women" (even when they shouldn't), Gaile Dugas of Newspaper Enterprise Association used photographs of four women, generally regarded as outstanding beauties. The four: Jackie Kennedy, Marilyn Monroe, Soraya and Elizabeth Taylor.

A study of those four beauties in pants ought to give any woman the idea that she ought to stuff all her own pants in the back yard incinerator and set fire to them.

Jackie looked just like any housewife pushing a supermarket cart in any neighborhood shopping center — no more distinguished and no less.

Marilyn, in plaid pants, a long sweater and a scarf on her head looked like the girls you see riding motorcycles behind long-haired boys in black jackets. Not one bit of glamour there.

Soraya, in dark pants and sweater, also looked like a suburban housewife, too busy with car pooling, window washing and floor scrubbing to care how she looked.

So if pants can turn women who are still young, who are exceptionally beautiful, and who have excellent figures into unattractive and ordinary looking women who wouldn't even stand out in a supermarket crowd — how can any woman afford to run around in pants?

Those four pictures are the best argument against pants for women yet produced.

Shocking Situation

Then they stopped giving milk.

The vet tried a mugful of their drinking water and it set his tongue tingling. Then he tried a drink direct from the trough and nearly jumped through the cowshed roof.

Electricians found a short circuit which connected the cow troughs to the farm's electricity supply. They fixed it and 16 contented cows are yielding milk again.

NO WORD FROM FIANCE'S MOTHER

Q: I am engaged to a young man whose family live in the South and whom I have never met. He has written urging me to come and visit them during my vacation, and I'd like to go and meet his family. But his mother has not written me either about coming or about the engagement. I don't want to seem formal about this, but I don't feel right about going. What do you advise in this situation?

A: Tell your fiance that his mother has not as yet written a word to you and you can hardly go without an invitation from her.

Giving A Cocktail Party

Q: My husband and I are planning to give a rather large cocktail party next month to repay some of our obligations. Will you please tell me what type of invitations to send and also what foods to serve?

A: A cocktail party is so informal that invitations to one may be in any form. At the moment the one most often seen is folded like an informal. It often has a picture of a rooster or a cocktail glass on the outside, and inside, "Cocktails at . . . o'clock" or "Cocktails from 5 to 7," on such and such a date and the names of the hosts and their address. Or the invitations may be telephoned or written on visiting cards. You may serve every sort of hors d'oeuvre or appetizers that you think taste good and look tempting. Olives (either chilled or wrapped in bacon and broiled), very tiny sausages, broiled; canapes, or thin bread rolled around cheese or bacon, skewered and toasted, or crackers spread with sandwich paste, crabmeat, or lobster in mouthful pieces, or shrimps on little wooden picks with which to dip them in mayonnaise or colorful sauces, are favorites.

Genuflecting

Q: When attending services in a church where is is customary to genuflect before entering the pew, is it necessary for one of another religious denomination to follow this practice?

A: No.

Mrs. Martha Pappalard of New Paltz was the matron of honor in a ballerina length gown of blush pink with lace bodice, net skirt over taffeta. With it she wore a lace jacket and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. She also wore a pink satin bow cap with a flirtation veil.

Carl Pappalardo of New Paltz was best man. Ushering were James Williams, New Paltz and John Williams of New Paltz.

HONOR TUTORS AT TEA—Gerald Shampo, director of the Children's Home, chats with volunteer tutors at a tea in their honor Thursday night. With him are Mrs. Robert A. MacKinnon, Mrs. John Grogan and Miss Andrea Ashdown. Other tutors who have been assisting nine boys at the home in developing basic skills in reading, writing and arithmetic are Miss Sheila Volweider, Richard Stigbert, Mrs. Elizabeth LeFever and Mrs. George Swart. The program is carried on in support of the regular classroom teacher's efforts. Mr. Shampo said that other boys are in need of individual assistance and interested persons in the community may offer their services. Tutors do not necessarily need a teaching background. Added Protection Against Radiation Amended in Code

ALBANY—Additional protections against radiation hazards to workers are provided in a revision of a State Industrial Code Rule announced today by the State Board of Standards and Appeals.

The Board of Standards and Appeals adopted the amended Industrial Code Rule No. 38 "Radiation Protection" after public hearings and studies of technical suggestions submitted by governmental and private groups.

The new code which is a revision of a code initially adopted in 1955—will go into effect August 15.

The amended code will be a preliminary step leading to an expected agreement between the State of New York and the United States Atomic Energy Commission which will give the state exclusive regulatory jurisdiction over certain radioactive materials.

NO WORD FROM FIANCE'S MOTHER

Q: I am engaged to a young man whose family live in the South and whom I have never met. He has written urging me to come and visit them during my vacation, and I'd like to go and meet his family. But his mother has not written me either about coming or about the engagement. I don't want to seem formal about this, but I don't feel right about going. What do you advise in this situation?

A: Tell your fiance that his mother has not as yet written a word to you and you can hardly go without an invitation from her.

Giving A Cocktail Party

Q: My husband and I are planning to give a rather large cocktail party next month to repay some of our obligations. Will you please tell me what type of invitations to send and also what foods to serve?

A: A cocktail party is so informal that invitations to one may be in any form. At the moment the one most often seen is folded like an informal. It often has a picture of a rooster or a cocktail glass on the outside, and inside, "Cocktails at . . . o'clock" or "Cocktails from 5 to 7," on such and such a date and the names of the hosts and their address. Or the invitations may be telephoned or written on visiting cards. You may serve every sort of hors d'oeuvre or appetizers that you think taste good and look tempting. Olives (either chilled or wrapped in bacon and broiled), very tiny sausages, broiled; canapes, or thin bread rolled around cheese or bacon, skewered and toasted, or crackers spread with sandwich paste, crabmeat, or lobster in mouthful pieces, or shrimps on little wooden picks with which to dip them in mayonnaise or colorful sauces, are favorites.

Genuflecting

Q: When attending services in a church where is is customary to genuflect before entering the pew, is it necessary for one of another religious denomination to follow this practice?

A: No.

Child Killed, 219 Injured In Montana Train Mishap

By JACK ZYGMOND

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — A Northern Pacific luxury train shot off a mountain curve in western Montana Sunday, killing a child and injuring 219 of its 350 passengers.

Of the 219 persons injured, 151 were treated and released. Sixty-eight were held for further treatment and observation. Still others, taken to a Missoula hotel to await further transportation, complained of bumps and bruises but did not seek hospital aid.

Two of the olive-green passenger cars plunged all the way to the bottom, coming to rest in a ditch along U.S. Highway 93 and 10A.

The nose of one car smashed deep into the ditch, scooping up mud that buried Terese Ann Dooms of Ekalaka, Mont. Terese, who would have been 3 June 30, was the first North Coast Limited passenger to be killed in 62 years.

Investigators are looking into the possibility of air brake failure. Reports from passengers and train personnel suggested the train was exceeding the 35-m.p.h. speed limit for the curve.

The train's speed recorder tape will be given to Interstate Commerce Commission investigators, a Northern Pacific official said at St. Paul, Minn. He wouldn't divulge what the recorder showed, except to say the speed was a "good deal slower" than 100 m.p.h.

Second in Three Months

The derailment came a little more than three months after the same train, westbound, ran off the tracks and into a lake near Athol, Idaho. Two crewmen were killed in that wreck. Its cause is still a mystery.

Most of the passengers were sleeping or just awakening at 4:40 a. m. as the train crashed a mile short of a trestle that spans a 300-foot canyon.

The body of the Dooms child was clawed out of the mud by a frantic woman. Another child buried in mud in the same car was rescued.

Picking Up Speed

"I noticed we were starting to pick up speed," said Jesse O'Connor of Chicago, a Pullman porter. "All of a sudden, I noticed such a fast rate of speed that I got dizzy."

Wendell Wardell of Billings, Mont., a passenger, said, "We were going so fast that our car leaned way over to one side. The car rocked back and forth twice, and I could observe the second car jackknife and pull the rest of the cars over the bank."

The last two cars on the train —a Vista Dome Pullman and a Pullman club car—remained upright. The others twisted in all directions over 500 to 600 feet of the wooded area.

Engine Broke in Half

Egnineer E. E. Lynn and fireman Jerry Haines, both of Missoula, suffered minor cuts. Lynn was quoted by a railroad spokesman as saying the train lost air pressure as it started downhill.

About 100 National Guardsmen plus Red Cross disaster workers and others joined doctors and nurses in helping the wreck victims. The injured were taken to three hospitals.

68 Still Hospitalized

Of the 219 persons received at the hospitals, 151 were treated and released. Sixty-eight were held for further treatment and observation.

The derailment tore up 500 feet of track. Repairing this damage and clearing the wrecked cars away will take several days. Passenger trains will use a freight line.

The estimate of $1 million in claims and damages was made by a railroad official, who asked that his name not be used.

Upstate Eating Place Damaged by $250,000 Fire

The flames were discovered shortly after the restaurant had closed for the night. Firemen said the fire had broken out in the cellar and the flames ate through the first floor of the brick building.

Lew Roth, owner of the newly renovated downtown restaurant, estimated his loss at $250,00 and said the fire had idled 45 workers.

Investigation Shows No Narcotic Sales

State and Beacon City police officials said Saturday that an investigation disclosed no narcotic sales had been made in the city of Beacon.

Comment from State Police Captain John J. Lawson, Troop K commander, and Beacon Police Chief Samuel Wood, came after Orange County District Attorney Abraham Isseks said he had found evidence during an Orange County investigation that heroin and marijuana had been taken from Newburgh to Beacon.

The swift and sleek greyhound dog first was bred in Egypt between 4000 and 3500 B.C. and alter favored by the Greeks.

Southeast Asia Policy Study Is Mansfield Aim

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., told a commencement day audience Sunday at Michigan State University that it's time for a re-examination of this nation's policy toward Southeast Asia.

The Senate majority leader and the administration's chief spokesman in that body said his support of President Kennedy does not preclude public discussion of present approaches, which he said will yield little to the people of this nation and little to the people of Southeast Asia.

Mansfield said he doubted that U.S. traffic security and other interests justify indefinite commitment to the unilateral defense of the area. Rather, he said, this nation should investigate "every possibility of minimizing the unilateral activity of the United States in Southeast Asia in every sphere."

He asked that we "Draw clearly the distinction between what is enduringly basic and what is transitory and peripheral in our interests with respect" to the area.

The unilateral supply of manpower and billions is at best "a mark-time course of immense costs" and "at worst, it's a collision course," he said.

Two Servicemen Killed, One Injured

EMITTSBURG, Md. (AP)—Two young servicemen from New York State were killed and another injured Sunday night when their car smashed into a bridge abutment.

The third youth, Robert Joseph Kane, 19, of Elma, N.Y., was taken to a hospital in Gettysburg, Pa., where he was listed in serious condition.

Since 1944, there has been more than a 83 per cent decline in the U.S. death rate from acute rheumatic fever.

Sections Powerless

Failure of equipment in the northern part of Dutchess County Saturday caused a lack of power for 151 customers of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. in the upper sectors of the Town of Hyde Park and the western area of the Town of Clinton. Service was interrupted from 11:19 a. m. to 1:10 p. m. in the area, a corporation spokesman reported.

By JACK ZYGMOND

Of the 219 persons injured, 151 were treated and released. Sixty-eight were held for further treatment and observation. Still others, taken to a Missoula hotel to await further transportation, complained of bumps and bruises but did not seek hospital aid.

The nose of one car smashed deep into the ditch, scooping up mud that buried Terese Ann Dooms of Ekalaka, Mont. Terese, who would have been 3 June 30, was the first North Coast Limited passenger to be killed in 62 years.

Investigators are looking into the possibility of air brake failure. Reports from passengers and train personnel suggested the train was exceeding the 35-m.p.h. speed limit for the curve.

The train's speed recorder tape will be given to Interstate Commerce Commission investigators, a Northern Pacific official said at St. Paul, Minn. He wouldn't divulge what the recorder showed, except to say the speed was a "good deal slower" than 100 m.p.h.

Second in Three Months

The derailment came a little more than three months after the same train, westbound, ran off the tracks and into a lake near Athol, Idaho. Two crewmen were killed in that wreck. Its cause is still a mystery.

Most of the passengers were sleeping or just awakening at 4:40 a. m. as the train crashed a mile short of a trestle that spans a 300-foot canyon.

The body of the Dooms child was clawed out of the mud by a frantic woman. Another child buried in mud in the same car was rescued.

Picking Up Speed

"I noticed we were starting to pick up speed," said Jesse O'Connor of Chicago, a Pullman porter. "All of a sudden, I noticed such a fast rate of speed that I got dizzy."

Wendell Wardell of Billings, Mont., a passenger, said, "We were going so fast that our car leaned way over to one side. The car rocked back and forth twice, and I could observe the second car jackknife and pull the rest of the cars over the bank."

The last two cars on the train —a Vista Dome Pullman and a Pullman club car—remained upright. The others twisted in all directions over 500 to 600 feet of the wooded area.

Engine Broke in Half

Egnineer E. E. Lynn and fireman Jerry Haines, both of Missoula, suffered minor cuts. Lynn was quoted by a railroad spokesman as saying the train lost air pressure as it started downhill.

About 100 National Guardsmen plus Red Cross disaster workers and others joined doctors and nurses in helping the wreck victims. The injured were taken to three hospitals.

68 Still Hospitalized

Of the 219 persons received at the hospitals, 151 were treated and released. Sixty-eight were held for further treatment and observation.

The derailment tore up 500 feet of track. Repairing this damage and clearing the wrecked cars away will take several days. Passenger trains will use a freight line.

The estimate of $1 million in claims and damages was made by a railroad official, who asked that his name not be used.

Southeast Asia Policy Study Is Mansfield Aim

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., told a commencement day audience Sunday at Michigan State University that it's time for a re-examination of this nation's policy toward Southeast Asia.

The Senate majority leader and the administration's chief spokesman in that body said his support of President Kennedy does not preclude public discussion of present approaches, which he said will yield little to the people of this nation and little to the people of Southeast Asia.

Mansfield said he doubted that U.S. traffic security and other interests justify indefinite commitment to the unilateral defense of the area. Rather, he said, this nation should investigate "every possibility of minimizing the unilateral activity of the United States in Southeast Asia in every sphere."

He asked that we "Draw clearly the distinction between what is enduringly basic and what is transitory and peripheral in our interests with respect" to the area.

The unilateral supply of manpower and billions is at best "a mark-time course of immense costs" and "at worst, it's a collision course," he said.

Upstate Eating PlaceDamaged by $250,000 Fire

The flames were discovered shortly after the restaurant had closed for the night. Firemen said the fire had broken out in the cellar and the flames ate through the first floor of the brick building.

Lew Roth, owner of the newly renovated downtown restaurant, estimated his loss at $250,00 and said the fire had idled 45 workers.

Investigation Shows No Narcotic Sales

State and Beacon City police officials said Saturday that an investigation disclosed no narcotic sales had been made in the city of Beacon.

Comment from State Police Captain John J. Lawson, Troop K commander, and Beacon Police Chief Samuel Wood, came after Orange County District Attorney Abraham Isseks said he had found evidence during an Orange County investigation that heroin and marijuana had been taken from Newburgh to Beacon.

The swift and sleek greyhound dog first was bred in Egypt between 4000 and 3500 B.C. and alter favored by the Greeks.

Two Servicemen Killed, One Injured

EMITTSBURG, Md. (AP)—Two young servicemen from New York State were killed and another injured Sunday night when their car smashed into a bridge abutment.

The third youth, Robert Joseph Kane, 19, of Elma, N.Y., was taken to a hospital in Gettysburg, Pa., where he was listed in serious condition.

Since 1944, there has been more than a 83 per cent decline in the U.S. death rate from acute rheumatic fever.

Sections Powerless

Failure of equipment in the northern part of Dutchess County Saturday caused a lack of power for 151 customers of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. in the upper sectors of the Town of Hyde Park and the western area of the Town of Clinton. Service was interrupted from 11:19 a. m. to 1:10 p. m. in the area, a corporation spokesman reported.

The security of this nation and the free world rests upon the power of higher education and not upon military force. It is imperative that "human intelligence must somehow be mustered, in sufficient amount and with sufficient courage, to prevent the use of these powerful military devices of distruction" which the Free and the Communist worlds amassed since the end of World War 2, Physical power, deadly and distructive and maiming, hangs over the civilized world with capabilities of total obliteration . . . Locals Leading Soccer Loop As Albany A. C. Bows

Reiner Schwebel scored an important goal with less than two minutes remaining to give the Kingston Sport Club a 3-3 deadlock against the Sons of Italy at Schenectady yesterday.

The deadlock sent the locals into first place by a slim point as the Central New York State Soccer League heads into the homestretch. The Albany athletic Club, which went into yesterday tied for first place, was upset, 4-1, by Endicott.

Kingston and Albany will battle Sunday, June 24, 5:30 p. m., at Dietz Stadium with the league title on the line. This one will be for the benefit of the Kingston Hospital Building Fund.

An apparant score five minutes later by Schwebel was disallowed. The referee said the ball was out of bounds before the goal was made.

Outstanding on Defense

The locals applied the pressure in the second half but the home side showed its outstanding defense. At the 14 minute mark, the Dorpians tied the game after a corner kick, which resulted from a poor Kingston defensive play. Kingston goalie Neil Harris was hurt and was replaced by Ingo Froehlich, who was in the nets when the home team moved ahead, 3-2, at the 27 minute mark.

That set the stage for the tying goal by Schwebel and it may prove to be one of the biggest goals of the season.

Littler Is Ready for U.S. Open

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP)—Not since Ben Hogan did it in 1951 has a U.S. Open champion repeated, but Gene Littler, the sweet-swinger from San Diego, Calif., made it clear today that he is a real threat for his second straight this week at Oakmont, Pa.

"I'm pretty confident about my game," said Littler, who collected the $25,000 first prize—top payoff of the year—in the $100,000 Golf Classic Sunday. "I'm playing as well as I am capable of playing. I won't be the favorite though. I never am."

Those are strong words for Littler, an even-tempered quiet man who finally made the predictions of stardom for him stand up when he took the Open last year at Oakland Hills.

He banged out a 5 under par 67 Sunday, to come from a stroke back of Jack Nicklaus, and finish with 275, a four-day total of 13 under par on the 7,055-yard Upper Montclair Country Club course.

Nicklaus had a final-round 70 for 277. Wes Ellis and Dow Finsterwald split third with 280.

Littler's victory shot him into second spot among the pro money winners with $53,704.16, behind Arnold Palmer who has $60,331. Palmer had a poor tournament, never contending, and wound up with a 71, for 290 and $460. He spent more than that on new golf club grips during the tournament, trying to straighten out his game.

Littler 31, never has played Oakmont, the sand-smocked terror where he must defend his crown, in fact, never has seen it.

"I was in the Navy in 1953 the last time they played the Open there," he said, "and I couldn't get away. "But then I never played Upper Montclair before, either."

Sam Snead, the half-way leader, rallied from 78 in the third round to a two-under 70 to finish in a 10th place tie at 284. He made $1,900.

Rookie Rollins Paces Twins; Giants Continue Collapse

Bonus Star Raps Five Safeties in Win Over Chisox

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

There is some question regarding Rich Rollins' rookie status but no one questions the right of the sensational Minnesota third baseman to be rated among the American League's most valuable players in his first full season in the majors.

The 24-year-old bonus prize was red hot again Sunday as the Twins conquered the Chicago White Sox twice, 8-4, 11-7 to climb into a virtual first-place tie with New York. Rollins rapped five hits, drove in three runs and scored three times.

The Yankees, beaten twice by Baltimore, 5-1 and 7-2, still hold a mathematical edge over the Twins. They have a 31-21 record for a .596 percentage compared to Minnesota's 34-24 and .586.

The Los Angeles Angels swept past Detroit into fourth place by beating Kansas City twice 14-6 and 6-5 while the Tigers were losing two to Washington 2-1 and 5-4. Cleveland downed Boston 9-3 after the Red Sox had won the opener 4-3 in 11 innings.

Rollins Up to .356

Rollins raised his league-leading batting average to .356. He reached base six straight times before relief pitcher Ed Fisher struck him out in the sixth inning of the nightcap. He cracked two singles, walked and hit his ninth homer in the opener and then singled and drove in two runs with a triple in the nightcap.

The stocky infielder joined the Twins from Charlotte in mid-season of 1961 and made only 17 plate appearances last year.

Normally, that would qualify him as a rookie this year because he came to bat fewer than 90 times. However, he was with the club more than 45 days, the limit for rookie status the following season.

Home runs sparked the Orioles to their double victory at Yankee Stadium. Whitey Herzog and Russ Snyder connected in the first game in support of Milt Pappas' sixth victory. Brooks Robinson and Jackie Brandt were the four-bagger men in the second game to smooth the way for Skinny Brown's third triumph.

Homers by Joe Hicks in the first game and Chuck Hinton and Dale Long together with tight pitching by Don Rudolph and Steve Hamilton were responsible for Washington's first double-header sweep of the season. The two victories stretched the Senators' winning streak to four games.

Second baseman Billy Moran drove in six runs, three with his sixth homer, to spark the Angels to their first game triumph. Leon Wagner's sixth-inning single broke a 5-5 tie in the second game.

Rebel Harris Wins Arlington Races

Although the feature event was an easy one for Harris, the battle of the night centered on second place with five cars in a tight group constantly switching positions with hard driving the keynote.

Eventual second place finisher was Ed Somers of Fishkill followed by John Rohan, Hyde Park; Ray Anderson, Newburgh; Bill Boo, Pawling; Fred Gearing, Oak Hill and Hal Montangne, Kerhonkson.

The feature for novice sedans went to Bill Frederickson, Mahopac, followed by Bobby Green of Newburgh and Roger Delease of Hyde Park.

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

As certain as death and taxes—that's a San Francisco Giants' swoon in June.

In each of their first four seasons in San Francisco, the Giants had stormed into June in or very close to first place in the National League standings only to fall flat on their faces in the month of honeymoons and traditional bliss.

This year, their fifth on the West Coast, has been no exception. They absorbed two more defeats at the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday—6-5 and 13-3—extending their losing streak to six straight games.

The double defeat, coupled with Los Angeles' double triumph over Houston, by scores of 9-3 and 9-7, dropped the Giants 2½ games behind the league leading Dodgers. Only a week ago the Giants led the Dodgers two games.

1958—The Giants were in first place on June 1, enjoying a one-game lead over Milwaukee. They lost 14 of their next 20 to drop into third place, 3½ games off the pace.

1959—The Giants were in second place, a game in back of Milwaukee on June 1. They lost 9 of their next 16 to fall two games behind.

1960—The Giants were in first place on May 30, leading Pittsburgh by one game. They lost 17 of their next 22 to skid into third place 6½ games behind.

1961—The Giants were in first place on May 29, leading Los Angles by a game and a half. They lost 8 of their next 10 to fall into third place, two games off the pace.

Pirates Sweep Braves

Pittsburgh took two games from Milwaukee 12-8 and 3-2. Cincinnati split with Philadelphia, winning the second game, 9-2 after the Phillies had won the opener, 7-5. Chicago after losing the first game, 2-1, came from behind with three runs in the ninth and one in the 10th to win the second game 5-4 from New York.

A turnaway crowd of 33,679, largest at Busch Stadium in 10 years, saw the Cardinals stretch their winning streak to seven games, which began after eight straight losses. Home runs by Curt Flood and Stan Musial highlighted the double triumph.

Don Drysdale pitched a six-hitter for his 10th victory and first baseman Ron Fairly drove in four runs with a triple, double and two singles in the Dodgers' first-game triumph over Houston. Catcher Norm Sherry batted in four runs in the nightcap, three with a home run in a six-run sixth inning. Don Buddin hit a grand slam homer for the Colts.

Andre Rodgers' run-scoring double off relief pitcher Ken McKenzie in the 10th after pinch hitter Ernie Banks' game-tying three-run homer in the ninth, gave the Cubs a split with the Mets. New York scored the tie-breaking run in the opener on a wild pitch by Dick Ellsworth in the sixth.

The Mets led 4-1 in the nightcap with two out and nobody on base in the bottom of the ninth. Then third baseman Rod Kanehl booted Dick Bertell's bounder, Bob Will walked and Banks crashed his 15th home run on an 0-2 count.

Lew Krausse Back In Winning Form

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kansas City Athletics can relax today.

Their $125,000 bonus baby, Lew Krausse, is back in business and paying off dividends for Binghamton in the Class A Eastern Baseball League after an absence of almost a month because of an ailing elbow.

The righthander, sidelined May 18 with a tear of the olecranon—the bony prominence at the back of the elbow—pitched six strong innings Sunday and picked up his fourth victory against three defeats as Binghamton defeated Charleston, 5-1.

Manager Granny Hamner said he took Krausse out in the beginning of the seventh inning as a safeguard since it was his first start since May 18. He gave up five hits — all singles — and Charleston's only run. He struck out two and didn't give up any walks. Jim Sprankle came on to preserve the victory.

Pitching highlighted the other EL games. Righthander Joel Gibson of Williamsport shut out Springfield for the first time this year, 2-0, on a four-hitter as the Grays stretched their first place lead over Charleston to 8½ games. And Elmira beat York, 1-0, as Dave Vineyard pitched his second straight shutout and second four-hitter.

Dutchmen Win, 7-6, On Dooley's Single

Bob Dooley delivered a bases loaded single in the eighth inning to give the Saugerties Dutchmen a come-from-behind, 7-6 win over Catskill in a Catskill Mountain League game Sunday. The Dutchmen tallied five times in the frame.

Ted Bream was the winner with a nifty relief job. He allowed only two runs and two hits in six innings. Bream walked one and struck out 10.

Saugerties and Catskill are now 2-1 in the circuit. The Dutchmen will be at Windham next Sunday.

Locals Leading Soccer Loop As Albany A. C. Bows

Reiner Schwebel scored an important goal with less than two minutes remaining to give the Kingston Sport Club a 3-3 deadlock against the Sons of Italy at Schenectady yesterday.

The deadlock sent the locals into first place by a slim point as the Central New York State Soccer League heads into the homestretch. The Albany athletic Club, which went into yesterday tied for first place, was upset, 4-1, by Endicott.

Kingston and Albany will battle Sunday, June 24, 5:30 p. m., at Dietz Stadium with the league title on the line. This one will be for the benefit of the Kingston Hospital Building Fund.

An apparant score five minutes later by Schwebel was disallowed. The referee said the ball was out of bounds before the goal was made.

Outstanding on Defense

The locals applied the pressure in the second half but the home side showed its outstanding defense. At the 14 minute mark, the Dorpians tied the game after a corner kick, which resulted from a poor Kingston defensive play. Kingston goalie Neil Harris was hurt and was replaced by Ingo Froehlich, who was in the nets when the home team moved ahead, 3-2, at the 27 minute mark.

That set the stage for the tying goal by Schwebel and it may prove to be one of the biggest goals of the season.

Littler Is Ready for U.S. Open

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP)—Not since Ben Hogan did it in 1951 has a U.S. Open champion repeated, but Gene Littler, the sweet-swinger from San Diego, Calif., made it clear today that he is a real threat for his second straight this week at Oakmont, Pa.

"I'm pretty confident about my game," said Littler, who collected the $25,000 first prize—top payoff of the year—in the $100,000 Golf Classic Sunday. "I'm playing as well as I am capable of playing. I won't be the favorite though. I never am."

Those are strong words for Littler, an even-tempered quiet man who finally made the predictions of stardom for him stand up when he took the Open last year at Oakland Hills.

He banged out a 5 under par 67 Sunday, to come from a stroke back of Jack Nicklaus, and finish with 275, a four-day total of 13 under par on the 7,055-yard Upper Montclair Country Club course.

Nicklaus had a final-round 70 for 277. Wes Ellis and Dow Finsterwald split third with 280.

Littler's victory shot him into second spot among the pro money winners with $53,704.16, behind Arnold Palmer who has $60,331. Palmer had a poor tournament, never contending, and wound up with a 71, for 290 and $460. He spent more than that on new golf club grips during the tournament, trying to straighten out his game.

Littler 31, never has played Oakmont, the sand-snacked terror where he must defend his crown, in fact, never has seen it.

"I was in the Navy in 1953 the last time they played the Open there," he said, "and I couldn't get away. "But then I never played Upper Montclair before, either."

Sam Snead, the half-way leader, rallied from 78 in the third round to a two-under 70 to finish in a 10th place tie at 284. He made $1,900.

Rookie Rollins Paces Twins; Giants Continue Collapse

Bonus Star Raps Five Safeties in Win Over Chisox

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

There is some question regarding Rich Rollins' rookie status but no one questions the right of the sensational Minnesota third baseman to be rated among the American League's most valuable players in his first full season in the majors.

The 24-year-old bonus prize was red hot again Sunday as the Twins conquered the Chicago White Sox twice, 8-4, 11-7 to climb into a virtual first-place tie with New York. Rollins rapped five hits, drove in three runs and scored three times.

The Yankees, beaten twice by Baltimore, 5-1 and 7-2, still hold a mathematical edge over the Twins. They have a 31-21 record for a .596 percentage compared to Minnesota's 34-24 and .586.

The Los Angeles Angels swept past Detroit into fourth place by beating Kansas City twice 14-6 and 6-5 while the Tigers were losing two to Washington 2-1 and 5-4. Cleveland downed Boston 9-3 after the Red Sox had won the opener 4-3 in 11 innings.

Rollins Up to .356

Rollins raised his league-leading batting average to .356. He reached base six straight times before relief pitcher Ed Fisher struck him out in the sixth inning of the nightcap. He cracked two singles, walked and hit his ninth homer in the opener and then singled and drove in two runs with a triple in the nightcap.

The stocky infielder joined the Twins from Charlotte in mid-season of 1961 and made only 17 plate appearances last year.

Normally, that would qualify him as a rookie this year because he came to bat fewer than 90 times. However, he was with the club more than 45 days, the limit for rookie status the following season.

Home runs sparked the Orioles to their double victory at Yankee Stadium. Whitey Herzog and Russ Snyder connected in the first game in support of Milt Pappas' sixth victory. Brooks Robinson and Jackie Brandt were the four-bagger men in the second game to smooth the way for Skinny Brown's third triumph.

Homers by Joe Hicks in the first game and Chuck Hinton and Dale Long together with tight pitching by Don Rudolph and Steve Hamilton were responsible for Washington's first double-header sweep of the season. The two victories stretched the Senators' winning streak to four games.

Second baseman Billy Moran drove in six runs, three with his sixth homer, to spark the Angels to their first game triumph. Leon Wagner's sixth-inning single broke a 5-5 tie in the second game.

The feature for novice sedans went to Bill Frederickson, Mahopac, followed by Bobby Green of Newburgh and Roger Delease of Hyde Park.

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

As certain as death and taxes—that's a San Francisco Giants' swoon in June.

In each of their first four seasons in San Francisco, the Giants had stormed into June in or very close to first place in the National League standings only to fall flat on their faces in the month of honeymoons and traditional bliss.

This year, their fifth on the West Coast, has been no exception. They absorbed two more defeats at the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday—6-5 and 13-3—extending their losing streak to six straight games.

The double defeat, coupled with Los Angeles' double triumph over Houston, by scores of 9-3 and 9-7, dropped the Giants 2½ games behind the league leading Dodgers. Only a week ago the Giants led the Dodgers two games.

1958—The Giants were in first place on June 1, enjoying a one-game lead over Milwaukee. They lost 14 of their next 20 to drop into third place, 3½ games off the pace.

1959—The Giants were in second place, a game in back of Milwaukee on June 1. They lost 9 of their next 16 to fall two games behind.

1960—The Giants were in first place on May 30, leading Pittsburgh by one game. They lost 17 of their next 22 to skid into third place 6½ games behind.

1961—The Giants were in first place on May 29, leading Los Angles by a game and a half. They lost 8 of their next 10 to fall into third place, two games off the pace.

Pirates Sweep Braves

Pittsburgh took two games from Milwaukee 12-8 and 3-2. Cincinnati split with Philadelphia, winning the second game, 9-2 after the Phillies had won the opener, 7-5. Chicago after losing the first game, 2-1, came from behind with three runs in the ninth and one in the 10th to win the second game 5-4 from New York.

Sadecki Stops Giants, 8-4, After That Heavy Fine

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"This is what you need to get over the hump," a happy Ray Sadecki said. The hump he was talking about was mighty large.

The 21-year-old left - handed pitcher, who won few friends last week in a hassle with St. Louis Cardinal management, made the remark after he defeated the San Francisco Giants 8-4 Saturday and got his first big league homer.

Manager Johnny Keane, who had few kind words for the $50,000 bonus baby when he fined him $250, obviously felt the same way. And the fine appeared to have helped to shake the club out of its tailspin. The Red Birds, losers of eight in a row before the incident, now have seven straight victories.

"Sadecki looked like the Ray Sadecki we know him to be," Keane said. "He accepted the challenge and pitched like we know he can pitch. We need him. We always counted on him and now we know we can."

Keane fined Sadecki Tuesday night "for the poorest exhibition of effort I have ever seen on a major league diamond" after the pitcher faced five Cincinnati batters in relief and all five scored on two homers and two Sadecki errors.

Sadecki refused to come to work the next day and was suspended by General Manager Bing Devine.

All three stated their views in blunt language before they finally got together at a secret meeting and announced Sadecki was back on the job.

Pin Lessons Set At Bowlerama

A series of five free bowling lessons are being offered to the public by Ferraro's Bowlerama beginning June 25. The lessons will take place on a five week scale, with one given each week.

The five-week instruction period will be the biggest mass education program in bowling in the area.

Special classes have been planned for seniors, men, women and teenagers with each series of classes offering personal instruction for beginners. Jack Ferraro, a member of the professional bowlers assn. and the Bowlerama staff, will be the instructor. All necessary equipment will be available at the center.

"We feel it is much more valuable than the single period of instruction because it is hard to retain all the tips presented at one time," Ferraro said. "By breaking down bowling instruction into basic steps and giving people an opportunity to develop each skill before proceeding to the next, we can build bowlers who will compete well in regular leagues," he added. Ferraro said the five lessons will be conducted in the classroom, on film and on the lanes.

The lessons will cover etiquette on the lanes, the approach, arm-swing coordinated with footwork, the hook ball and a summary.

The free classes at the Bowlerama will begin the week of June 25. Women will be instructed on Monday at 8 p. m. Junior classes will be held Saturday at 11 a. m. and instructions for men are scheduled for Friday, 8 p. m. Senior bowlers — both men and women — will receive special instructions on Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Each lesson will last about an hour and will include free shadow bowling to enable beginners to put the instruction into practice. Registration for classes can be made by calling the Bowlerama before June 25.

Johansson, Rosi In Main Fights

By MURRAY ROSE

Ingemar Johansson and Paolo Rosi, a couple of fighters who had their day of glory, make new bids for world title fights in the coming week.

Johansson, the former world and European heavyweight ruler, aims to regain the European crown in a 15-round title fight with Welshman Dick Richardson, the defender, at Goteborg, Sweden, Sunday, June 17.

Rosi, who was stopped on cuts in the title fight with world lightweight champion Joe Brown three years ago, takes on slick Carlos Hernandez, third ranking lightweight contender, in the television (ABC TV 9 p.m., EST) fight of the week at New York's Madison Square Garden Saturday night. The winner may get a crack at newly crowned lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz. Hernandez is from Venezuela. Rosi is an Italian now living in New York.

There is an international touch to most of the other key fights of the week.

At Rome, Italy, Friday night, Chuck Garrett of Chicago opposes light heavyweight contender Giulio Rinaldi of Italy, in a 10-rounder, and France's Gracieux Lamperti and Italy's Lino Mastellaro clash for the European featherweight crown.

Denny Moyer hopes to regain prestige for the fighting Moyers in a return bout with Teddy Wright at Madison Square Garden, July 7. Wright, a stringy welterweight from Detroit made it two out of two with the Moyers by gaining a split decision over Denny at the Garden last Saturday night. Two weeks ago Teddy outpointed Phil Moyer, who subbed for Denny, in the same arena.

Galentine Has Top Pacers Set To Run Tonight

MONTICELLO, N. Y., June 8—Ned Galentine will be seeking repeat victories in the feature and associate event as Monticello Raceway swings into its second full week of racing tonight.

Galentine will drive Success Yankee in the $1,600 Class B-1 feature in the seventh race. He will be aboard Guybee in a Class C-1 pace in the fifth.

Success Yankee turned in an impressive 2:05.4 win against almost the same company. Galentine raced the seven-year-old stallion covered up on the outside for almost three quarters of a mile and still won which is highly noteworthy.

Five horses which trailed Success Yankee over the finish line will be back for another shot. Fedor Herbert, which was just a nose behind, Pansy Brewer, the third place finisher, and Miss Filibuster, Red Argot and Frisco Rebel will get another chance at Success Yankee.

Quick Jo, a constant campaigner on the metropolitan circuit, and Doctor McClung round out the field. Doctor McClung is fresh off a 2:05.3 win and must be feared. Norm Stephens has the gelding in top shape and could go all the way as he practically did in his last win.

Guybee won in the mud in its first start here. Galentine kept the five-year-old gelding on top from start to finish. Guybee must make the best of the No. 7 slot.

Dukegan, Fullmor and Dutch Bomber are some of the prime threats. Dukegan has two seconds in the mud for owner- driver Art Koch. Koch is hoping for a fast track for a change.

Bucs Win Pair After Losing Three Straight

MILWAUKEE (AP) — After losing three doubleheaders within seven days, the Pittsburgh Pirates figured the law of averages was in their favor. So they did a turnabout and made the Milwaukee Braves their victims.

The Pirates broke out of a slump of only one victory in eight games Sunday, avenging a double setback by Milwaukee Saturday with a sweep of a doubleheader with the Braves 12-8 and 3-2.

"I think you might say we were owed these two," said Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh. "How many doubleheaders can a team lose in a row? Those two losses to Houston last Sunday, two to Los Angeles and then the two to the Braves really hurt."

Reminded of a statement that he was trying to put his "pitching, hitting and fielding together," Murtaugh grinned and said:

"Yeh, we did it today, but not the way I meant. I want it in every game. Luckily, we got hitting in the first game when our pitchers had a little trouble. Then in the second game we got the pitching and our fielding came through."

Sadecki Stops Giants, 8-4, After That Heavy Fine

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"This is what you need to get over the hump," a happy Ray Sadecki said. The hump he was talking about was mighty large.

The 21-year-old left - handed pitcher, who won few friends last week in a hassle with St. Louis Cardinal management, made the remark after he defeated the San Francisco Giants 8-4 Saturday and got his first big league homer.

"What happened during the week is in the past," he said.

Manager Johnny Keane, who had few kind words for the $50,000 bonus baby when he fined him $250, obviously felt the same way. And the fine appeared to have helped to shake the club out of its tailspin. The Red Birds, losers of eight in a row before the incident, now have seven straight victories.

"Sadecki looked like the Ray Sadecki we know him to be," Keane said. "He accepted the challenge and pitched like we know he can pitch. We need him. We always counted on him and now we know we can."

Keane fined Sadecki Tuesday night "for the poorest exhibition of effort I have ever seen on a major league diamond" after the pitcher faced five Cincinnati batters in relief and all five scored on two homers and two Sadecki errors.

Sadecki refused to come to work the next day and was suspended by General Manager Bing Devine.

All three stated their views in blunt language before they finally got together at a secret meeting and announced Sadecki was back on the job.

SOMETHING NEW—Newly designed gear for drivers as an aid in identification during bad weather is demonstrated by Stan Bergstein executive secretary of the Harness Tracks of America, Inc. Franklin E. Display and discussion of new equipment was one of the items on the agenda at HTA quarterly meeting last week at the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake.

Pin Lessons Set At Bowlerama

A series of five free bowling lessons are being offered to the public by Ferraro's Bowlerama beginning June 25. The lessons will take place on a five week scale, with one given each week.

The five-week instruction period will be the biggest mass education program in bowling in the area.

Special classes have been planned for seniors, men, women and teenagers with each series of classes offering personal instruction for beginners. Jack Ferraro, a member of the professional bowlers assn. and the Bowlerama staff, will be the instructor. All necessary equipment will be available at the center.

"We feel it is much more valuable than the single period of instruction because it is hard to retain all the tips presented at one time," Ferraro said. "By breaking down bowling instruction into basic steps and giving people an opportunity to develop each skill before proceeding to the next, we can build bowlers who will compete well in regular leagues," he added. Ferraro said the five lessons will be conducted in the classroom, on film and on the lanes.

The lessons will cover etiquette on the lanes, the approach, arm-swing coordinated with footwork, the hook ball and a summary.

The free classes at the Bowlerama will begin the week of June 25. Women will be instructed on Monday at 8 p. m. Junior classes will be held Saturday at 11 a. m. and instructions for men are scheduled for Friday, 8 p. m. Senior bowlers — both men and women — will receive special instructions on Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Each lesson will last about an hour and will include free shadow bowling to enable beginners to put the instruction into practice. Registration for classes can be made by calling the Bowlerama before June 25.

Johansson, Rosi In Main Fights

By MURRAY ROSE

Ingemar Johansson and Paolo Rosi, a couple of fighters who had their day of glory, make new bids for world title fights in the coming week.

Johansson, the former world and European heavyweight ruler, aims to regain the European crown in a 15-round title fight with Welshman Dick Richardson, the defender, at Goteborg, Sweden, Sunday, June 17.

The big Swede has high hopes of meeting the winner of the Sept. 25 title fight between champion Floyd Patterson and Sonny Liston.

Rosi, who was stopped on cuts in the title fight with world lightweight champion Joe Brown three years ago, takes on slick Carlos Hernandez, third ranking lightweight contender, in the television (ABC TV 9 p.m., EST) fight of the week at New York's Madison Square Garden Saturday night. The winner may get a crack at newly crowned lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz. Hernandez is from Venezuela. Rosi is an Italian now living in New York.

There is an international touch to most of the other key fights of the week.

At Rome, Italy, Friday night, Chuck Garrett of Chicago opposes light heavyweight contender Giulio Rinaldi of Italy, in a 10-rounder, and France's Gracieux Lamperti and Italy's Lino Mastellaro clash for the European featherweight crown.

Denny Moyer hopes to regain prestige for the fighting Moyers in a return bout with Teddy Wright at Madison Square Garden, July 7. Wright, a stringy welterweight from Detroit made it two out of two with the Moyers by gaining a split decision over Denny at the Garden last Saturday night. Two weeks ago Teddy outpointed Phil Moyer, who subbed for Denny, in the same arena.

Galentine Has Top Pacers Set To Run Tonight

MONTICELLO, N. Y., June 8 —Ned Galentine will be seeking repeat victories in the feature and associate event as Monticello Raceway swings into its second full week of racing tonight.

Galentine will drive Success Yankee in the $1,600 Class B-1 feature in the seventh race. He will be aboard Guybee in a Class C-1 pace in the fifth.

Success Yankee turned in an impressive 2:05.4 win against almost the same company. Galentine raced the seven-year-old stallion covered up on the outside for almost three quarters of a mile and still won which is highly noteworthy.

Five horses which trailed Success Yankee over the finish line will be back for another shot. Fedor Herbert, which was just a nose behind, Pansy Brewer, the third place finisher, and Miss Filibuster, Red Argot and Frisco Rebel will get another chance at Success Yankee.

Quick Jo, a constant campaigner on the metropolitan circuit, and Doctor McClung round out the field. Doctor McClung is fresh off a 2:05.3 win and must be feared. Norm Stephens has the gelding in top shape and could go all the way as he practically did in his last win.

Guybee won in the mud in its first start here. Galentine kept the five-year-old gelding on top from start to finish. Guybee must make the best of the No. 7 slot.

Dukegan, Fullmor and Dutch Bomber are some of the prime threats. Dukegan has two seconds in the mud for owner- driver Art Koch. Koch is hoping for a fast track for a change.

Bucs Win Pair After Losing Three Straight

MILWAUKEE (AP) — After losing three doubleheaders within seven days, the Pittsburgh Pirates figured the law of averages was in their favor. So they did a turnabout and made the Milwaukee Braves their victims.

The Pirates broke out of a slump of only one victory in eight games Sunday, avenging a double setback by Milwaukee Saturday with a sweep of a doubleheader with the Braves 12-8 and 3-2.

"I think you might say we were owed these two," said Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh. "How many doubleheaders can a team lose in a row? Those two losses to Houston last Sunday, two to Los Angeles and then the two to the Braves really hurt."

Reminded of a statement that he was trying to put his "pitching, hitting and fielding together," Murtaugh grinned and said:

"Yeh, we did it today, but not the way I meant. I want it in every game. Luckily, we got hitting in the first game when our pitchers had a little trouble. Then in the second game we got the pitching and our fielding came through."

Charters Make Salts Of Boating Skeptics

By WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Other don't have the time or money to keep up a boat. Eight years ago Sherwood Ricker and his wife, Marion, launched Marion Yacht Rentals for would-be boatmen. Now about 400 a year come to the Worton Creek Marina, near Chestertown, to start a summer cruise for a week or so on Chesapeake Bay. Winter rental headquarters is Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

No license or previous boating experience is necessary. Ricker and his insurance company were afraid, at first, of beginners and what they might do to a boat. Now they know a new skipper is likely to be more careful than the old hand who believes he knows all the answers.

* * *

Each charterer is taken out for an introductory hour in the boat, or more if necessary. Turns are demonstrated and several approaches to a dock are practiced.

Fancy knots are fun to know, Ricker notes, but three simple ones are enough for a pleasure cruise. Once you know the bowline, clove hitch and the proper way of securing a line to a cleat, the boat won't drift away once it's tied up, but can still be cast off even when the lines get wet.

The Marion fleet now has 18 sea skiffs from 22 to 37 feet. All are the latest model cruisers, kept in top condition with an overhaul after every charter, and are replaced with new models every two years.

Rental runs from $125 a week for a 22-foot open skiff up to $475 for 37-footers that sleep six. The craft comes with full tanks, ready to go. The rental party pays for fuel and food.

Fitting out is Mrs. Ricker's department. Her check list is a model outline of 82 items a cruising craft should have aboard for comfort. Safety equipment is furnished, but so are pots and pans, silverware, soap, hangers, ash trays, a fly swatter, can opener, non-breakable glasses and a neatly stowed array of essentials.

Charts of the cruising area are aboard, plus parallel rules and dividers. A hose for washing down the boat and extension cable for bringing shore power aboard are ready when a charter boat ties up at a marina at night.

.143 Hitter Has Big Slugging Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Atlanta Crackers were just a half game out of the first division of the International Baseball League today, mainly through the efforts of a .143 hitter.

The Crackers whipped the Rochester Red Wings twice Sunday, 10-4, 4-0. They now are only nine percentage points behind the Wings in the battle for fourth place.

Catcher Jim Saul, struggling along on a .143 BA at game time, slapped a two-run single in the fifth inning of the nightcap to make life easy for Johnny Kucks.

The Buffalo Bisons won a doubleheader from the Richmond Virginians, 6-1, 5-4; the Syracuse Chiefs shut out the Jacksonville Suns, 7-0, and the Columbus Jets turned back the Toronto Maple Leafs, 7-

Meeting Slated Tuesday, 7:30, of Chamber Heads

The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors will meet Tuesday, at 7:30 p. m. in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Chamber President Sam Pepper urged a full attendance as this may be the only meeting of the full board until September. It has been customary to cancel the regular summer meeting and call special meetings if necessary.

One important item of business at the Chamber directors' meeting will be a review of the membership situation. In accordance with the recent amendment to the by-laws more prompt renewals will be required. The purpose being to enable the directors to prepare a final budget and determine how many dollars are available for promotional and other activities.

The Chamber of Commerce today reported the receipt of 369 paid memberships for 1962-63 up to last Saturday which is considerably ahead of the total on the same date a year ago. This is for the fiscal year which started on May 1 and includes 24 new paid-up memberships. As of Saturday, 171 membership renewals were unpaid, but some were reported to be coming in daily. The list of unpaid memberships will be reviewed at the directors' meeting. Another important item of business will be the appointment of six persons to represent the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce on the Miss New York State Pageant board of directors.

Review Refused Of Beck Case BySupreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to review the conviction of Dave Beck, former Teamsters Union president, on charges of filing false federal tax returns for the union for 1950 and 1952.

The high tribunal, in a ay 14 decision on another appeal, affirmed conviction of Beck on a charge of embezzlement of $1,900 from the sale of an automobile owned by the union. He was sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment on the embezzlement conviction. The sentence was pronounced in a Washington State court.

Beck's conviction on the tax charge was in federal court in Tacoma, Wash., in 1958. He was sentenced there to five years in prison and fined $20,000.

The U.S. Circuit Court in San Francisco on Jan. 20, 1962, upheld Beck's conviction of filing false tax returns for his union. At the same time it set aside his conviction of evading more than $240,000 in income taxes. The Circuit Court called for a new trial on the evasion charges, on which Beck had been sentenced to five years and $40,000 fine.

Deputy Sheriffs Recover $35,000 Of Stolen Loot

Dutchess County deputy sheriffs have recovered $35,000 in property stolen in 150 burglaries in Dutchess, Putnam and Columbia counties, according to Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan.

Quinlan said Raymond H. Stanton, 48, of 34 Jefferson Street, Poughkeepsie, is accused of committing the burglaries in the last several years that netted $500,000 in loot. His son, Raymond G. Stanton, 22, of 7 Montgomery Street, Poughkeepsie, and Frederick Marks, 54, of Sodom Road, Town of Clinton, are accused of committing one burglary each with the elder Stanton.

Included in residences Stanton is accused of burglarizing is the home of George C. Stoddard, retired president of the DeLaval Separator Co., off Deuel Road, Town of Stanford. Property valued at $5,000, including family heirlooms, china and silverware, was reportedly taken from the Stoddard home while the family was traveling in Quatemala.

Dutchess authorities also said the home of Mrs. Keene Richards, Town of Washington, also was burglarized by Stanton and furnishings valued between $4,000 and $5,000 were taken

Quinlan said the elder Stanton also admitted breaking into the residence of Daphnee Sylvia Smith, opera singer, on Ernest Road, Stanfordville, and taking furnishings valued between $7,000 and $10,000.

The Stantons and Marks were held in the Dutchess county jail awaiting disposition of third degree burglary charges.

Levene Back in Business

The veteran actor will portray a big-wheel garment manufacturer in the play based on Elick Moll's best-selling novel "Seidman and Son." In "Let It Ride!," one of this season's musicals, Levene appeared in one of his frequent incarnations as a gambler.

The clothing business was perviously explored by Levene in "The Fifth Season."

2½-Year-Old Putnam Boy Found, Missing 14 Hours

Search for a 2½-year-old Putnam County boy, lost in a thickly wooded area near the hamlet of Cragsmoor, ended with a happy tone early Sunday, when the child was found and returned to his parents by two volunteer firemen.

Volunteer firemen, state police, deputy sheriffs and civilians from Ulster and Orange Counties and from Pike County, Pa, took part in the search for David Massaglia, of Baldwin Place, who was missing about 14 hours before he was found.

Visiting in Area

The boy, his brothers, Thomas, 7, and Peter, 5, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Massaglia, who are planning to return to their West Coast home at Los Angeles, Calif., soon, were weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Puff, Cragsmoor.

David and his brothers were playing with other children Saturday afternoon, when the older boys left and David went looking for them. David became confused and got lost in the woods.

The Puffs, the boy's parents and several neighbors immediately started a search for David, when he was missed.

Volunteer firemen from the Walker Valley and Cragsmoor areas were mustered to aid in the search. Ellenville troopers, area deputy sheriffs and volunteer firemen from neighboring districts joined the search party.

Citizen Band Helps

A group of members of the Citizens Wave Band Club and other groups volunteered to assist in the widespread search. Walkie talkies and powerful lights were set up in the area as the hunt for the boy was extended.

The Fire Control Center reported operators received an order from County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder to sound sirens in all fire districts in Ulster County, at 4:30 a. m. Sunday, summoning volunteer firemen throughout the county to join the hunt.

Ellenville troopers said Jacob Schwab, 20, of Cragsmoor, and Harold Wood, of Ellenville, found the boy shortly after 7 a. m. yesterday, and returned him to his parents at 7:15 a. m.

While the search party fanned out to comb the woods, members of the Walker Valley Fire Co., and neighbors prepared and served coffee and doughnuts to the searchers.

Sees Foot Prints

It was at a point about one mile southwest of the Puff residence where Schwab and Wood found the boy, apparently none the worse for the 14 hours he spent in the woods, with the exception of a few scratches he received when he fell as he wandered in the darkness.

Immediately after the boy was found, Dr. Stewart Polk, of Rosemount, Pa., a summer resident of Cragsmoor, examined the boy and found him in good condition, despite the ordeal.

During the search, state police bloodhounds and dogs owned by area residents were pressed into service, as the search parties groped their way through the rugged, rocky country.

George Moylan, Rosendale, was at the search scene with an ambulance, in case it was needed. The Shawangunk Rescue Squad was at the scene to assist if needed.

Many Aided in Search

Mrs. Puff, at whose home the Massaglia's were visiting when the boy wandered off into the woods, today told The Freeman, it appeared at times as though "1,000 or more took part in the search."

Commenting on David's condition, Mrs. Puff said: "He apparently was the only one not worried during the long hours he was in the woods. He was all right with the exception of a few scratches, but they didn't seem to bother him. Apparently David didn't sleep much, if any, while in the woods, because he slept most of Sunday."

Mrs. Puff said the Massaglias left last night for their home in Putnam County. Massaglia, an engineer, and his family plan to return to Los Angeles in a month or two.

State police at Ellenville said more than 200 volunteer firemen assisted in the search.

Bloodhounds Confused

Bloodhounds brought to the scene by Undersheriff Ralph Crookston of Putnam County, were unable to work when they became confused by the scent of members of the family who had handled the boy's clothing.

Assisting in the search were members of the following fire companies:

Wallkill; Walker Valley; Ulster Hose, 5; Shawangunk, West Hurley, New Paltz, Rosendale, High Falls, Town of Olive, Ellenville and others.

Included in the officials taking part in the search were Ulster county sheriff's deputies, Putnam County Undersheriff Crookston and state troopers from the area.

Minimum Wage Hearings Slated At Monticello

ALBANY — Public hearings — one in Monticello—will be held this week to conform the state's 10 existing minimum wage orders to the new statutory $1.25 hourly minimum wage law.

The hearings will be conducted by the General Industry Minimum Wage Board, appointed by State Industrial Commissioner M. P. Catherwood under provisions of the minimum wage legislation adopted by the New York State Legislature this year.

The new legislation authorizes the industrial commissioner to modify the 10 existing wage orders to reflect the higher hourly minimum wage. The commissioner, upon recommendation from the nine-member wage board, is empowered to make changes in allowances for tips, meals, and lodging, and in order regulations of the existing wage orders. The existing orders cover workers in the following industries: laundry, beauty service, confectionery, cleaning and dyeing, restaurant hotel, retail trade, amusement and recreation, and miscellaneous industries and occupations not covered by the nine other orders.

The new law raises the hourly minimum rate from $1. to $1.25 in two steps. On October 15, the minimum will be $1.15, and two years later it will become $1.25. It is estimated that the higher minimums will benefit more than 240,000 persons now earning less than $1.15 and more than 350,000 workers earning less than $1.25.

All hearings in New York City will be held at 50 Park Place, Workmen's Compensation Board, Room 545. In Syracuse, hearings will be conducted on June 20 and 21 in the State Office Building, 333 E. Washington Street, first floor hearing room. Hearings in Syracuse on June 22 will be held in the Onondaga County Court House. The public hearing in Monticello will be held in Monticello High School, St. John's Street, June 18 at 10:30 a. m.

The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors will meet Tuesday, at 7:30 p. m. in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Chamber President Sam Pepper urged a full attendance as this may be the only meeting of the full board until September. It has been customary to cancel the regular summer meeting and call special meetings if necessary.

In accordance with the recent amendment to the by-laws more prompt renewals will be required. The purpose being to enable the directors to prepare a final budget and determine how many dollars are available for promotional and other activities.

The Chamber of Commerce today reported the receipt of 369 paid memberships for 1962-63 up to last Saturday which is considerably ahead of the total on the same date a year ago. Review Refused Of Beck Case BySupreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to review the conviction of Dave Beck, former Teamsters Union president, on charges of filing false federal tax returns for the union for 1950 and 1952.

The high tribunal, in a ay 14 decision on another appeal, affirmed conviction of Beck on a charge of embezzlement of $1,900 from the sale of an automobile owned by the union. He was sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment on the embezzlement conviction. The sentence was pronounced in a Washington State court.

Beck's conviction on the tax charge was in federal court in Tacoma, Wash., in 1958. He was sentenced there to five years in prison and fined $20,000.

The U.S. Circuit Court in San Francisco on Jan. 20, 1962, upheld Beck's conviction of filing false tax returns for his union. At the same time it set aside his conviction of evading more than $240,000 in income taxes. The Circuit Court called for a new trial on the evasion charges, on which Beck had been sentenced to five years and $40,000 fine.

Deputy Sheriffs Recover $35,000 Of Stolen Loot

Dutchess County deputy sheriffs have recovered $35,000 in property stolen in 150 burglaries in Dutchess, Putnam and Columbia counties, according to Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan.

Quinlan said Raymond H. Stanton, 48, of 34 Jefferson Street, Poughkeepsie, is accused of committing the burglaries in the last several years that netted $500,000 in loot. His son, Raymond G. Stanton, 22, of 7 Montgomery Street, Poughkeepsie, and Frederick Marks, 54, of Sodom Road, Town of Clinton, are accused of committing one burglary each with the elder Stanton.

Included in residences Stanton is accused of burglarizing is the home of George C. Stoddard, retired president of the DeLaval Separator Co., off Deuel Road, Town of Stanford. Property valued at $5,000, including family heirlooms, china and silverware, was reportedly taken from the Stoddard home while the family was traveling in Quatemala.

Dutchess authorities also said the home of Mrs. Keene Richards, Town of Washington, also was burglarized by Stanton and furnishings valued between $4,000 and $5,000 were taken.

Quinlan said the elder Stanton also admitted breaking into the residence of Daphnee Sylvia Smith, opera singer, on Ernest Road, Stanfordville, and taking furnishings valued between $7,000 and $10,000.

The Stantons and Marks were held in the Dutchess county jail awaiting disposition of third degree burglary charges.

2½-Year-Old Putnam Boy Found, Missing 14 Hours

Search for a 2½-year-old Putnam County boy, lost in a thickly wooded area near the hamlet of Cragsmoor, ended with a happy tone early Sunday, when the child was found and returned to his parents by two volunteer firemen.

Volunteer firemen, state police, deputy sheriffs and civilians from Ulster and Orange Counties and from Pike County, Pa, took part in the search for David Massaglia, of Baldwin Place, who was missing about 14 hours before he was found.

Visiting in Area

The boy, his brothers, Thomas, 7, and Peter, 5, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Massaglia, who are planning to return to their West Coast home at Los Angeles, Calif., soon, were weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Puff, Cragsmoor.

David and his brothers were playing with other children Saturday afternoon, when the older boys left and David went looking for them. David became confused and got lost in the woods.

The Puffs, the boy's parents and several neighbors immediately started a search for David, when he was missed.

Volunteer firemen from the Walker Valley and Cragsmoor areas were mustered to aid in the search. Ellenville troopers, area deputy sheriffs and volunteer firemen from neighboring districts joined the search party.

Citizen Band Helps

A group of members of the Citizens Wave Band Club and other groups volunteered to assist in the widespread search. Walkie talkies and powerful lights were set up in the area as the hunt for the boy was extended.

The Fire Control Center reported operators received an order from County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder to sound sirens in all fire districts in Ulster County, at 4:30 a. m. Sunday, summoning volunteer firemen throughout the county to join the hunt.

Ellenville troopers said Jacob Schwab, 20, of Cragsmoor, and Harold Wood, of Ellenville, found the boy shortly after 7 a. m. yesterday, and returned him to his parents at 7:15 a. m.

While the search party fanned out to comb the woods, members of the Walker Valley Fire Co., and neighbors prepared and served coffee and doughnuts to the searchers.

Sees Foot Prints

Shortly after dawn Sunday, members of the search party saw foot prints and a spot where it appeared the boy had bedded down for the night.

It was at a point about one mile southwest of the Puff residence where Schwab and Wood found the boy, apparently none the worse for the 14 hours he spent in the woods, with the exception of a few scratches he received when he fell as he wandered in the darkness.

Immediately after the boy was found, Dr. Stewart Polk, of Rosemount, Pa., a summer resident of Cragsmoor, examined the boy and found him in good condition, despite the ordeal.

During the search, state police bloodhounds and dogs owned by area residents were pressed into service, as the search parties groped their way through the rugged, rocky country.

George Moylan, Rosendale, was at the search scene with an ambulance, in case it was needed. The Shawangunk Rescue Squad was at the scene to assist if needed.

Many Aided in Search

Mrs. Puff, at whose home the Massaglia's were visiting when the boy wandered off into the woods, today told The Freeman, it appeared at times as though "1,000 or more took part in the search."

Commenting on David's condition, Mrs. Puff said: "He apparently was the only one not worried during the long hours he was in the woods. He was all right with the exception of a few scratches, but they didn't seem to bother him. Apparently David didn't sleep much, if any, while in the woods, because he slept most of Sunday."

Mrs. Puff said the Massaglias left last night for their home in Putnam County. Massaglia, an engineer, and his family plan to return to Los Angeles in a month or two.

Bloodhounds Confused

Bloodhounds brought to the scene by Undersheriff Ralph Crookston of Putnam County, were unable to work when they became confused by the scent of members of the family who had handled the boy's clothing.

Assisting in the search were members of the following fire companies:

Included in the officials taking part in the search were Ulster county sheriff's deputies, Putnam County Undersheriff Crookston and state troopers from the area.

Minimum Wage Hearings Slated At Monticello

ALBANY — Public hearings — one in Monticello—will be held this week to conform the state's 10 existing minimum wage orders to the new statutory $1.25 hourly minimum wage law.

The hearings will be conducted by the General Industry Minimum Wage Board, appointed by State Industrial Commissioner M. P. Catherwood under provisions of the minimum wage legislation adopted by the New York State Legislature this year.

The new legislation authorizes the industrial commissioner to modify the 10 existing wage orders to reflect the higher hourly minimum wage. The commissioner, upon recommendation from the nine-member wage board, is empowered to make changes in allowances for tips, meals, and lodging, and in order regulations of the existing wage orders. The existing orders cover workers in the following industries: laundry, beauty service, confectionery, cleaning and dyeing, restaurant hotel, retail trade, amusement and recreation, and miscellaneous industries and occupations not covered by the nine other orders.

The new law raises the hourly minimum rate from $1. to $1.25 in two steps. On October 15, the minimum will be $1.15, and two years later it will become $1.25. It is estimated that the higher minimums will benefit more than 240,000 persons now earning less than $1.15 and more than 350,000 workers earning less than $1.25.

All hearings in New York City will be held at 50 Park Place, Workmen's Compensation Board, Room 545. In Syracuse, hearings will be conducted on June 20 and 21 in the State Office Building, 333 E. Washington Street, first floor hearing room. Hearings in Syracuse on June 22 will be held in the Onondaga County Court House. The public hearing in Monticello will be held in Monticello High School, St. John's Street, June 18 at 10:30 a. m.
